House for Sale.
 A good house and lot is for sale in the village of Victoria Square. There is also a good shop, and it is said there is afforded an excellent opportunity for a shoemaker who understands his business. No opposition. See ad.

Mrs. Redditt's Death.
 A gloom was suddenly cast over the village last week when it was learned that Mrs. T. H. Redditt had passed away from earth. She had been in delicate health for some time previous, but until a few days before she died, none expected the end was so near. She had been visiting friends in the city, and was apparently improving in health, until suddenly she was taken with violent hemorrhage of the lungs, from which she never rallied. Her husband was telegraphed for at once, and every effort was made to prolong her life, but in spite of all, she died on Thursday. The funeral took place on Saturday, from Richmond Hill, and her remains were followed to the village cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. The last sad rites were read at the grave by Rev. W. W. Bates in an impressive manner. Mr. Redditt has the sympathy of the surrounding country in his sudden bereavement.

Very Mean.
 We regret exceedingly that in our issue of the 9th inst., we innocently gave insertion to some items sent us by a correspondent, in reference to certain parties in the vicinity of Victoria Square, which item we have since learned is without foundation. To strangers (including ourselves) no harm could be elicited by the most careful reading. But those in the immediate neighborhood, who were familiar with the names mentioned, could easily detect between the lines malice of the meanest kind. And worse than all, the cowardly party, who might be compared to a mid-night assassin, maliciously wrote over the signature of a respected and honored citizen of the place, who is innocent of the whole affair. If the name of the real writer ever comes to light he may find it unpleasant enough. We hope we will not soon be again deceived in this way, but that persons writing will give facts of public interest, and that they will not be ashamed to subscribe their own appellation.

Wooden Wedding.
 Last Friday evening, Sept. 17th, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Proctor, of this village, gave an "At Home," to which was invited a large number of their friends and relatives, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of their wedding. The following were among the guests present:—Rev. and Mrs. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncanson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Trench, Mr. and Mrs. Skeels, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. I. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. W. Storey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brydon, Mr. and Mrs. A. Newton, Dr. and Mrs. Langstaff, Dr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Currier and Mr. J. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pugsley, Mr. and Mrs. B. Grennan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. G. Trench, the Misses Trench, Miss Flora Coulter, Mr. S. Shaw and Mr. W. D. Atkinson, of Richmond Hill; Mr. and Mrs. P. Patterson, of Patterson; Mr. and Mrs. Ness, of King; Mr. and Mrs. Miller and the Misses Miller, of Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. Boverly, Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Beeby, of New York, and others. The happy couple received many beautiful and expensive presents, among which might be mentioned a handsome Secrétaire, the material being cherry wood, highly polished, and the workmanship and finish most complete. In the back was an elegant mirror. With this gift was a tablet bearing the names of the givers, and neatly bound at the top and bottom with red plush. Other presents were as follows:—A large rattan two storey basket neatly trimmed, a bronzed milking-stool, a handsomely lined work basket, a rattan wall pocket, a waste paper box and fire grate, a butter cooler artistically carved in wood, a baby's swing, and, as a matter of course, a wash tub. The rooms were decorated with the best of taste and skill, shavings of wood being the principal adornment. Almost everything was emblematic of a wooden wedding, for example, five wax candles, five storey fruit baskets, five storey fruit cakes, &c., &c. About seventy sat down to supper, which was the most choice, and likely to tempt the dullest of appetites. After tea short speeches were made congratulatory to the happy couple, and expressing a wish that continued happiness and prosperity should attend them during future years. The evening was spent in many harmless amusements, and social intercourse, after which the visitors parted for their several homes, feeling that a very pleasant evening had been spent.

The great health restorer, West's Liver Pills. They regulate the liver and promote good digestion. All druggists.

Temperance Convention.

A large, representative, and very important meeting of leading temperance men of Ontario, was held in Toronto on the 14th and 15th inst. They met to consider what had been done, and to lay plans for the future. Reports from various Scott Act Counties showed that the Act generally was doing much good. Several cases of non-enforcement were accounted for by the incompetence, or worse, of officials appointed by the Ontario Government to administer the law. During the course of the debate, Hon. G. W. Ross, publicly pledged the Mowat Government to use every means in their power to enforce the Scott Act wherever adopted in Ontario, and accepted its enforcement as a part of their policy. The burning question was "Shall we proceed to organize a 3rd, or prohibition party." It was clearly seen that nothing need be hoped for from the present Conservative Administration at Ottawa. Its present composition, and the votes on the Scott Act &c. during recent sessions clearly indicated this. On the other hand, although a large number of Reformers are prohibitionists, the leader, Hon. Mr. Blake, has studiously declined to commit himself. It was felt that even supposing we got a prohibitory law enacted it would not be enforced without a party at the back of it that had made it a part of their platform and who would stand or fall on its successful enforcement. Hence the necessity for a prohibition party; the question was, will one or both of the present parties accept the question as a plank in their platform, or will a third party be necessary. The discussion lasted over nine hours, as lively a debate as one ever has a chance of hearing, participated in by the most prominent men in the temperance and political ranks. Eight to ten men claiming the floor at a time was a common sight, and the discussion was stopped only by a motion to take the vote. It was finally decided to organize the temperance vote at once, and bring all possible influence to bear at the coming elections, each voter pledging himself to withhold his vote and support from any candidate not known to be sound on the prohibition question. It was generally felt that if the present political parties, or one of them did not get on the right side of the question, and that very soon, there would be trouble ahead. The men were evidently in earnest. Several present had been the victims of outrages, such as beating, bar-burning, dynamite, &c. &c., and the plain English that was given utterance to was really refreshing. To hear one Reformer after another get up and "go for" the Mowat Government and Blake for their apathy or studied avoidance of the question was something new and it certainly had a good effect as seen by the stringent orders issued last week to the officials connected with Scott Act enforcement. And the end is not yet—Cox
