

ALEX. SCOTT, PUBLISHER AND PROPRIETOR OF "THE YORK HERALD" TERMS: $1 PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE. heap Book and Job Printing Establishment. OFFICE—YONGE ST., RICHMOND HILL.

THE YORK HERALD PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE YONGE ST., RICHMOND HILL. Issued Weekly on Friday Morning. Terms:—One Dollar per Annum in Advance ALEX. SCOTT, PROPRIETOR.

VOL. XVII. NO. 44. RICHMOND HILL, ONTARIO, CANADA. FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1876. WHOLE NO 923.

THE YORK HERALD IS PUBLISHED Every Friday Morning, And is dispatched to subscribers by the earliest mails or other conveyances, when so desired. The York Herald will always be found to contain the latest and most important Foreign and Local News and Markets, and the greatest care will be taken to render it acceptable to the man of business, and a valuable Family Newspaper.

ADVERTISING RATES. PER LINE. One inch, one year, $4.00 Two inches, one year, 5.00 Three inches, one year, 6.00 Advertisements for a shorter period than one year, insertion, 0.50 Each subsequent insertion, 0.25 22 inches to be considered one column.

THE HERALD BOOK & JOB PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT. Orders for any of the undermentioned description of Plain & Colored Job Work will be promptly attended to: Fancy Bills, Business Cards, Circulars, Law Forms, Bill Heads, Blank Checks, Drafts, Blank Orders, Receipts, Letter Heads, Fancy Cards, Pamphlets, Large and Small Posters, and every other kind of Letter-Press Printing.

DRUGGISTS. H. SANDERSON & SON, 112 YONGE STREET, RICHMOND HILL, ONT. CORNER OF YONGE AND CENTRE STREETS EAST. Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of Drugs, Patents, Perfumery, Chemicals, Oils, Toilet Soaps, Medicines, Varieties Fancy Articles, Dye Stuffs, Patent Medicines and all other articles kept by druggists generally. Our stock of medicines warranted pure and of the highest quality.

DENTISTRY. A. ROBINSON, L. D. S. A new method of extracting teeth without pain, by the use of Ether Spray, which affects the teeth only. The tooth and gum surrounding becomes insensible with the ether, and the tooth can be extracted with no pain, and without endangering the life of the patient. Dr. Robinson will be at the following place, prepared to extract teeth with his new apparatus. All office operations in Dentistry performed in a workmanlike manner.

BAKERS, RICHMOND HILL, HAVE always on hand the best of Flour, Malt, Oats, Pork, Sausages, &c., and sell at the lowest prices for Cash. Also, Cured and Spiced Beef, Smoked and Dried Hams. The highest market price given for Cattle, Sheep, Lambs, &c. Richmond Hill, Ont., 24, '72.

FARMERS' BOOT AND SHOE STORE JOHN PATTON, manufacturer and dealer in all kinds of boots and shoes, 38 West Market Square, Toronto. Boots and shoes made to measure, of the best material, and workmanship, at the low and reasonable prices.

PETER S. GIBSON, PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYOR, Civil Engineer and Draftsman. Orders by letter should state the Concession, Lot and number of Survey, the subscriber having the old Field Notes of the late D. Gibson and other surveys, which should be consulted in many cases as to original monuments, &c., previous to commencing work.

ADAM H. MEYERS, JR., (Late of Duggan & Meyers), BARRISTER, ATTORNEY AT-LAW, SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY, CONVEYANCER, &c., &c. Office at Willowdale, Yonge Street, in the Township of York. Jan 8, 1873.

VETERINARY SURGEON, Graduate of Toronto University College, corner of Yonge and Centre Sts. East, Richmond Hill, begs to announce to the public that he is now practicing with H. Sanderson, of the same place, where they may be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases of horses, cattle, &c.

