Smith, at late meeting of the Langstaff Farmera' Club: The proper depth of drains in strong tenacious clays is 4 to 5 feet, with a distance of about 33 feet between each drain in loose friable, wet soils deeper drainage with wider intervals will be found the cheapest and most profitable where a tail can be got I fancy there is not much generally known as to the depth annual plants will send down their roots in search of food and moistue. On a gentle. man's land in England, where a pit had been cut through whilst cropped with parsnips, one root was traced 13 feet 6 inches and then taken off. There is always moisture in defined land but it varies at different times, it is like a great sponge, after much dry weather it absorb and retain a great quantity of rain water, nor will it past with any of it to the drain until its poras have received more than they have the power to retain by capilliary attraction, so that heavy rain may descend without any water passing Peas, Oats, Bran and Shorts. out of the drains. In dry weather the moisture is drawn to the surface by capilliary attraction, caused by evaporation, the driest particles of earth which are nearest the surface. depriving | Cordwood in any Quantity. their lower neighbors of their moisture, and these again acting on a lower stratum. The deeper the drain, the higher will the wate, have to ascend, and the longer it will be it. reaching the surface, gravity, space and friction and drier the soil. Deep drains discharge earlier than sha'lo ones in the same soil, and this is the reason. The capillary or suspensive is more easily counteracted by the gravity or weight of so large a body of water, as can be held in a large sponge or deeply drained soil. The pressure of falling water disturbs the capillarythalauce and forces out the lower water until that balance is restored, there is greater tendency to drip in a large sponge than a smaller one. Now, Gentlemen, what i the object of drainage, to carry off the water we see, that is only a very small parof its operation. Water has generally been considered an enemy to the agriculturist, on heavy land. Now. I am prepared to prove that water is the very best friend we have, and that if our lands be thoroughly and deeply drained, we never can have too much of it, except at harvest. I will endeavor to prove to you, as it is well known to chemists, that water is the richest manure we have. Japenese Peas, 200 Bush. per Acre. Something new. Farmers and Gardeners BEAD THIS. AGENTS WANTED.

These Peas have been recently brought to this country from Japan and prove to be the finest known for Table use or for Stock. They grow in the form of a bush from 3 to 5 feet high and do not require sticking. They yield from 1 quart to a gallon of Peas per bush. A package that will produce from 5 to 10 bushels of Peas with circulars giving terms to Agents and full directions as to time and manner of planting, will be sent postpaid, to any one desiring to act as Agent, on receipt of 50 cents. The seed I offer are Fresh and Genuine, this year's production. Now is the time to order, so you may be prepared for early planting.
Address, L. L. OSMENT, Cleveland, Tenn.

We have cultivated the JAPANESE PEA the past season on a small scale, and we are convinced they are a perfect success. Their yield was enormous. For the table and for stock, they are unsurpassed by any other pea. They grow well on thin land and are bound to be a No. 1 fertilizer.

PHYSICIANS CORNERED.

I suppose there is not in the whole course of a Physician's experience anything in human suffering which calls forth his sympathy and pity to such an extent as to witness the excrasia ing pains of a poor mortal, suffering from that fearful disease, Rheumatism Heretofere there has been a considerable diversity of opinion among medical men, as to the true character of this disease; some locating it in the fibro is or muscular tissues of the system, My Pills and Dintment are sold at the loweand others viewing it as an acute, nervous di disease arising from a poison circulating in the blood. The circulation of the blood is the life of the body, and its stopping is death. No disease can be in the body without first being generated in the blood, and no disease can possibly be in the body if the blood is pure. Rheu attent can never be thoroughly cured without externingting the procedure letter. Rheu atom can never be thoroughly cared without exterminating the poison circulating in the blood by a constitutional internal remedy. We feel confident that nene will feel better satisfied and rejoice more than the conscientious physician who has discovered that a sure cure for this stubborn disease has been found. The following testimony from a gentleman of standing and high respectability, and well known to the Canadian public cannot fail to satisfy all has the

I am sir, vous respectfully.

JOHN HELDER ISAACSON, N.P. The proprietor of this medicine has walked the aisles of the hospitals of London, Eng., fer the past twenty years, making rheumatism a speciality, and the prescriptions from which this remedy is compounded is all he ever used in the treatment of this disease.
In simple cases sometimes one or two desessifice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientions physician, is obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people.
