TESTIMONIALS.

Messrs. R. S. Williams & Son's. Toronto, April 12th, 1881. GENTLEMEN—I have much pleasure in testifying to the great excellence of your Pianos. I have used them severally to the test, and find them possessed of those qualities of tone and touch so acceptable to the true musician and lover of classical music—a charming singing tone, easily graduated from the most delicate pianissimo to every degree of loudness and fullness, and a touch which answers readily to every shade of feeling. I consider these instruments a great acquisition to musical society, and am much pleased at finding a piano which I can recommend with perfect confidence. I am, Gentlemen, yours very truly, CHAS. W. EWING, Organist of St Peter's Church, Coburg, Ont.

Messrs. R. S. Williams & Son's. Toronto, Nov. 4th, 1882. GENTS—Having thoroughly examined the Workmanship of your Pianos, I have no hesitation in stating that, in my opinion, they are equal to those of any other of the best Makers that I have seen. I can only speak in the same high terms regarding their musical qualities; for their fine full singing capability of tone, pleasant touch, &c. are such, that there seems to be no necessity to purchase foreign instruments, when our home enterprise can produce such Pianos, and at one-third less cost. I am glad to hear that the extensive sale of your instruments shows that you are meeting with the success that I think you justly deserve. I am, Gentlemen, Your Obedient Servant, GEO. W. STRATHY, Mus. Doc.

ORGANS!

We make a special style of Organs in large quantities, and are therefore able to offer them at exceptionally low rates. Payments arranged to suit the convenience of purchasers and spread over term of years. For full particulars write to R. S. WILLIAMS, 143 Yonge St. Toronto, OR 226 Dundas St. London.

Crop Prospects.

Mr. John Earls, assistant general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, has received the annual reports of the probable crops from all parts of the Grand Trunk proper in Ontario, which are compiled by the agents for the use of the company and the public. The reports are of the most favorable character, and show that with the exception of some small sections around Stratford, Hanover, Shakespeare, and Tavistock, where the fall wheat was partially winter killed, the prospects were never better. The acreage of fall wheat was, however, about as great as in previous years, though in some sections, in consequence of the failure of fall wheat last year, more attention has been paid to spring wheat. The acreage of the latter was much larger than in any previous year and the prospects are most excellent. In Western Ontario the acreage under barley is much greater than before and the prospects vastly better than in the past, while in Eastern Ontario less attention has been paid to this staple. The crop of oats and peas this year is very heavy, though the acreage varies but little from the average. Potatoes will give an excellent yield, and as yet have shown no signs of any disease. The first crop of hay is a very large one, and of excellent quality, but the second crop will be below the average owing to the dry weather which has prevailed during part of the season. Apples and other rough fruits are all promising a very large yield in nearly every section of the country from which the reports have been received, which includes the Grand Trunk main line east to Montreal, and the main line and branches of the Grand Trunk proper west of the city. All the indications point to a bountiful and splendid harvest.

A St. Ann's Victory.

Mr. John Morrison, well known in St. Ann's N. S., had serious Kidney Complaint that bordered on dropsy. After hope had nearly fled, he was cured by Burdock Blood Bitters.

DOG SWIMMING RACE.

Considerable interest was centered in the canine swimming race at Hanlan's point on Monday afternoon last. Before the race the verandah and halls of the hotel were crowded with sports and others, busy speculating as to which dog would down the other in the race. There did not appear to be much betting on the result. The race was for $50 a side, between John Outcott's Bedlington terrier, Pride of Eglington, and John Fitzgerald's spaniel, Tory. Just before getting into the boats to start for the buoy, Fitzgerald noticed Outcott with a rabbit, and shouted out "I want no rabbits in the boat." "But" remonstrated Outcott, "You can coax your dog along with anything you please." No, I protest, you must take no rabbit in your boat. A bystander remarked: "Let him take the rabbit, and if your protest is good the referee will decide the race in your favor." "Never mind interfering in this matter, you are an interested party." After considerable cross talk, the referee decided that the rabbit should not be taken into the boat and it was presented to the objector for a pot-pie. When all was in readiness the dogs were taken out to the buoy, stationed about 500 yards from the winning post, and let out at the stems of the boats. Then the fun commenced. The owners of the dogs sat at the stern of the boats and coaxed them along with all the artifices in their power. Soon, however, Outcott's dog took the lead and kept it to the end of the race, winning by twenty or thirty yards. Wm. Clow acted as referee, and John F. Scholes as stake-holder.

A New Invention.

REMARKABLE ELECTRICAL APPARATUS FOR ILLUMINATING THE INTERIOR OF THE HUMAN BODY.

