The range will be 100 and 200 yards.
 Run a-way.
 Last Saturday about noon a team of horses belonging to Mr. Matthew Dobson acted rather unruly when they were being driven through the village. They were attached to a self-binder, and Mr. Dobson was on his way to cut a small field of wheat for one of our citizens when they took flight. They shied to the east side of the street and ran over two small maple trees, tearing them out. The reaper was considerably damaged. One of the team was a colt which no doubt accounted for the misconduct.

Ratger's Nonpareil Table Jelly, in all flavors, the handiest and nicest jelly on the market, at the Fire Proof. Will D. Atkinson.

Bought for $420.
 Village lot No. 7, which was sold by auction on Saturday, under mortgage from Mr. Thomas Pogue, was purchased by Mr. Matthew McNair for the sum of $420. Lemonade, Water Melon, &c., will be sold during the evening. A good programme will be presented, including Singing, Recitation and Addresses. Those who come may expect a good time. Tickets, 25 cents; children, under 12, 15 cents. Proceeds in aid of Parsonage Fund.

Accident While Driving.
 Mr. C. Marsh, Miss Marsh, son and daughter of Robert Marsh Esq., accompanied by a lady friend had an unpleasant experience about midnight on Friday as they were returning home after spending the evening with friends a few miles away. About opposite Mr. T. Palmer's residence on Yonge St. their horse became frightened, upset the buggy, and threw all the occupants on the hard ground. The two ladies were badly bruised about the face, but Mr. Marsh was more fortunate in escaping almost unharmed. The horse ran home, and the rig was pretty badly shattered. The young ladies are recovering from their injuries.

Unfatal Accident.
 George Sims was shot in the head a few days ago while working near the barn of Dr. Langstaff. B-sides the which descended upon the upper part of the body, the miniature bullets struck around him in several places, but the victim was at a loss to know from whose hand the grape was fired. Probably the charge came from a neighboring garden or orchard where the birds were doing injury to the fruit. Be this as it may we are glad we have not to chronicle a more serious tragedy, and in future George would like his neighbors to be more careful when shooting, as when he feels inclined to act as a target he will let them know.

"Gone but not Forgotten."
 A sad case of suicide occurred in our midst early on Tue-day morning. The unfortunate victim had lived in the village during the past few years, and was well known by both old and young. Recently he was induced to "go west," in accordance with the advice of the late Horace Greeley. Consequently on Tuesday morning, in company with two others, he started for his new place of abode. Not wishing to sit beside the driver for the first few miles he was allowed to follow behind the wagon, which was loaded with household furniture. In fact for fear he might alter his mind and return home, he was tied to the rear of the dray, to which plan he raised no objections. The driver expected that all was going well until nearing the toll-gate, about two miles south of this village, a passer-by drew his attention to some heavy commodity dragging behind the vehicle. Stopping the wagon and going back he was horrified to find his follower breathless, life being extinct. Death was caused by strangulation, but whether he died a victim of his own hand, or whether the loop tightened too suddenly about his neck, it was not quite clear. In either case no inquest was considered necessary. The breaking of the sad news to a sympathizing public devolved upon Mr. Levi Gaby, who was driving the team. It was at first thought to convey his remains to Weston, but afterwards the idea was conceived to bury him along the road side, where in after years a slab may be erected to his memory. As this individual has a history it may not be out of place to give a short sketch of his life. For some time past he has been known by the appellation of "The Faithful." He sometimes acted in the capacity of night watchman, and earned the above title in April last when one night he guarded a house against a "burglarious attempt" to enter it. It is true he had his enemies, many of whom both hated and feared him, as he had made various attacks on them, biting some with his teeth and frightening others. His bad temper was excused, however, as it was known he was not of altogether sane mind. This might be judged from the fact that he generally went on all fours, and was never known to eat his meals with a knife and fork. It is doubtful if any other member of his class ever attracted as much attention in our village, as he has during the past year. Requiescat in pace.

Carrville.
 The celebration of the Harvest Home Festival in connection with the Methodist Church, Carrville, will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society on Sunday and Monday, the 31st of August and the 1st of September. On Sunday the sermon will be preached at 6.30 p. m., by Rev. J. C. Speer, of Richmond Hill. On Monday, the day following, a Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p. m., after which an entertainment will be given, consisting of music by the Richmond Hill Choir, and addresses by Revs. J. C. Speer and R. McCulloch, of Richmond Hill, and T. Edwards, of Kleinburg. Chair to be taken at 7.30 p. m., by Rev. P. Campbell, Superintendent of the circuit. The church will be suitably decorated for the occasion. Tickets-Adults, 30 cents; Children, half price.

Having purchased another business in the village of Port Colborne, at the head of the Welland Canal, which will take our personal attention, Mr. Shaw will have charge of the Richmond Hill store, and is authorized to sell the goods at cost price for a short time only, after which the balance will be packed up and removed. Read adv. on next page. R. W. NEVILLE.
