

Burial Services in His Own and Other Churches—An Affecting Scene.

A last (Friday) night's Brooklyn despatch says: There are clear sky and bright sun. The remains of Beecher lay in state in Plymouth Church throughout the night. Flights are at half-price on all public buildings and on nearly all business places.

When Dr. Hall's services was finished a perfect burst of pent-up emotion succeeded, and nearly every one in the church wept. Dr. Halliday followed with prayer, and the choir sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," after which the anthem "I Heard a Voice," which was composed for this occasion, was given.

When the congregation had dispersed the doors were thrown open to the public to view the remains. The Roman Coliseum would not have been large enough to hold all who wished to pay an eloquent tribute to the memory of the deceased.

All day yesterday the body of the great preacher lay embowered in flowers in Plymouth Church. "I would not have a semblance of mourning about my grave," Mr. Beecher had said in one of his most eloquent sermons.

Life and death are equal kings, and death, even at its worst, is but perfect rest. And so, when the hearts of those nearest and dearest to him were overwhelmed with grief they endeavored to feel as he would have had them feel, and all the outward and visible trappings of woe were avoided, in deference to Mr. Beecher's wish.

A Negro Family Treated to Tar and Feathers. A Manassas (Va.) despatch says: Last Sunday morning before daylight a colored family named Fields, living three miles southeast of this place, were aroused by three masked men who broke down the door of their hut. The family, which consisted of an old woman, her son and daughter, respectively about 21 and 23 years old, jumped from their beds; but before they could escape they were seized, blindfolded, stripped and bound.

Two Mysterious Deaths. A Newton despatch says: Rev. Wm. S. Howland, of this place, formerly a missionary to Ceylon, and his wife died rather suddenly, Mrs. Howland on March 5th and Mr. Howland on March 7th. The doctor's certificate stated that Mrs. Howland died of double pneumonia, to which she had been afflicted for some time.

A Money Making Scheme. The Duke of Westminster and the Duke of Argyll have withdrawn from the honorary council of the American Exhibition, owing to the manner in which their names are mentioned in a petition to the Prince of Wales to accept the Presidency of the Council of the Exhibition, and also they state because they have learned that the exhibition is purely a private speculation.

Cholera Marching North. A Washington despatch says: The Secretary of State is informed that cholera has spread through Panama and Valparaiso, and is extending along the Valley of Acconagua toward the sea.

WILL VOYK HERALD

AFTER THE KAISER DIES

The Queen of England's Daughter Will Be the Ruling Power in Germany—Her War with Bismarck. A Berlin cable says: Two facts are well known here in diplomatic circles which have an important influence on Prince Bismarck's political moves.

If left to herself, the Crown Princess would at once bring into power the Progress or Proletarian party, the members of which are anti-monopolists, in fact free traders, who desire the abolition of all repressive, Socialist and Church Laws. In order to curb the Crown Princess, Prince Bismarck brought about the late elections and forced the issues in such a way as to obtain a strong Government majority of Nationalists and Conservatives.

Prince Bismarck is destroying all the Crown Princess' political friends, but at the same time providing her with a new set of friends, sufficiently to her taste to do it without any radical sentences.

PUN IN A MENAGERIE.

An Elephant Plays Ball with a Pony and a Leopard. A Cincinnati despatch says: There was a private performance last night at a menagerie that is wintering here that was thrilling while it lasted.

She Made the Most of It.

Wife—"Got a dollar?" Husband—"Where's that last dollar I gave you?" "Gone." "Thought I told you to make it go as far as you could." "I did." "Doesn't look like it." "Well, I did; I sent it to the Fiji Island heathen."

NIAGARA FALLS PARK.

Report on the Value of the Land Proposed to be Expropriated—$525,000 Necessary to be Raised to Make Niagara Free for Ever. Col. Gowinski, J. W. Laugmair and J. Grant Macdonald, Commissioners for Niagara Falls Park, have presented to the Ontario Government a supplemental report, containing their valuation of the properties proposed to be expropriated for park purposes.

Table with 3 columns: Owner's Name, Awarded, Offered. Includes names like Bush, Lynch, Trench, etc.

From the above statement it will be seen that the total amount awarded is $402,867, as against $290,569 offered by the Commissioners, the difference between the two amounts being $112,298.

While the Commissioners did not anticipate so large a difference between the amounts offered by them and the amounts awarded by the arbitrators, they cannot but recognize the strength of the evidence on which the awards are founded.

A BEE IN HIS NIGHT-CAP.

A Slighted Somnambulist Shocks a Card Party Like a Ghost. A progressive euchre party at Mrs. Kemble's private boarding house on Naudain street, Philadelphia, was broken up by a most extraordinary incident last week.

A DEFAULTER.

The Secretary of the Royal Templars of Temperance Goes Off With the Funds. A Buffalo despatch dated yesterday says: E. A. Abbott, the Supreme Secretary of the Royal Templars of Temperance, is a defaulter to the extent of at least $5,000.

An Accommodating Man.

Collector—How many more times do you wish me to call for this money? Debtor—My dear sir, you need never call again. I shall not be offended.—Times Slittings.

She Made the Most of It.

Wife—"Got a dollar?" Husband—"Where's that last dollar I gave you?" "Gone." "Thought I told you to make it go as far as you could." "I did." "Doesn't look like it." "Well, I did; I sent it to the Fiji Island heathen."
