Effect of the Combines Bill.

One effect the Combines Bill is seen in the dissolution of the Coal Cartage Company of Ottawa. This company was organized by the combiner coal dealers of the Capital for the purpose of squeezing out new comers; but since the publication of the evidence taken before the Combines Committee, three firms have successfully stood out against the local combine, and accordingly the Cartage Company is dissolved, each dealer thereafter engaging his own teams.

WEST YORK.

Mr. Frank Turner, C.E., the Conservative Candidate in the Local Election.

The Liberal Conservatives of West York met in convention at Weston, on Saturday afternoon last, to select a Candidate to contest the constituency at the next Ontario elections. The meeting was held in the Town Hall, and Mr. D. W. Clendennan, President of the West York Liberal Conservative Association, filled the chair.

Among those present besides the delegates were:—M. Clarke Wallace, M.P.; Alfred Boulton, J. S. Fullerton, and others from Toronto. The Chairman having explained the reason of the meeting called for nominations.

A dozen or so nominations were made, including Mr. Meredith and J. L. Hughes. Dr. Orr was nominated by Robt. McCormick and seconded by W. J. Smithson. Frank Turner, C.E., was nominated by J. P. Bull, seconded by Thomas Kersey. The choice soon narrowed down to those two.

The ballot papers were being distributed when Dr. Orr generously declared his intention of withdrawing his name from the contest in favor of Mr. Turner. He said he would give Mr. Turner his heartfelt support and was confident that if a united effort was put forward the constituency could be redeemed.

Mr. Turner thanked the Doctor for his expression of confidence but thought the nomination should go to a vote. All he wanted was the carrying of the constituency and if the delegates preferred Doctor Orr he would have his support ten thousand times over. Dr. Orr preferred not to accept the nomination at this time but at some future time might do so. The mover and seconder consented to the withdrawal and the Chairman declared Mr. Turner to be the unanimous choice of the convention.

Mr. Turner returned his sincere thanks for the nomination.

Before separating the convention passed the following resolution on motion of Mr. Armstrong, seconded by Mr. Bull:—

"That while this association has always taken every opportunity of endorsing the actions and conduct of N. C. Wallace, Esq. M.P., during the period of his representation of this riding in the House of Commons, it takes a special pleasure in recording at this time its satisfaction with the steps taken by Mr. Wallace during the last two sessions of Parliament in endeavoring to destroy the numerous trade combinations that have come into life. Mr. Wallace's efforts having been crowned with success, this association believes that the trade and general interests of the country are in no small degree indebted to that gentleman for the firm stand taken by him in regard to those injurious trade combinations, and they cannot allow this opportunity to pass without conveying to him this expression of their sentiments in regard to that important question."

Never Despair.

Even when all seems lost, there is yet hope. Many a despairing, disheartened victim of dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney complaint, sciatica or rheumatism, has been brought back to health and usefulness by Burdock Blood Bitters, the greatest remedy known for all blood diseases.

Of Great Service.

"I have used Hagar's Yellow Oil for cuts and scalds on horses' shoulders, and they got better at once. I have also used it for sprains, burns, and all kinds of skin ailments, and can recommend it highly as of great value." W. Service, Mingo, Man.

The First Mayor's Address.

We have neglected hitherto acknowledging receipt of address issued last night by D. W. Clendennan, Esq., first Mayor of the Town of West Toronto Junction. It is a plain business like document and reflects credit on the writer. By it we notice that they have a good system of water-works, costing so far, less than $100,000, capable of supplying three million gallons of water per day and which will be completed about the 1st July. Water for fire, manufacturing, and domestic purposes will be supplied in abundance. The Sewer Question is also dealt with together with other subjects. The Mayor refers to the separation of the town from the county as follows:—"One of the most important matters of the near future will be the separating of this town from the county of York. The Statutes allow this by-law submitted to the people of the town. After the by-law passes it is declared that all county roads and bridges in the town shall belong to the town and that the town shall be entitled to its share of the assets of the county. This would give us Dundas Street, with the toll gate off, and $12,000 to $15,000 which might be invested in buying the Weston and Davenport Roads within the limits and other needed improvements. We might also get a Registry Office opened here, a Division Court, &c. Our share for keeping up the county jail and court house would be fixed for five years by arbitration and would be but a trifle. We would escape all taxes for county roads, bridges, high school, county council, &c., and also escape having $1,500 a year collected in the town for tolls and spent up north."

Mechanics' Institute.

A meeting of the Directors of the Mechanics' Institute was held in the Library Room, on Monday evening, the 20th May, 1888.

Members present:—Messrs. A. R. Innes (President), G. Newbery, W. A. Sanderson, M. McCuaig, R. E. Law, W. A. Sanderson, D. Boyle, and the Secretary, T. P. McMahon.

Minutes of last Directors' Meeting read, revised and approved, on motion of Mr. Treuch, seconded by Mr. Newbery.

The following Committees were then struck:—

Re-Union—Mr. Wilson, H. A. Nicholls, T. F. McMahon, and W. A. Sanderson.

Debate—H. M. McCuaig, G. Newbery, and I. Crosby.

Library—McCuaig, Clabine, Law, Finance—Boyle, and Innes.

Lecture—Treuch, Pugsley, and Wilson. Reading—Sanderson, and Law.