PATENT MEDICINES. PROCLAMATION. MUSTARD'S CATARRH Specific Cures Acatrh, Neuralgia and Chronic cases of Catarrh, Acute Catarrh, Headache, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c., it is also a good Soothing Syrup.

THE KING OF OILS. Stands permanently above every other Remedy now in use. It is invaluable. ALSO, the Pain Victor is Infallible for A Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Flux, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Pain and Cramp in the Stomach and Bowels, &c.

W.M. MALLOY, BARRISTER, Attorney, Solicitor-in-Chancery, Conveyancer, &c. Office: No. 6 Royal Insurance Buildings, Toronto Street. Toronto, Dec. 2, 1859.

J. SEGSWORTH, DEALER IN FINE GOLD AND SILVER Watches, Jewelry, &c., 112 Yonge Street, Toronto. Success and Failure. Our estimate of man's work in the world, may be all summed up in our estimates of failure and success. Success and failure: these are the two great things which man quite limited, some of them very deep.

Good Company and Digestion. All those manifold efforts and stratagems by which food is first prepared, then digested by the elaborate machinery of the digestive apparatus, and then conveyed to various organs by the wondrous machinery of the circulation, are arranged with a view to the liquid in contact with the delicate membrane of a cell, visible only under the magnifying powers of the microscope.

A Goat Story. For some time past the clerks at the station on Fourteenth and Main streets, Louisville, have been annoyed by goats that infest the immediate locality. Not satisfied with the other mischief these sly rascals are guilty of, they have now taken to eating the hats of the clerks, thereby causing a great deal of trouble in shipping the cotton.

Sewage and Gas. An English inventor suggests that we dispose of the sewage of our cities by making gas of it. It is said that whereas it takes to produce one thousand feet of coal gas a ton of the best English coal and a large quantity of furnace coal to maintain the requisite heat, to make nine thousand feet of the proposed gas, it takes only one hundred and thirty-five pounds of furnace coal, and the necessary amount of sewage, which may be necessary, is very considerable.

TRAVELS BY THE FRESIDE. The ceaseless rain if falling fast, And from the little room, with many things may happen. But this encouragement, slight and vague as it was, sufficed to transform the despondent Luigi into a radiant and exultant conqueror.

LA BELLE SORRENTINA. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER II.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER III.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER IV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER V.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER VI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER VII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER IX.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER X.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XVIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XIX.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XX.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXIV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXVI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXIX.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXX.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXIV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXV.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXVI.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXVII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

CHAPTER XXXVIII.—Continued. "You dear, good Luigi!" she exclaimed. "I knew you would come as soon as you hear me here. And how are you? And what have you been doing all these long, weary months? Has the fishing been good? Why have you put on your Sunday clothes, your foolish boy? I like you best in your every-day dress. Do you think I have become such a fine lady that my own best friends must dress up when I come to see them? I have not got the clothes I used to wear, or I would put them on while I am here."

Old Maids. Story writers always describe their old maids as tall, thin, and angular, with sharp noses, corkscrew curls, and the neuralgia. Now, we know lots of old maids, and nearly every one of them wears instead of lean, and not one of them wears corkscrew curls. Some of them are, without exception, the best women we ever knew.

On Ventilation. So much has been said and written about almost everything that is connected with health, that it would seem as though every man, woman, and child in the country had been told the subject. Fresh air, digestive food, warm clothing, temperance in living, and the importance in their turns both of exercise and rest, have for years been discussed in the papers, talked about upon the platform, and taught in the schools, yet the people generally seem to have no knowledge and partly from failure to use the knowledge they have.

