

ANGUS MORRISON'S DEATH.

The Toronto Ex-Mayor Found Dead in His Bed.

Toronto, June 10.—Ex-Mayor Morrison was found dead in bed at his residence this morning. Of late he had been suffering from an affection of the heart.

Mr. Angus Morrison, whose sudden death was announced in an earlier dispatch, was born in Edinburgh, January 20, 1824, and came to this country when only eight years old in company with his father, Hugh Morrison, who was killed by an accident in the old mill at a public meeting in 1830.

THE MEASURE OF HER LOVE

"Myrtle, dear?" "Yes, George, what is it?" replied the girl, glancing shyly upward.

ABOUT THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

"What sort of a bird is this?" "This is an English sparrow. He cannot carry off a lamb, like an eagle, nor is he provided with teeth and claws like the tiger, but he leaves his mark in another way."

AN ENTHUSIASTIC UNDERPAKER.

The funeral of a man who served up for his friends, Phila. Times, May 27. The banquet was tendered by an undertaker to a number of men of strangely odd vocations.

AROUND THE WORLD.

Having in his possession six codfish balls brought about the arrest of a Russian cook. The police took them for bombs.

Mr. Civalis has just finished a complete description of the Alps, on a new plan, profusely illustrated by photography. The French Academy emphatically commends the work.

According to a writer in the Revue des Deux Mondes, the United States, judging from its previous advances in population, should have, in 1882, a population of nearly 200,000,000.

The London Tablet (Roman Catholic) quotes from the Tuam (County Galway) News in testimony of Under Secretary Burke's kindness as a landlord. Meetings were held in Galway to express respect and regard for him.

The publication of the French census statistics reveals the periodical jeremiad over the state of the French population; but inasmuch as this goes along with extraordinary material prosperity, while in other countries tens of thousands have emigrated to get their bread, it is hard to see why the thing is so much deplored.

Hoekelens, on the next block, sells suits like these for fourteen dollars, said a countryman to a Washington street dealer the other day. "Yes, my dear friend, I know about your kind of business."

The London Telegraph is creating palatial offices for the Levys, the waters are now among the half dozen richest Jews in London. Judaism sits lightly on them.

The present Duke of Devonshire always carried with him a little desk which contained all the letters over to him by his wife. As to his handwriting, it is very good, and to whom he was devotedly attached.

The Steam Barge Vanderbiest Destroyed. The steam barge Vanderbiest, which was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning last, the boat and cargo are a total loss.

FACTS FOR THE DETECTIVES.

Points Which May Enlighten the Secret Service Men, and Which also Serve to Put Them in a Dilemma—Peculiar Features of a Counterfeit Bond Plate, and Their Significance.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The theory that the genuine plates of the United States 6-81 bonds have been utilized in the production of counterfeit bonds has been corroborated by the secret testimony of at least one expert from the Bureau of printing and engraving itself.

The failure of the secret service men to make the true expansion has been supplied by Col. W. P. Wood, who says that the face plate delivered to Secretary Folger by Felker, though not itself used by the counterfeiter to print the spurious bonds, was in fact the matrix from which the plates were made.

It should be borne in mind that both Casleir and the secret service men are simply defending themselves in the explanation they make. Casleir is trying to show that nothing was stolen from the counterfeiter, and the secret service men are trying to show that they got all the counterfeit material, Col. Wood shows that the facts are against their explanation.

There is no doubt that Secretary Folger is a man of high character, who is not to be pursued, and will not shield any one from the consequences of neglect or inefficiency. He has been informed by disinterested experts that part of the work is genuine, and is bound to satisfy himself on that point.

THE BIGGEST WHISTLE.

Its 100 Horse Power Song to be Warbled from a Canadian Sawmill—Patterson's Whistle.

New Brunswick, N. J., has a steam-whistle whose deep bass tones are as familiar as stories to farmers within a radius of thirty miles of the town. The people of Bay Ridge, N. J., regulate their clocks and watches by its accurate blast.

But the largest whistle in the world may be heard at the store in the Easton, Conn. and Burnham company, 58 John street. It was made at their factory in Bridgeport, Conn., and was ordered from them by Manning, Maxwell & Moore, of Liberty street, for a Montreal firm.

It is about the size of a flour barrel, being twenty-seven inches long and twenty inches in diameter. The barrel diameter is four inches, and the whistle is four inches in diameter, or as large as an ordinary steam whistle. It is made of cast brass and cost $500. It will blow by means of a spring valve connected with a steam pipe four inches in diameter.

The recently published returns of the Austrian Empire contain the following of the people are employed in agriculture, 54 in commerce, banking, and transportation, 53 in liberal professions, 31-6 are landowners and capitalists, 14 5 servants, 3 per cent educationists, 25 are engaged in mining, and the rest are engaged in 310 per cent, are unknown.
