Our Washington Letter.

(From our own Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, JAN. 30, 1888.

The House has been in session nearly two months without developing anything characteristic. The qualities of timidity and lassitude appear most marked in the habit of looking down upon the assemblage from the gallery. There are plenty of young men, and there are some fine heads and bright eyes, but no one has said anything or done anything. The habitues, pointing out the statesmen to their visiting friends, are at a loss for something to say about them. All the members seem to have settled down to the dull sort of commonplace. There is none of that noisy demonstration and bustling generally characteristic of the House. Not even a rampant demagogue has made any striking showing.

Mr. Cox has been particularly subdued. On one occasion when the House expected a funny speech from him, he had mentioned their lips for a laugh, but he was serious. He is quite serious this session, and it seems as if he were going to start out on an entirely new plan. He is very dignified, and not the merry little Cox of old.

Mr. Reed seems to find nothing against which to whet his irony. He has made only one or two little sallies, but he appears too serious for sarcasm. Most of the time he sits silently in his seat watching the plodding of the House with a scornful expression on his face. Occasionally he walks half-way down the second aisle and stands there with his hands against his hips looking a challenge at the democratic party, as is his wont. But he turns back to his seat as if it were not worth the trouble, and collects about him three or four members who are good listeners or apt story tellers. He spends some time in getting his republican associates well into the traces, which some are disposed to kick over.

There are some very promising shaped heads in the House. Probably the best headed is owned by Bourke Cockran, but several have an advantage over his as to shape. One of the finest shaped heads in the House is that of Mr. Bacon, of New York. Another is that of Mr. Rayner, of Maryland, who parts his hair in the middle. Much is expected of these two men. Mr. Bacon's head is one that attracts attention, and is pointed out and talked of in the galleries. Mr. Rayner has shown that he has a good tongue also. He promises to be one of the strongest speakers on the floor of the House. Two or three times that he has taken the floor he has made a good impression. He has some of the characteristics of a talker displayed by Mr. Crain when he first came to the House. He is a fiery, bold talker.

Mr. Crain has developed much more composure of manner, and is rapidly growing to be one of the strongest men on the democratic side.

Tracy, of New York, who is a great personal friend of the President, is another of the new members from whom much is expected in time. He has a little head and a thin face.

Phelan, of Tennessee, is a plain, unpretentious young man, with a very bright eye and a manner that makes his associates watch his movements with interest.

Last week Mr. White, of New York, introduced a bill for the protection and administration of the forests on the public lands. It withdraws from survey, sale, entry and disposal the unreserved public lands, embracing natural forests and all public lands returned by the public surveys as timber lands, and provides for the appointment of a commissioner of forests at a salary of $5,000 a year and four assistants as commissioners, who shall have the control of all the forest lands owned by the United States. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of forests to classify the forests and timber lands and to determine what portion of those lands shall be permanently retained in reservation for climatic and other economic or public reasons and what portion may be disposed of. Lands which are more valuable for agricultural than timber purposes shall be restored to homestead entry and sale. The cutting, removal or destruction of any timber on the forest lands owned by the United States is made a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment; but the right is reserved to agriculturists and miners to take wood for domestic purposes.

The assistant doorkeepers at the various entrances to the House kept tally Saturday of the cards sent into the members during the day. It was estimated that there were fewer people at the Capitol than usual, yet 1,700 cards were sent in, 600 of these going in by the main door. This excludes all the cards sent in from the ladies' reception room, which were not counted, but they must have numbered at least 500.

In a Dangerous Condition.
 Any person troubled with irregular acting kidneys or any form of kidney disease, however slight it may seem, is in a dangerous condition if the treatment is neglected. Burdock Blood Bitters should be taken at once; it is the best regulator of the kidneys, liver and blood known to the world.

The Chicago News compliments Prof. Goldwin Smith upon his foresight in perceiving that commercial union is only a forerunner of political union between Canada and the United States. Prof. Smith has repeatedly declared that C. U. would be a sure remedy against annexation, but of course a little fact of no importance to a Chicago newspaper.—Toronto World.

The Chicago News is right. Prof. Smith did express the opinion which it attributes to him. Not in Canada, however, but at a public meeting in Detroit. The learned professor's expressions of opinions on this subject are largely influenced by geographical considerations.

