RICHMOND HILL, Thursday, May 19, '87

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

As the Prize List of the Spring Fair will not be in our hands in time for publication on Thursday of next week, THE LIBERAL will not be published till Friday, the 27th. Our subscribers will bear this in mind and kindly wait for their paper one day longer. We presume this is preferable to keeping the prize list till the following week.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

Sir Charles Tupper's Budget Speech was in several respects a model one. With unswerving devotion to the main subject in hand, the Minister of Finance refrained from the blinding episodes which, whether they are abuse of opponents or laudation of friends, have only one tendency—to still more complicate what in its very nature is intricate to the last degree.

When we consider Sir Charles' usual manner of presenting a question—his bold denials of what every one knows to be true, the roseate hues with which he paints what every one knows to be black despair, his threats, his bluster—we are forced to the conclusion that age is beginning to temper his robustious oratory. Yet it is seldom that the hardened politician gives up favorite methods, especially successful methods, even when the booming of the surf on the eternal shore does strike upon his ears. The fact stands, however, that Sir Charles' exposition of our financial affairs was at once modest and lucid. Many difficulties, it is true, he met by dexterously avoiding them. His dexterity must be viewed as that of a nimble spirit unwilling to bruise itself against walls.

Without discussing minutely Sir Charles' statement, we may point out that its most salient points are:
(1) The abrogation of the coal tax.
(2) The increased duty on iron.
(3) The general increase of the tariff on protective lines. That which is attracting the greatest attention is undoubtedly the second. Sir Charles boldly declared that it is the government's intention to develop in Canada the mining industries. In accordance, therefore with the principles of the N. P., the duty on imported iron is raised from two dollars a ton to four dollars a ton. In addition to this, the government will pay a bounty of four dollars on every ton of iron put from a Canadian furnace.

It would be idle to discuss how far this policy will tend to foster smelting. But the immediate effects of the policy will be an enormous rise in the cost of all articles into whose construction iron largely enters. Stoves, agricultural implements, vehicles of all kinds and machinery in general will go up in price with great bounds. Hence we are not to be astonished if a cry of dissatisfaction is raised from one end of the land to the other. Already, in fact, the Minister of Finance is daily beset with angry deputations. To their expostulations, their arguments, their entreaties, Sir Charles listens, but gives no sign of changes. He declared in the House that he expected this clamor. He also declared that the clamor would be short-lived, while the benefits of the government's action would be permanent.

We wish that we could share the Minister's sanguine expectations. The most that we can see at all likely to result, is the accumulation of large fortunes by a few individuals, and these fortunes will, as always, come out of the pockets of Canadian consumers. To secure far from steady employment for a few thousand men, and to build up vast fortunes for a few individuals, Canadians, already taxed beyond their resources, will be forced to submit to still heavier burdens.

Fire-Cracker Nuisance.

To the Editor of THE LIBERAL:

Sir,—I hope you will pardon me for intruding on your valuable space; my excuse is, that our village is becoming infested with a number of unruly boys, who congregate at certain places in the public thoroughfares of the village. These ill-bred young persons delight in insulting respectable females passing, and indulge in the unlawful practice of letting off fire-crackers to the danger and very serious annoyance of passers-by. I trust the village authorities will enforce the By-Law, "for preventing and abating public nuisances," such as I complain of—which By-Law I have seen in a prominent place in the Post Office recently.

A RATEPAYER.

Oak Ridges.

From our own Correspondent.

A singular accident occurred on one of the main streets of this place one day last week; it was a collision which proved fatal to one of the colliding parties. Two Cows ran against one another with such force that the horn of one of them penetrated the skull of the other and went some distance into the brain. The cow died in a few minutes. She was the property of Mr. G. Legge, near Bond's Lake. Last Friday morning, about half past three o'clock, the barn belonging to Messrs. J. G. and T. H. Legge was struck by lightning, and barn and contents were consumed, with the exception of the horses. 8 head of cattle, a quantity of seed grain and feed, and a number of implements were burnt. Mr. Noble, the tenant, came from England three years ago this spring, and by industry and economy had saved enough money to start farming this spring and pay for the stock and implements necessary. The loss of the Legge Bros. will be light, as the barn was insured, but, unfortunately, Mr. Noble had no insurance on his property. The neighbors have expressed their sympathy for him in the substantial form of a liberal subscription.

Miss Ida Gregory, who has been living in Toronto for some time, has returned home.

Miss Rogers, of Creemore, has been visiting at Mr. Platt's, her Uncle, for a few days.

(Too late for last issue.)

Purify your blood and regulate your liver and digestive organs before the heat of summer, and thus save a doctor's bill by the timely use of West's Liver Pills. All druggists.

Temperanceville.

From our own Correspondent.

Your correspondent not having been winter-killed like some of the fall wheat is able to occasionally write you a few notes concerning matters of general interest in our burgh.

The Methodist Church in this place has undergone a few improvements which were badly needed, but have added considerably to its appearance and attractiveness. The windows have been frosted and the interior Kalsomined.

The friends of the Rev. J. A. Rankin in this place and at the Town line (called Thompson's appointment) presented him with a purse of $25.00 as a token of their sympathy to him. Mr. Rankin had the misfortune to lose his horse, a very valuable animal.

Our Teacher of the Public school and her scholars kept Arbor Day after something of a jubilee fashion. They planted evergreens around the grounds and fixed several flower beds in such style that they deserve credit for their taste and industry. No doubt some of the young men find it a very trying task, waiting outside for the Sunday evening prayer meeting to begin, and having people who are passing in, staring at them. This accounts for the conduct of some of them after the meeting has begun and they have taken their reserved back seats. Perhaps some of the young men referred to will not know what this means.

Owing to the fine weather we have had, farmers have finished seeding in good time and will be ready to go to Richmond Hill next Tuesday to see the 24th and other agricultural exhibits, as well as the Lacrosse match next Saturday.

The family of Mr. R. Rutherford has been increased by the addition of a daughter, on May the 8th.

Why will you suffer when one bottle of West's World's Wonder will relieve, and two to three bottles cure any case of rheumatism. 25c. and 50c. Your druggist sells it.
