

A Young Lady's Fearful Struggle and Narrow Escape.

A Pittsfield, Mass., despatch says: Miss Gertrude Clapp, a young and wealthy society lady who lives in this city, was brutally assaulted on a dark night...

The assault took place when the wind was blowing very hard and just as a heavy thunder shower was coming on from the northwest.

CHICAGO'S HAUNTED HOUSE.

Several Tales of Ghosts Have Frightened Tenants for Many Years. A Chicago despatch says: A curious example of how the popular superstition that a house is haunted ruins the name of the property is shown by the destruction of the Belmont house...

It is in a fashionable quarter of the city, within ten years ago its occupants were three maiden sisters, Elizabeth, Charlotte and Anne, aged 43, 40, and 35, respectively.

The double suicide of years ago and the stories of the revuls of the spoils have cost the owner many thousand dollars. He is now tearing the house down and will have it rebuilt from the very foundation.

A PLUCKY PREACHER.

He Tackles a Burglar and Gets the Best of Him. A Minneapolis telegram says: Early Thursday morning a Minneapolis preacher had the physical courage to tackle and the strength to conquer a would-be burglar.

Poor Rule That Didn't Work Both Ways.

Charles—Did you ever see such a fellow to a whole as Bragg I've got here. He wouldn't give in. Herbert—You're right, 'cause I know I had to argue with him a whole week before he stopped arguing.

What Ails the Newspaper Men?

A despatch from Minneapolis, Minn., says: A. C. Harris, one of the best known newspaper men in the northwest, has eloped to South America with Mrs. E. J. Frederick, a woman who has for the past two years filled a position as typewriter for the Minnesota Abstract Company.

HEREDITARY CRIME.

The Remarkable Record of Thirty Families. A Buffalo despatch says: The report of the Committee on Organization for the next Conference of Charities and Corrections was adopted to-day.

This "vet" in his younger days had studied chemistry, and he found that sulphate of zinc was the best and almost the only cure for horses' "sore neck."

"I am awfully hard up and can get no more drink on trust, so I'll give you the idea for a glass of beer."

The American at once saw that there was probably millions in this and he conceived the notion that the matter could be done on a large scale.

Several days ago Russell Sage visited the Broadway (N.Y.) clothing establishment of Messrs. A. H. King & Co. for the purpose of rehabilitating his outer self in fashionable and seasonable apparel.

When I was a boy about 17, in 1874, I went to college during the day and after school hours I worked for my board at a stepmother's.

LOST?

Lost labor? Nay, not so. The planted seed, Unheeded and forgotten, yet shall grow In fruitful season, and to traveler's need Shall grateful shade and customary bestow.

Lost faith? Ah, never! What though dark the cloud? We know beyond it lies the polar star. Falling—hips and hands and close the breast—

Lost love? Least-ye of all love have lost! Love, the eternal—love, the priceless jewel Of Heaven's strain—our ransom—our gain—

Its Generating Power and the Work it is Capable of Performing. The most satisfactory way of arriving at an idea of the enormous energy of the sun is by measuring the amount of heat which his rays are capable of generating; and, further, by our knowledge of the relation which exists between the amount of heat which we are able at once to estimate the amount of work which the sun is capable of doing, and also the quantity of energy he must be losing year by year.

Of course, this enormous quantity of heat the earth receives but a very small fraction. The remainder, except, of course, what the other planets receive, passes away into space, and is lost forever.