Important to Working Men.
 Artizans, mechanics and laboring men are liable to such accidents and injuries, as well as painful cramps, stiff joints and lameness. To all this trouble we would recommend Haysard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward and internal use.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
 Are you distressed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain or cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Sorelyne Syrup for Children's Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. It cures drowsiness and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, soothes the nerves, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Sorelyne Syrup for Children's Teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Sorelyne Syrup" and take no other kind.

Thousands Suffering.
 Thousands of people are suffering untold miseries from constipation, headache, biliousness that might be at once relieved and soon cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. This invaluable medicine is sold at One Dollar per bottle, thus placing it within the reach of all.

A Timely Precaution.
 To prevent serious disease, regulate the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and blood with Burdock Blood Bitters. Remember that prevention is better than cure,

A Great Sufferer.

The person who is afflicted with rheumatism is a great sufferer and greatly to be pitied if they cannot procure Haysard's Yellow Oil. This remedy is a certain cure not only for rheumatism but for all external aches and internal pains.

Subscriptions received here for the "Empire" Weekly and Daily payable in advance at $1 and $5.

STATISTICAL.—An Ottawa correspondent says:—In all Canada there are about 650 newspapers and periodicals. Of these 72 are daily, 12 tri-weekly, 21 semi-weekly, 453 weekly, 13 semi-monthly, and 74 monthly. The printing offices employ 5,311 hands, and of these 5,310 know more than the editor.

Tamarac Elixir.
 In not advertising this preparation, but it has made some remarkable cures of persons supposed to be in the first stages of that disease.

The lacrosse case, recently concluded in Montreal, reveals the fact in this so-called national game of Canada there is the same "crookedness" which enemies of baseball are so fond of charging against it. Lacrosse always has been recognized as a brutal game, and now when it is found to be corrupt as well it will be more than ever discredited in the land of its nativity. Pretty soon baseball will be the Canadian national game. In the States it is waning before the more powerful attractions of draw-poker.

Ahead of All.
 I have used Haysard's Pectoral Balm in my family for years and have found it ahead of any preparation of the kind for curing colds, etc. I can especially recommend it for children. Alex. Moffat, Millbrook, Ont.

TRY IT.—One of the best and simplest remedies for torpid liver or biliousness is a glass of hot water with the juice of half a lemon squeezed in it, but no sugar, night and morning. A person to whom this was recommended tried it, and found himself better almost immediately. His daily headaches, which medicine had failed to cure, left him; his appetite improved and he gained several pounds within a few weeks. This is so simple a remedy that any person thus afflicted will do well to give it a trial, as it cannot possibly do any harm.

According to British board of trade returns, there was imported into the united kingdom during the month of December 53,695 cwt. of beef against 51,300 cwt. for the same month of 1886, including 51,200 cwt. from the United States, as compared with 50,392 cwt. The quantity of mutton received was 81,904 cwt., against 67,997 cwt., Holland supplying 24,399 cwt.; New South Wales, 4,690 cwt., against 2,509 cwt.; New Zealand, 36,985 cwt., against 25,804 cwt.; and the Argentine Republic, 25,800 cwt. against 28,523 cwt. The imports of pork were 24,765 cwt., against 14,654 cwt., 17,803 cwt. having been obtained from Holland, as against 11,547 cwt., and 6,255 cwt. from Belgium, against 2,818 cwt. in December, 1886.

THE OTHER SIDE.—A former inmate of the Industrial Home named Campbell wrote a letter preferring a serious charge against the superintendent of that institution. Mr. Irwin's explanation puts a different face on the matter. Campbell got permission to go to Newmarket and while there he drew from the bank a portion of the money left him by his brother. After spending some for liquor he returned to the Home rather late that evening and raised such a disturbance in the sleeping ward that none of the other men could sleep, consequently, he was searched and relieved of a whiskey flask and his pocket book. The latter contained $12.80 and a couple of blank checks, and as it is one of the rules of the institution to appropriate any money brought there by inmates to the support of the Home, the said amount was handed to the Inspector. As to his being ill-treated, Mr. Irwin says that he was not, nor is anyone, unless they, as Campbell did, fillet themselves. After his pockets were searched he was ordered to dress and as he got up to do so, he staggered falling backward over the arm of a rocker. He was then escorted to the furnace room for the night and the next morning, as he was very unwell, was lodged in the cell; but as that place is rather cold he was removed in a short time to the furnace room and handcuffed, where he remained until he collected himself and was willing to act as he should.
