TO THE HIGH PRICED AMERICAN INSTRUMENTS,

TESTIMONIALS.

MRS. R. S. WILLIAMS & SON'S
GENTLEMEN: I have much pleasure in testifying to the great excellence of your Pianos. I have put them to the test, and find them to be of the best quality of tone and touch so acceptable to the musician and of such a charming and durable tone, easily graduated from the most delicate pianissimo to every degree of loudness and fullness, and a touch which answers every variety of effect.
I consider the instrument a great acquisition in musical society, and am much pleased in finding a piano which I can recommend with perfect confidence.
I am, Gentlemen, yours very truly,
CHAS. W. EWING, (Of London, England),
Organist of St Peter's Church, Gorborg, On.
Toronto, Nov. 4th, 1882.
I can only speak in the most glowing terms regarding their musical qualities; for their fine full singing quality of tone, pleasant action, and so on, there seems to be no necessity to purchase foreign instruments, when you can obtain such fine Pianos, and at one-third less cost than I can find that the extra quality of your instruments shows that you are meeting with the success that I think you are justly entitled to.
I am, Gentlemen, Your Obedient Servant,
GEO. W. STRATHY, Mus. Doc.

ORGANS!
We have a large stock of organs in every quantity, and are therefore able to offer them at exceptionally low rates. Each one is arranged to suit the convenience of purchasers and spread over a term of years. For full particulars write to Farmers' Banks.

The following discussion took place upon Dr. Orton moving in the matter of Farmers' banks.
Dr. Orton moved the House into committee to consider the resolution declaring it expedient to bring in a bill to extend better banking facilities to agriculturists and other persons in the Dominion. He said that no body of men had fewer banking facilities offered them than farmers. Banks would not give them that accommodation which merchants got, so that they had recourse to private bankers for loans, and were charged exorbitant rates of interest, 10 per cent and higher. The bill he proposed to introduce provided that farmers might become stockholders in a farmers' bank, provided that they owned no farms and those who wished to borrow could give mortgages, which could be converted by the banks into negotiable bonds and guaranteed by the Government at four per cent. It had been stated that if such a bill were passed it would injure banks, chartered for ordinary trade and commerce, and loan societies. He believed, on the contrary, that it would make the operations of those banks and societies safer and there would be fewer failures, and it would tend to reduce the high rates of interest charged by some loan societies.
Mr. McMillan said he believed the credit system had gone more to the detriment of farmers in this country than any other thing. He did not see there was any necessity for a bill of this character, as he believed the farmers had sufficient facilities already. The true policy the Government ought to adopt, if they wished to help the farmers, was to reduce the rate of interest in the Post Office Savings Bank to 3 per cent. By this means the public would be drawn to the chartered banks and the latter having plenty of money would be glad to give loans to farmers at a low rate of interest. He was inclined to think the resolution was a piece of humbug, and intended by the hon. gentleman to curry favor with his constituents.
Mr. Henson strongly condemned the proposition of the hon. member for North Wellington (Mr. McMillan) to reduce the rate of interest in the Post Office Savings Bank to 3 per cent. The Government bank was used almost entirely by the working classes and if the rate of interest were reduced it would be practically robbing the poor man. He believed the rate of interest was low enough at 4 per cent. He thought there must be sufficient wisdom and intelligence in the House to devise a plan whereby it would be possible for a farmer who possessed the best security in the country, to get his money on a good rate of interest as any other person, but at present it was not possible. He believed it was in the best interests of Canada that the whole bank circulation of the country should be wound out, and substituted by a Dominion circulation.
Dr. Orton said his hon. friend (Mr. McMillan) had spoken of the resolution being introduced for the purpose of currying favor with his constituents. That showed the hon. gentleman believed the resolution a good one [hear, hear].
Sir John Macdonald—And a popular one too.
Dr. Orton, continuing, said to the hon. gentleman (Mr. McMillan) went on to say that the farmers of this country had already too great facilities for borrowing money. Probably the hon. gentleman had in view some loans in the country of Wellington. [Laughter.] It would seem that the hon. gentleman wanted farmers to have money at five per cent, and he hoped when the hon. member returned to the county of Wellington he would give all the farmers in his neighborhood money at that rate of interest. [Renewed laughter.] He (Dr. Orton) regretted that any gentleman from that county should suggest a reduction in the rate of interest in the Post Office Savings Bank.
Mr. Casey said the hon. member for county Wellington (Dr. Orton) had talked about returning to his constituents, but it seemed more probable that instead of doing that he would return to his post in the Par West.
Dr. Orton—The hon. gentleman is about as far out as he was when he said the cow industry in the county of Wellington.
Mr. Cameron, Middlesex, said the chartered banks refused to give farmers that accommodation they desired, and they desired, and they were forced to obtain it at higher rates of interest. If loans to be secured by the Government to prevent them being wiped out, he believed the farmers could obtain accommodation, an Act with carefully drafted provisions, on the basis indicated in the discussion, would be of great benefit to what was really the most important industry in the country.
Sir John Macdonald said the remarks of the last speaker were refreshing after the statements of the two earlier speakers on the Opposition side, one of whom characterized the resolution as an attempt to catch votes, while the other described it as something of a very different nature, because in the way, as he alleged, instead of reducing the rate of interest on the money, it would give the hon. gentleman a good deal of money. The hon. member for North Wellington, Mr. McMillan, proposed a resolution on the ground that the farmers had good money facilities already to get money having done this he went on to propose a method by which these already too great facilities could be made greater. His proposal was that the Government should rob the poor servants girls and laboring men by reducing the rate of interest on their savings in order that they might be forced to put their money into private banks, and thus force private bankers to reduce the rate to farmers. But, as the member for Middlesex had pointed out, this would fail of its object, for the banking institutions were not lenders on real estate, and farmers would still have to deal with loan and investment companies. It seemed to him that Sir John Macdonald was the originator of the resolution was, in the ordinary course. He would therefore support the motion in the expectation of seeing the bill to be founded upon it. If it was a measure affording reasonable protection to the public and to those investing in agricultural banks, it would, provided it was not open to the objections of sound financiers, be well worthy of further consideration. The motion was carried.

