THE HERALD.
 THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1878
THE QUEBEC ELECTION.

The grand victory, which the friends of the Joly Administration assured us would sanction the high-handed proceeding of St. Just, has fizzled down to a majority of one—with a strong Conservative Riding to hear from. Even at this classification, which gives them one or two doubtful cases, they have nothing to boast of. A larger majority is of course claimed by the party, but there is nothing to show that such is the case; while on the other hand, it can be proven that they are classing as Liberals many well-known Conservatives. They count Turcotte, of Three Rivers, as one of their men, yet this gentleman was a member of the last House, and a strong supporter of the De Beucherville Government. Since the dissolution he has declined offers made to him to join the Joly party—has refused to declare himself an Independent, and has spoken in justification of the votes he gave for the late Government. The Montreal Star, an independent paper, and one well informed on the matter, gives the result as we have stated above. Many Conservative papers claim that the Liberals are in the minority, as both Messrs. Caron and Magnan, the members elect for Maskinonge and Montcalm, are openly avowed Conservatives, and pledged to oppose the Joly Ministry. However it may be decided, neither party will have a large or unwieldy majority, but we feel assured that no stone will be left unturned by the Ministry, to increase their numbers. Bribes and threats, grand promises and liberal inducements will be made and offered to bring over the enemy. As was to be expected the Grit sheets have already commenced to crow over the prestige they will secure at the general elections by such a grand victory. There has certainly been a very great change in the personnel of the House, but this change was not wrought by Dominion questions. The elections were contested on purely local matters, and the unpopularity of the Railway Bill and other measures, together with the heavy bribery practised by the Liberals, were the real reasons why the Conservative party did not carry the Province with a sweeping majority, as they will be sure to do at the Dominion elections.

A Plea from Mr. Blain.
 We have already called attention to Mr. Metcalf sending his election cards free through the mails. It remains now for us to call the attention of the voters through the West Riding to the fact that Mr. Blain has been making free with the mail bags. He informs us in his circular, which we publish, "that he has been attending to Parliamentary duties." It may be so; but we are inclined to differ with him on that score; we, somehow, fancy he has been looking after his own business. He, at all events, finds time to address thousands of circulars to every part of the Riding, whilst he makes every one pay a share toward the postage. It is high time this franking system was put a stop to; it is shamefully abused not only by the Tories, but by those pure, virtuous men, called Reformers. Men of the Blain stamp who are not satisfied with getting $1,000 for one session's allowance, besides travelling expenses, but must needs pocket the postage upon private letters. The envelopes have the letters D. B., in the left hand corner; a friend at our elbow suggests that they stand for Dead Beat, a fitting cognomen to be added to B. B. B.

Ottawa, 6th April, 1878.
 DEAR SIR,—Having been unanimously nominated the Candidate by the Reform Convention for West York held at Toronto, on the 4th instant, and as my opponent is in the field making an active personal canvass; while I am forced to remain in Ottawa attending to my Parliamentary duties during the session, I have taken the liberty of sending you this circular note to ask your vote and influence in my favor at the approaching election.
 I have the honor to be
 Yours truly,
 D. BLAIN

Mechanic's Institute.
 The annual meeting of the Richmond Hill Mechanic's Institute was held in the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday evening last. The attendance was not large, but we were pleased to notice among those present so many of our leading men, &c., the class that are to be met with in any village or town, who, once enlisted in a good cause, determine to do all they can to make it successful. With such men interested in the Institute, its success is assured, although its advance must necessarily be slow, unless the villagers extend a more liberal support than they have done in the past. We are sorry that there is any occasion to observe that the people of this village generally, are not a reading class, at least we judge so, and we believe correctly, from the way they support the Institute. Those who are members, some fifty in numbers, patronize the library very largely, as was seen from the report of the Secretary, which shows that over 689 volumes had been read during the year. There are now 1132 volumes in the library, consisting of Biography, Fiction, History, Miscellaneous, Poetry and the Drama, Periodical Literature, Science and Art, Voyages and Travels, and Works of Reference.
 The President's Report showed that over $84 had been expended in books during the year; that $25 had been paid for rent; $25 for book-cases, etc.; $12 for salary; $20 for piano rent; and printing, stationery, postage, etc., $6.75 making a total of $176.15. The receipts amounted to $163.57, leaving $12.58 due the Treasurer. There is no reason why a much more favorable report might not have been presented, if every one had done what they could. This is not an institution by which any particular individual is benefitted at the expense of others, but one which is calculated to improve and educate not only the members but also their families, for no one will deny that sound reading (and thinking) does not exert a beneficial influence on our intellectual powers. Therefore, we think it is to the interest of all to support and patronize the library. The subscription list could easily be raised from $50 to $150, if the members would go to work; let each try to get at least one new name. There has been but very few entertainments in aid of the institute during the past year, the proceeds from such only amounting to $10.25. It is the intention to hold a grand literary and musical concert on Queen's Birthday, and from those having the management of it, we have no doubt of its success. Let all turn out on this occasion.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. John Sanderson; 1st Vice, Mr. Switzer; 2nd Vice, Mr. Harrison; Sec. Mr. R. Law; Treas., Mr. I. Crosby; Managing Com., Messrs. Skeele, Boyle, Duncan, Trench, Lawrence, Moodie, McConaghy, and Storey; Auditors, Messrs. A. Law and M. H. Keefler. A vote of thanks was then tendered the retiring President, Mr. Skeele, who responded in a few appropriate remarks. The meeting then closed. The first meeting of the Managing Committee will be held on Monday evening next at 7 o'clock, sharp.