One of the newest adaptations of electric illumination is in the shape of a very small lantern, which can be introduced into the stomach, for the purpose of aiding surgical and dental operations which cannot be carried on without light, and for which it has been extremely difficult heretofore to obtain light by mirrors or other means. The lamp primarily consists of a delicate glass bulb, from which the air has been withdrawn and as nearly a perfect vacuum created as possible. The bulb varies in shape, being spheroidal, flat and conical-shaped, and also cylindrical, with a compass termination. Through the thin walls of the lantern run the conducting wires, connected by a carbon arc, on which the electricity centres, and which thus becomes the place of light. The glass lantern is very small, the cylindrical shaped being scarcely half an inch in length, and with a diameter not nearly so great as that of an ordinary led pencil. The compass shaped lamp is about one quarter of an inch thick, and has its diameter the equivalent of a lead pencil, while the spheroidal seems scarcely larger than a good sized pea. The lamp is attached to a handle, from seven to nine inches long, and about half an inch thick, through which run the wires connecting with the battery. The handle and the lamp can be separated, and this but one handle is necessary for use with the different forms of the lamps. The intensity of the power, and hence the brilliancy of the arc of light, can be regulated by moving along the handle a ring which connects with the wires. The handle has several joints and its position can be arranged in almost any way so as to adapt it to the shape of the cavity which it is proposed to illuminate. Mirrors can also be fastened to the lamp and light reflected to places where the lamp cannot be introduced. To prevent the too great diffusion of light and the radiation of heat, the lamp may be partially covered with a hard rubber or gutta percha case. When the lamp is placed in the mouth of a patient every portion of the throat even to the lowest parts, can be plainly seen. This will greatly facilitate the work of surgery and dentistry, and enable an operator to conceive a much more thorough diagnosis of a case than the use of any other means previously known. Placed behind the teeth, the intense light renders not only the teeth, but even the gum above highly transparent. If the teeth are good and undecayed, no lines will be visible; but the presence of a filling or of the mere beginning of decay may at once be seen. When the lamp is placed within the mouth and the lips are closed, the entire front structure of the mouth is brought to view. The bone and tooth formations are easily discoverable, and even the interior of the nasal passages. In the same way the instrument is of great value in the treatment of obstetrical disease, and in studies of the stomach. No unpleasant sensations are experienced by patients, even in cases of protracted use, no other effect being noticeable than that which follows the drinking of a hot cup of coffee. Mr. E. T. Starr of Philadelphia is the inventor.

THE YORK PIONEER.

Dr. Scadding occupied the chair at the regular meeting of the York Pioneers on Tuesday afternoon in the Canadian Institute. The report of the Semi-Centennial Celebration Committee, giving an account of the expenses incurred in the celebration, was received and adopted. The following gentlemen were elected members of the Pioneers:—John Shaw, 102 1/2 Luney street; Charles Thomas Bell, 552 Church street; Joseph Banks, 78 Edward street. It was decided to hold the annual excursion to Peterboro' before the 25th instant, leaving the date to be fixed by the Picnic Committee. A delegation was appointed to visit the U. E. L. celebration at Niagara on the 14th inst. The delegation consisted of the President, Dr. Scadding; Ely Crawford and John Smith, Vice-presidents; John Playter, N. A. Gamble, Wm Lee and W. H. Doel.

Teemer Defeats Ross.

OAK POINT, N. Y., Aug. 2.—The four-mile boat race between Teemer and Ross to-day was won by Teemer in 26.32, by one length. Teemer, at the finish, was jubilant, after making by far the best time on record, the best previous time for a four-mile contest being made by Hanlan against Ross, at Ogdensburg, 27.56.

The Language of Parasols.

Opening the parasol quickly, with the point upward—You interest me. Closing in the same manner—I am not favorably impressed by you. Opening with the point downward—Acquaintance would not be disagreeable to me. Closing similarly—Any advance would be repelled. Closed and carried over the right shoulder—Beware of observers. Closed over the left shoulder—We are watched. Revolved slowly while open—I like you. Revolved rapidly—I love you. Used as a cane—You may walk with me. Laid across the lap—You may sit by me. Carried under the right arm—Yes. Under the left arm—No. Swing point down in front—Kindly salutation. Moved perpendicularly while held open over the head—Good-bye. Revolved open behind the back—You may follow me.

A Remarkable Record.

The most remarkable cure of Scrofula on record is that of the Rev. Wm Stout, of Warton, whose case of Scrofulous Abscess baffled the skill of seventeen Surgeons for twenty-three years. He was perfectly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters.
