Coun. Pugsley has made a good move, and the enterprising spirit shown by the Council is creditable to that body. We notice that care will be taken to ascertain the standing of the bonus-seekers. It is just as well to be careful, as a number of places have been victimized by straw manufacturers. In case the parties referred to by Coun. Pugsley, should not furnish the information de- and the other streets and sidewalks, and see sired, we hope he will not loose all interest in a matter of this sort. What Should Be Done.

It is agreed on all hands that our recent Exhibition proved an immense success, The next thing to consider is how to ensure its success for the future, as far is possible, and make it increase from year to year, until it becomes the taining 3% acres, assessed for $300; also a 2 acre lot, on the south side of Mill Street, Bleading exhibition in the County. When the Act giving Societies this nower was before the Local House, some New years ago, our member for West York, having in view the Richmond Hill — Carried. and Yonge Street Spring Exhibition, examined the Bill, and finding that villages of this size was not included, had the Bill so amended as to apply to all incorporated villages. But so far this Society has neglected to avail itself this Society has neglected to avail itself of the privileges granted. At the annual meeting of the Society, last Spring, Mr.

this favourable influence has died out. There will likely be more general enthusiasm in promoting any scheme for the advancement of the Society, if the iron is struck when it is yet hot.

It is generally admitted that the present grounds are somewhat contracted, and more accommodation is required for the live stock. Among the schemes suggested for the advancement of the Society are. The formation of a joint stock company, with shares at $100 each, comprising some twenty or thirty shareholders. The Company to purchase the Davidson property on Richmond Street, and there erect a suitable hall for ladies work, stalls for horses, and sheds for pigs, sheep, etc. This property contains some five acres, and is conveniently situated, level, and not too low. Dr. Orr was appointed chairman, and filled the position very ably. Mr J. Armstrong, of Toronto, opened the meeting by asking Mr Wallace a number of questions regarding the National Policy, C, P. R. Syndicate, and other interesting matters Mr Wallace replied at considerable length giving a clear, lucid explanation of the manner in which the National Policy was benefitting the country, and showing how the P C R Syndicate was a decidedly advantageous bargain for the country. compared the offers made for building this road by both Governments, greatly to the advantage of the present one. His remarks were frequently applauded. Our space will not permit an extended report this week.

After the meeting, all were invited to attend a dinner given to Mr Wallace, at the Palmer House. Over seventy persons sat down to an excellent spread, which reflected great ciedit on our host, Mr Wm Palmer The strawberries were delicious, and greatly enjoyed. After dinner the usual toasts were proposed and responded to, many good and humorous speeches being made. In responding to the "Dominion House." Mr. Robt. Marsh paid a very high tribute to the Premier of the Dominion.

The toasts were interspersed by choice selections by the Teston Brass Band, which contributed greatly, under the able leadership of Mr. Carley, in making the whole affair so great a success. Mr. Ham, of Teston, also sang several songs very nicely during the evening, accompanied on the organ by Mr. Carley. There was quite a brilliant display of fire works from the balconv of the Palmer House, after the meeting. The crowd dispersed at an early hour. having enjoyed themselves very much Great praise is due the officers of Sub-division No. 4, for their exertions to make the meeting and dinner a success.

The Indian Ossuary.

What Prof. Wilson thinks of it. TRACES OF AN INDIAN VILLAGE DIS-COVERED.

The ancient Indian cemetery recently brought to light on Lot No. 6, in the 3rd Con., of Markham, was visited on Saturday by Dr. Wilson, of Toronto, in company with Dr Armstrong, Dr. Knill, Capt. Milne, J Reesor, F A Reesor, B. A., Rev. Jas. Bain, A McLean, Mathematical Teacher, James Speight, Reevo, Geo. Digby, R G Armstrong, C E Bell, H Tane, W H Hall, who were joined at Buttonville by Jonathan Slater, W A Nichol, Teacher, F Hemmingway, W Cross and others.

joined at Buttonville by Jonathan Slater, WA Nichol, Teacher, F Hemmingway, W Cross and others.

After examination. Dr. Wilson pronounced the pit to be an Indian Ossuary, or burial ground.

Le Jeune, one of the Jesuit Fathers, has left an interesting account of bne of the great burials of the Hurons which he witnessed. A grand Feast of the Dead was solemnly convoked. The remains of the dead which had been exposed on scaffolds or elevated biers, during the interval of some seven or eight years since the last general burial of the tribe, were gathered together. A great pit was excavated, carefully lined with furs, and in this the bones were deposited, along with whatever relies had been piaced on the bier, or were anew offered by the mourners. All who had died on the warpath, or on any distant journey, and been temporarily buried, were now scught out, and their remains brought to the common sepulchre. A practice in many respects akin to this appears to have prevailed among the Algouquins, Mandans, Skoux, and other tribes; and the cometery recently breight to light appears to be of the same class.

As anticipated by Dr Wilson, on Monday, 22nd all the released and the contents of the thies; and the cometery recently breign to light appears to be of the same class.

As anticipated by Dr Wilson, on Monday, 2nd ult., we learned through Simon Miller, Esq., that there were the strongest evidences of an old Indian village on the west bank of the German Mill Creek on Mr Wm. Gohn's property, lot 8, in the 2nd Con. Markham, about three miles northwest of the casuary. In company with Drs. Armstrong and Knill, we visited the location, and through the kindness of Mr Gohn, examined the ruins of ancient potteries, and collected from them many specimens of pieces of their craft. Mr. Gohn has during the past thirty years, in plowing the several fields on which this ancient Wyandot village was located, turned up numbers of battle axes, wampum, calumets, arrow and spear-heads, and other Indian rolles, which he has I reserved, forming a very nice cabinet of curiosities. Through his generosity we will be enabled to send to Dr Wilson, for the University Museum, a fine collection of curiosities.

embled to send to Dr Wilson, for the University Museum, a fine collection of curiosities.

Since the first opening was made by Mr Drury, some ten days since, several hundred skulls have been exposed, though a very small extent of the grave-pit appeare to have been disturbed. In the carreful observations made on Saturday, it was noticed that near the surface the skeletons remained complete as if the bodies had been doubled up, the knees drawn up to the chin; and the position of the skulls in several of them showed that they had been thrown in head downwards. But as the excavation was carried lower down the remains, which included those of women and children as well as men, were no benger complete skeletons; and at the lowest depth the floor of the pit was evidently overlaid with a dense mass of human benes promiseuously heaped together. All this corresponds with what has been observed in exploring the Huron ossuaries on the Georgian Flay. In the case of the long-scaffoled dead nothing but the detacked bones would remain to be gathered and laid up the common grave of the tribe; whereas in the case of those recently deceased the body would extire, and hence the complete skeletons at the top. The only respect in which this Markham essuary appears to differ from 'those of the Flurons' is in the absence of any implements or other relies. So far as we are aware nowe such have been recovered from the grave-pit, though stone axes or temahawks, arrow heads and other such relies have been frequently found in the vicinity.—Economist.