The Engagement Ring. It has been the custom since time immemorial for gentlemen who are engaged to be married, to offer their intended brides a ring, this ring is worn until the wedding ring is replaced. There is a fashion for this ring to be made of diamonds, and these are for everything else. The ring wears its value according to the position of the giver. There are certain stones more suitable than others for this purpose. Diamonds are not contained in good taste for a young girl, neither are pearls, because they are perishable, and because it is said, that pearls are unlucky stones; in evidence of this, it is stated that pearls composed the favorite parures of Marie Stuart, Anna Boloyne, Marie Antoinette, and the late duchess de Praslin, who all met with such terrible deaths. Consequently the stones most generally favored are emeralds and sapphires, the first being the emblem of love, the second of wisdom, and the third of courage to the Oriental belief, and for a long time the favorite stone of the Roman ladies. When emeralds are deep in color they are mounted in open work. When they are pale they are mounted on foil. Unfortunately one thing is against this stone, the facility with which it is imitated in glass colored by oxide of chrome.

Mormon Courtship. On Saturday a Mormon by the name of Fulmer, says the Salt Lake Tribune, who had been chosen among the faithful to go on a mission to Arizona, called upon Brigham Young. "Married?" queried the Prophet. "Not any," said Fulmer, "or which brow forty odd years had left his imprint." "Must marry, then, before you go to Arizona to build up the Kingdom." "Don't know anybody who will have me," was the reply. "I'll find some one. Do you know Brother Brown in the Seventeenth Ward?" Well, he has several daughters; you go to Brother Brown's and tell him I want you to marry one of his daughters." Fulmer left and obeyed counsel to the letter. Knocking at the door, he was admitted by Brother Brown, who, upon learning what was wanted, called in his several daughters to be selected from. Fulmer taking his choice, Brown told the girl to get ready in fifteen minutes. "I'll do as you say," was her meek reply, as she walked away. "That's the way I raise my daughters; if they disobey, there's war in camp. The wedding festivities take place to-night.

A Nation of Liars. The island of Ceylon is very beautiful, the scenery lovely, and the soil productive in spices and many kinds of fruit; indeed, it is said that it alone might produce sufficient coffee for the consumption of the entire world. The natives are, however, far from pleasing; they are generally of short stature, very effeminate looking, apathetic, and such liars that it is impossible to depend upon their word. If they may be trusted for hour after hour, they will be true to any promise made beside them, they seem care for little else. The men wear their hair turned up behind with a comb, the height of the comb denoting the rank of the wearer. This and their small features gives them altogether such an effeminate appearance that it is difficult for any one to be deceived by them. One of the natives of high rank was lately called on to give evidence at a trial, and swore such complete falsehoods that he was imprisoned for perjury. He applied to the English government, and with surprise asked why he should be punished for what his people did. "My father," he said, "was a liar, and my grandfather was a liar, and my great-grandfather was a liar, and we are all liars. It is the custom in my country. Why should I be punished?"

Ten Ways to Commit Suicide. Wearing thin shoes and stockings and insubstantial clothing in cold and rainy weather; leading a life, excited, heat-seeking, dancing life; sleeping on feathers in a 7 by 9 room; eating hot, stimulating food, too fast and a great deal too much of it and at improper times; beginning with tea and coffee in childhood and adding tobacco and pickles in due time; marrying in haste and living in continual fever, thereafter; following unhealthy occupations to make money; taking bitterns and confections and gourmandizing between meals; giving way to fits of passion, or keeping in perpetual worry; going to bed at midnight and getting up at noon, and eating when you catch it. To which may be added a recipe for killing children: paregoric, cordials, and rich cake; and when they are not sick they are given mercury, tartaric, castor-oil, and sulphur.

That's going too far," as the Boston man said, when his wife ran away to San Francisco with another man. It is estimated that fully twenty barges laden with coal foundered in the Thames during the gale of Tuesday.

There will be 350 exhibitors at the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia from the Province of Quebec. Their goods were shipped this week.

After the present year British mails for America will be despatched by vessels whose efficiency is proved, the compensation to be determined by the weight of mail carried. No contract with any particular line will be made.

Lord Chief Justice Cockburn is to preside at the next annual festival of the Newspaper Press Fund, London, which is to be held on the 24th of May.