

Rents in Scotland still continue to fall. A large farm in Berwickshire was recently let at $3,000, after having for many years commanded $4,640. This is a reduction of about 35 per cent. The conditions of the new lease are said, in addition, to be very liberal.

The prompt condemnation of Mr. Tennyson's new play by a London audience leads an English newspaper to remark that English audiences are gradually "assuming something of a ferocity of the French first-night public." A man who has written a bad play is treated, it says, "with more vindictiveness than a pickpocket or a burglar." Previous good character as a dramatist is not allowed to tell in his favor.

During the royal review in London recently the warmest outward welcome was extended to Sir Evelyn Wood. Sir Garnet Wolseley is said to have appeared too early in the procession to be generally recognized. He was missed in the crowd of surrounding cocked hats. Sir Evelyn at one point stepped to shake hands with an Essex man whom he recognized in the crowd, and was nearly pulled off his horse by the enthusiastic crowd.

At the Pembroke dock-yard in Wales was launched, a fortnight ago, the new iron-clad barbetto ship "Collingwood" in the presence of many thousands of spectators. This iron-clad is 325 feet long and 68 wide; her armor has a thickness varying from 16 to 18 inches, and weighs 1,497 tons; her engines are 7,000 horse-power, and she has a total displacement of 1,950 tons.

The law has interfered with one of Mr. Richard Horne Shepherd's enterprises. Mr. Shepherd recently declared himself about to issue a life of Thackeray, with some of Thackeray's unpublished writings, and it will be remembered that the English publishers of Thackeray's works therefore announced an authorized edition of the unpublished works as a matter of self defence. News now comes that the publishers have applied for and have obtained an injunction restraining Mr. Shepherd from carrying out his purposes.

When the Queen goes to Balmoral she goes by special train, commanded by special servants. The trip there and back is said to have cost the sum of £2,500. Other members of the royal family, however, travel in "saloon-carriages" by an ordinary train at first-class fares. During the Queen's residence a special train, known as her train, is run from Aberdeen to Balmoral for the use of Queen's messengers and cabinet ministers on duty. From Balmoral to Balmoral they travel in carriages, as the railway track, by special desire, does not go as far as Balmoral itself.

Mr. Joyces, the undermaster of Eton School, who was arrested in Ireland last summer with Mr. Henry George, having caused to be published in London a long account, written by himself, of his experiences, one which is described as "a harmless little volume," the head master of Eton has called upon him to suppress the book. The head master afterward admitted that he had not read the book when he made this demand. "It is surely absurd," says the Pall Mall Gazette, in a note on this strange proceeding, "that the master of a great school like Eton should be tied down to one set of opinions, and that those must be opinions to which the head master happens not to object."

Mr. Preston, author of "Unclaimed Money," has startled Londoners by announcing that the new Palace of Justice has been mainly raised with the surplus interest of suitors' money, the Court of Justice Building Act, 1865, giving power to apply £1,000,000 of the surplus interest fund for this purpose. Mr. Preston asserts that £75,000,000 are in the chancery funds, the number of accounts being 34,545. A hundred years ago it was £7,500,000 and 2-35 accounts. This employment of the money in buildings the courts need not alarm the numerous families in this country who claim these funds, inasmuch as there is an understanding that the government will make good all the money thus appropriated to all claims which shall be substantiated.

It is recorded in a London paper, as if it were a matter of some wonder, that an English gentleman possessing an income of $30,000 a year has been sent to penal servitude for shooting at Police officers. His name is Thomas A. H. Robinson. Several officers attempted to arrest Mr. Robinson and he discharged a revolver at them, without, however, doing any of them serious harm. The court at Liverpool, before which the case was taken, appears to have made speedy work of it, in entire disregard of the gentleman's income of £5,000 a year.