An Alarming Disease Afflicting a Numerous Class.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and in fact, the entire glandular system, and the afflicted drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions, he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted:—Have I distress, pain or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling attended by nervousness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky, mucous matter about the gums and teeth in the mornings, accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pain in the side and back? Is there a fullness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there constiveness? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys scanty and highly colored, with a deposit after eating, accompanied by flatulence or a belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the deadly disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced stages the countenance acquires a sallow appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold, sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, rheumatic pains appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against this latter agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a small quantity of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipient stage. It is most important that the disease should be promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a strong hold the correct remedy should be persevered in until every vestige of the disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned and the digestive organs restored to a healthy condition. The surest and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by all Chemists and Medicines Vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, 17, Farringdon Road, London, E. C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

Market Place, Pocklington, York
October 2nd, 1882.
Sir,—Being a sufferer for years with dyspepsia in all its worst forms, and after spending pounds in medicines, I was at last persuaded to try Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and am thankful to say I have derived more benefit from it than any other medicine I ever took, and would advise any one suffering from the same complaint to give it a trial, the result they see soon will find out for themselves. If you like to make use of this testimonial you are quite at liberty to do so.
Yours respectfully,
R. Turner,
(Signed) R. Turner,
Seigel's Operating Pills are the best family physic that has ever been discovered. They cleanse the bowels from all irritating substances, and leave them in a healthy condition. They cure constiveness.
St. Mary street, Peterborough,
November 29th, 1881.
Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the benefit I have received from Seigel's Syrup. I have been troubled for years with dyspepsia, but after a few doses of the Syrup, I found relief, and after taking two bottles of it I feel quite cured.
I am, Sir, yours truly,
William Trent,
Hensingham, Whitehaven,
Oct. 16th, 1882
Mr. A. J. White, Dear Sir,—I was for some time afflicted with piles, and was advised to give Mother Seigel's Syrup a trial, which I did. I am now happy to state that it has restored me to complete health.—I remain, yours respectfully,
(Signed) John H. Lightfoot,
15th August, 1883.
Dear Sir,—I write to tell you that Mr. Henry Hillier, of Yesteryburg, informs me that he has been cured of a severe form of indigestion for upwards of four years, and took no end of doctor's medicine without the slightest benefit, and declares Mother Seigel's Syrup which he got from me has saved his life.
Yours truly,
(Signed) N. White,
Mr. White, Chemist, Calne
September 8th, 1883
Dear Sir,—I find the sale of Seigel's Syrup steadily increasing. All who have tried it speak very highly of its medicinal virtues: one customer describes it as "God-sent" to a dyspeptic relative." I always recommend it with confidence.
Faithfully yours,
(Signed) Vincent A. Will, Chemist-Dentist,
To Mr. A. J. White, Methyry Tydville, Preston; Sept. 21st, 1883.
My Dear Sir,—Your Syrup and Pills are still very popular with my customers, many saying they see the best family medicines possible.
The other day a customer came for two bottles of Syrup and said "Mother Seigel's had saved the life of his wife, and he added, "one of these bottles I am sending fifteen miles away to a friend who is very ill. I have much faith in it."
The sale keeps up wonderfully, in fact, one would fancy almost that the people were beginning to breakfast, dine, and sup on Mother Seigel's Syrup, the demand is so constant that the satisfaction so great.—I am, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
(Signed) W. Bowker,