On motion of Mr. Treuch, seconded by Mr. Newbery, Mr. R. E. Law was appointed Librarian at the same salary as at present.

The Auditors' Report for the past year was then read, which was as follows:—

W. H. FUGESLEY, Auditors.

This is to certify that we have examined the Treasurer's book, and found the Treasurer's $19.60, correct, and also $1.50 due from three Members for tickets to the Institute.

On motion of H. M. McCuaig, seconded by W. Treuch, the Auditors' Report was adopted.

The Librarian drew the attention of the Directors to the fact that several of the magazines in the Library needed binding. The matter was referred to the Library Committee and the meeting adjourned.

The Worst of all the Isms.

"Don't talk to me about your political 'ism,'" said a facetious old valetudinarian. "I tell you there's no 'ism' on earth so bad as 'Rheumatism.'" The venerable sufferer was right. St. Lawrence's gridiron or Quainton's pallet of fire was not more emphatically a bed of torment than the couch of the master rheumatism. It is generally considered by the faculty one of the most obstinate as well as one of the most painful of patients' therapies, and it does resist all ordinary remedies with extraordinary pertinacity. Skill and science, however, in this age of progress, seem to master all opposition; and even this painful disease, entrenched among the muscles, and interlaid, as it were, with the sinews and tendons of our frames, is compelled to yield to the curatives they have provided.

We have it on a questionable authority—the testimony of patients themselves—that rheumatism, however deeply seated, may be cured by the regular and persistent application of Holloway's Ointment. This we feel assured, will be welcome intelligence to thousands of sufferers, bedridden by the disease, or limping with stiffened joints along the pathway to the tomb. In a climate where the quicksilver sometimes makes a leap of thirty degrees up or down, the complaint is of course prevalent; and along the alluvial borders of our great rivers, in the hemlock swamps of the South, and in all low and damp locations, few persons reach the age of forty years without a rheumatic visitation. It is clear, therefore, that a preparation which will afford immediate relief, and effect eventually a thorough cure of the complaint, must be of especial value to the people of all countries. We cannot reasonably doubt, in view of the well-attested statements which have been laid before us, sustained as they are by circumstances within our own knowledge, that the Ointment referred to will effect that object; and among all the benefits which the discoveries of that celebrated physician and philanthropist have conferred upon mankind, this is certainly not the least important. Many an industrious tiller of the soil, whose services are needed in the field, is at this moment languishing on a bed of sickness; the hands that should guide the plough or grasp the spade rendered powerless by Rheumatism. Many a toiler in every branch of productive labour is similarly disabled; and we can imagine with what joy these sufferers would hail the means of immediate cure. To all such we feel justified in recommending this balsamic remedy, the application of which will lead at a few doses of Holloway's Pills to regularity of the internal organs, would, we feel assured, restore them to health and usefulness.—Daily Argus.

Bohemian Oats Go.

The "Bohemian oats" game has been worked extensively throughout New York, about two years ago agents of a Michigan company travelled among the farmers, ostensibly to introduce a new variety of oats, said to be much superior in quality and productiveness to any of the old kinds. It was claimed that the Michigan concern controlled the whole of the small available stock of seed of this extraordinary product, which it was selling to farmers at the rate of $15 a bushel, with an accompanying guarantee that would secure the buyer against any possibility of loss. Say the farmer took ten bushels, costing $150, he could give his note for the amount, payable on the 1st of September next following, after he had gathered a crop. In making the sale, and as a guarantee of good faith, the company's agent would give the farmer a bond to pay him for his crop at the rate of $15 a bushel for his first ten bushels and $5 for every additional bushel. The company was represented to have $100,000 cash on hand, and to have financially sound hundreds of farmers in the central and western parts of the state invested in the oats. The agents of the company basinated, to have discounted the farmer's notes, and that generally ended it so far as the company was concerned. The farmers admit that the company did pay as agreed in a few instances for the first crop raised, but allege that such an action was intended to inspire confidence and extend sales.

In most cases the farmer's notes passed into the hands of third parties in their own neighborhoods, and the efforts of the holders to collect them has led to litigation. As a rule the courts held that the makers must pay, but in one suit just decided by the county circuit court the plaintiff was defeated on the ground that the note was obtained by fraudulent device, of which the plaintiff had cause to be aware when he discounted it. It is understood that the plaintiff in this case holds over $6,000 in notes of his description by Orleans county farmers, which he must lose if the Michigan company is responsible. The game originated in the west, where it was extensively worked a few years ago, especially in Iowa.

Our Washington Letter.

From our own Correspondent.

In the course of a few hours the President sees a queer collection of people. The other day I saw waiting for an audience about a score of people. There were Senator Chandler, nervous, quizzical in expression, donned in sombre black. Near him were seated an old gentleman and a bevy of half a dozen pretty girls. Next to them came Prof. Langston, the colored educator and politician, city but vindictive, and a woman. The faces of the four were stamped on the faces of the crowd, the red-headed ranger of the Rio Grande, dressed in the easiest of light plaid suits, and talking to a friend in his familiar, obtrusive, self-sufficient manner. In a group at the farther end of the room were a couple of old-fashioned colored country preachers, respectful and respectable, accompanied by a broken down old colored man and his family.