Ben Nevis is in a fair way to have erected upon its summit a national observatory. A son of Prof. Hildebrand, who is the director of the observatory at Upsala, and whose researches in atmospheric phenomena are declared to be the most advanced and accurate that have been made known, has written to London scientific persons strongly urging that this work be undertaken. He says the atmospheric observations published from Puy-de-Dome, in the South of France, have been of great importance, but unfortunately this mountain has a bad situation in regard to storm tracks, being almost placed on the north-westerly or south-westerly slope of a high pressure. "Ben Nevis, on the contrary," he says, "is situated almost in the middle track of the depressions or storms of North-western Europe, and hence observations made there must be of far greater importance in their relation to the theory of cyclones than the mountain observations in the South of France." It is believed in London that the necessary funds for the observatory will shortly have been raised. About $25,000 will be needed.

Mr. J. G. Tyler, chief clerk at the Union Depot Hotel, Ogden, had rheumatism in the muscles of the chest and left shoulder. By applying the Great German Remedy three days he realized complete restoration, and he is of the opinion that there is nothing equal to the St. Jacobs Oil for pain. The Great German Remedy is also a specific for burns and sprains.—Salt Lake (Utah) Tribune.

The Source of Much Ill Temper.

When your husband comes home in bad humor, jerks off his boots, and appears to be generally miserable, do not attribute it to business cares or hard times, but to his real cause—those terrible corns constantly annoying him. A word to the wise will be sufficient—buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. His corns will be quickly and painlessly removed, and his gratitude will be unbounded. The people of this country have spoken. In the Journal de Therapeutique the statement is made by Prof. Nocard, that pilocarpine, a drug upon which the medical faculty had built their hopes as a cure for hydrophobia, exerts no beneficial influence upon that malady.

D. I consider it the only patent medicine that cures more than it is recommended to cure."

Testimonial from Mr. W. S. Wisner, of J. O. Wisner & Son, Manufacturers of Agricultural Implements:—

Brantford, Ont., July 28th, 1880. J. N. Sutherland, Esq., Dec 27/87.—I take pleasure in bearing testimony to the efficacy of your Rheumatism. Last spring I was completely disabled with Rheumatism, and tried various remedies, baths, &c., and finally heard of your cure. I purchased and used three bottles of it, and it effected a complete cure, for I have not had a return of the disease since.

Yours truly, W. S. WISNER.

Vegetine RHEUMATISM, KIDNEY COMPLAINT Entirely Cured by the use of VEGETINE. Hamilton, O., March 14, 1881. Mr. H. R. Stevens—Dear Sir: Although an entire stranger to you, I wish to inform you what Vegetine has done for me. After suffering for several years with the Rheumatism, I can truly say, the Vegetine has entirely cured me. I have had not the slightest touch of it for several months. I would like to inform you. I have also been badly afflicted with Kidney Complaint, suffering great pain in my back, hips and sides with great difficulty in passing urine. By the use of Vegetine I find myself entirely cured of this complaint. I take great pleasure in recommending your remedy to my acquaintances and friends, and all speak favorably of it good effects. Respectfully yours, P. H. GILBERT, Undertaker. I am personally acquainted with Mr. Gilbert, and believe him perfectly reliable in his statement. H. S. JAMES, Druggist, Hamilton, O.

Read the Facts. Toronto, April 3, 1880. Dear Sir—

Mr. H. R. Stevens, Boston, Mass. Sir—I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the efficacy of your invaluable family medicine Vegetine. For three years I was a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism and Derangement of the Kidneys, and after testing innumerable so-called remedies, in the spring of last year, I was recommended to give the Vegetine a trial and to persevere in using it for some time. I did so, and in the course of three months found a perfect cure had been effected and I am now, thank God, in the full enjoyment of the best of health. I consider it the most effective remedy for the distressing complaints just mentioned and for Indigestion, Biliousness and Liver Disease. It is very pleasant to take, invigorating and invigorating. I can most confidently recommend it, knowing great benefits I have derived from its use and consider I cannot overstate its great and important value to those similarly afflicted as I have been. Yours faithfully, R. L. COLLE, Accountant.

WHAT IS CATARRH? Catarrh is a mucopurulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite ameba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxæmia, from retention of the effeted matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back part of the mouth causing ulceration of the throat; up the eustachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness, usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes ending in pulmonary consumption and death. To effect a cure the parasite must be removed or destroyed, hence inhalants and snuffs are worthless.
