I rise between seven and eight a. m. usually, and at once spread the bedclothes over the foot of the bed to let fresh air sweeten the sheets and destroy all effluvia. I then throw off my night dress, go to the wash bowl, wash my hands with soap, and then swill my face, ears and neck with water only. I rarely use soap to my face—Since leaving it off I find that my face is less covered with scurf. I then dip my hands in the water and rub my arms, chest, body and the second with scurf. While still wet I dry my face, ears and neck, and then give my body a vigorous rubbing with the towel, and so get into a glow.

My head gets washed only every three weeks, as I find too much soap causes scurf in the head, bleaches the hair and makes it brittle. I use a metal comb and brush, and use them just enough to make the hair assume a civilized form, as too much brushing pulls out the hair and weakens the scalp. Occasionally I go in for a little mild exercise before dressing, such as throwing my arms about, or stooping in various ways to exercise the muscles. When dressed I go out for half an hour's walk before break. ast no matter how cold, wet or foggy I come in warm, hungry and bright.

Our Washington Letter.

(From our own Correspondent.) Members are now venturing predictions as to the length of the present session of Congress. The members of the ways and means committee expect to reach a vote on the tariff bill before the 1st of August. Time must then be allowed for the Senate to consider the matter, and the prevailing opinion is that Congress will be in session n the 15th of August, probably as late as the 1st of September. When the Senate gets the Mills bill it will probably not take the finance committee long to prepare a substitute, which will be reported by the majority, the minority reporting the Mills ill. There is no idea that the session will be prolonged in an effort to reach an agreement between the two houses on a bill. The condition of the appropriations bills s not very promising. Those that have become laws: Two urgent deficiencies, the pensions, the Indian and Military Academy. n conference are: The District of Columbia, the legislative, the consular and diplo-matic, the Post Office and the Agricultural. The fortification and the general deficiency bills are still in the House committee. The Army, the Navy, the river and harbor and the sundry civil bills have passed the House.