High Schools.
 According to the report of the High School Inspectors for the half year ending the 31st December, 1877, we notice that the High School in this village stands second in the list as per the following:—
 A.—School accommodation, condition of school premises, general educational appliances, &c. Newmarket 1st, Richmond Hill and Weston equal, Markham blank.
 B.—Number of masters employed as compared with the number of pupils and classes, qualifications of masters, character of the teaching, &c., Newmarket 1st, Richmond Hill and Markham equal, Weston lowest.
 C.—Character of the work done in the lower school; so that any school which owing to the operation of special causes; may prepare but few pupils to pass the "Intermediate," will nevertheless be rewarded for the thorough work they may do below the higher unit. Newmarket 1st, Richmond Hill second, Markham 3rd, Weston 4th.
 D.—The quantity and quality of the work which may be done beyond the higher unit, i. e., by those pupils who shall continue their studies in the higher course prescribed for those who pass the Intermediate Examination. Newmarket 1st, Markham, Richmond Hill and Weston equal.
 E.—Government, discipline, general morale, Newmarket and Richmond Hill equal and highest, Markham and Weston equal.
 Total—Newmarket 1st, Richmond Hill 2nd, Markham 3rd, Weston 4th.

In a debate in Parliament Mr. Langvin complained that the Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures to whom $54,300 was voted, were mere Government election agents, who on the occasion of every election went out canvassing for the Government Candidates. Whilst other members insisted there was no need for the officers at all.
 Mr. Boulbee held a meeting at Victoria Square on Friday evening last. The weather was very unpleasant, but the hall was well filled, by an enthusiastic audience. As a Reformer subsequently remarked, "Well, if Boulbee goes on like that, he may get in yet?"

War News.
 The latest and only concession made by Russia offers to somewhat modify the original dimensions of Bulgaria if England will specify her objection to the San Stefano treaty.
 A Vienna despatch says the Turks are showing extraordinary activity in their lines of European defenses.
 The coming week will be unusually busy at the English arsenals and dockyards. Ship owners are privileged to berth their vessels in proximity to the Admiralty, moorings at Deptford have been notified to remove them by to day, as all the room available is reserved for transports. The reports of the recruiting officers for the past month show a remarkable increase in the number of enlistments and the increase is still advancing.

A Daily News correspondent says:—At Constantinople another palace revolution is threatened. The conspirators for the overthrow of the Sultan fixed one day last week for the attempt, but the fear of Russian interference caused a change of plans, and the conspirators say they must wait until the Russians go. It is difficult to say what would be the attitude of the Russians in case of revolution, but there is great danger that Russia and England would come into collision. English influence is now believed to be uppermost in the councils of the Sultan. A majority of the Pashas and all of the late Ministers are against the Sultan, and the people are discontented. There have been violent speeches against the tax on bread, which is now at famine prices. The Pashas are all ready to fly at each other's throats. Osmond Pasha is courted on all sides by the other Pashas as a foil and by some as a traitor. Without either English or Russian support, the Sultan could not stay on the throne another day.

The Committee of the small-pox asylums report the disease epidemic at Pera, there being 859 cases.
 A special from Syria says the news from Kharpoot, Turkish Armenia, reports the plundering of ninety-one Armenian villages in the district of Chemistezo by Derain Kurds. The Ottoman authorities are unable to afford protection. Although the district is greatly impoverished, double taxes are demanded. In Gieghi, between Kharpoot and Erzeroum, the death threatens soon to become a famine.
 A Russian correspondent writes from Carcow that the Russian Government is said to owe a company victualling the army twenty million roubles. The company must suspend, unless paid immediately.

A St. Petersburg correspondent believes the question of the very highest importance will be practically decided next week. The public desire for a peaceable solution is increasing.
 The famine in North-East Russia is increasing.
 New York, May 6.—A Baltimore special announces the arrival of two Russian special agents commissioned to select fast steamers suitable for privateering. Ten other Russian naval officers are coming, and will designate about fifty fast ships for privateering. Their crews will be drafted partly from the Cimbric and partly by enlistment here. The Cimbric will leave her present position in a day or more, subject to orders of these agents, whose arrival she has been awaiting.

A shrewd foreign diplomat regards the presence of the Cimbric as a device of General Ignatieff to alarm the English merchants and give aid and encouragement to the Liberals in Great Britain opposing Lord Beaconsfield.
 A Liberal Conservative journal is talked of in Bradford.
 Eighty thousand persons visited the Paris Exhibition on Sunday.
 In some parts of the Province the fall wheat is up to the height of a couple of feet.

The Planet printing office in Embury, Oxford County, was completely destroyed by fire early on Monday morning.
 Mrs. Wheatly, near Thornbury, was the fortunate victim of a legacy of $19,000 the other day, from England.
 The annual picnic of Grey Division Grange is intended to be held at Meaford, on the 4th of June.
 TORONTO.—On Wednesday, the 24th ult., a violent windstorm passed through Markham and Pickering, demolishing fences, unroofing barns, and causing a general scare. In Pickering a brick school house was unroofed and the side blown in during school hours, while inspector, teacher, and children were at their exercises, and strange to relate no one was seriously hurt.

Our Toronto Letter.
 Toronto, 29th April, 1878.
 In the month of January, 1872,—rather than six years ago,—the Ontario Assembly was in session. The subject of its deliberations on the particular evening referred to, was probably the Proton Outrage; anyway there were a number of strangers from the country who stepped into the Speaker's Gallery to have a good view of the assembled legislature of their Province. The Speaker's Gallery is on the west side of the room, on the ground floor, and is mostly occupied by visitors of two aristocratic class to be thrust into a public gallery overhead. On a level with the Speaker's Gallery, but across the entry hall, is part of the House especially set apart for ladies. In full view of the Ladies and Speaker's Galleries, on the other side of the House, are two other galleries appropriated to the editorial fraternity. This explanation is necessary to enable the reader to understand the situation.

On this particular occasion the object which riveted the attention of all eyes, and especially those of the occupants of the too aristocratically-occupied reserves on the ground floor, was a pair of boots. Projecting over the front of the Reporter's Gallery, and pointing towards the roof of the chamber, were those Boots,—by far the most conspicuous object there. They were not particularly handsome Boots,—indeed so far as could be judged on careful investigation through an opera glass at fifty feet distance, they had apparently seen their best days, and were now so to speak, in the mere and yellow leaf. There was nevertheless an impressive air about them. Boots of no pronounced individuality as these could scarcely belong to other than a being of vigorous intellect. A keen desire arose in the minds of all observers to have revealed to them the remainder of the corporeal identity of which those Boots were but the outward and visible sign or token. The debate, such as it was, progressed languidly and feebly. The mental energies of all present were evidently concentrated on that portentous apparition of Boots, revealed from the southeast gallery. In view of such ominous indications even the Proton Outrage seemed to sink into insignificance.

Mr. Speaker, sitting in solitary dignity on his throne under the gilded canopy surmounted by the familiar Lion and Unicorn, didn't exactly know what was the matter. His official seat being right under the front of the chamber, he could not reasonably be expected to know that a pair of boots frowned down from that lofty eminence upon the assembled legislature. The subordinate employes of the House knew what was the matter, but they were all in a state of panic. They knew those Boots. They had, as it were, been made aware of them in times gone by. Those Boots had entered into their souls. They slunk around with an air of conscious abasement. If any other boots had ventured to so protrude themselves upon that sacred Assembly, a hundred eager vessels would have flung themselves into the breach and saved the House from more than a momentary continuance of so unutterable an indignity. But they knew those Boots; and the Boots, so to speak knew them. It was a position of thrilling interest. Over-awed by two representatives, imperfect enough, of the shoemaker's art, the Legislature of Ontario was fast relapsing into helpless demoralization. The intellectual features of the First Minister of the Crown,—Blake they said his name was,—had retreated into the most recesses of a "rowdy" or "gold-digger" felt hat of massive proportions. Over the rugged countenance of Mr. Treasurer Mackenzie had commenced to flicker a grin some threefold more imbecile in its meaningless vacuity than usual.

Suddenly the Boots executed a flank movement, bringing into sight the flank continuations, terminating due east, in a horizontal view of an individual engaged in the very hasty employment of mending his underclothes. The pair of new paper huckle which appeared to contain a liberal supply of that nutritious luxury. The gentleman who thus openly advertised to the world the charming simplicity of his diet, was distinguished by an ecclesiasticism of aspect which seemed strangely out of place among so worldly a crowd as was wont to frequent those upper galleries. But a rumor went round that his name was Dymond, and that he wrote for one of the city papers. They little knew that the day was coming when he, as Mr. P. for North York, would be the recognized model of Parliamentary decorum in the House of Commons at Ottawa.
