Didn't mean Usurper.
 Rev. T. Fenwick informs us that in his letter last week he referred to William III. as the "successor" of James II, whereas THE LIBERAL had it "usurper." We therefore make the correction, but candidly confess we never would have taken the word for "successor," had we looked at it for a week.

Sudden Death.
 Mr. William Whyte, one of the old timers of the county of York, went to church at York Mills on Sunday in apparently the best of health. He returned to his home on the Don Mills road, ate a hearty dinner, and was about to do some chores about his premises when he fell to the floor dead. He leaves a family of nine children, five sons and four daughters. The deceased came to Canada in 1834. The funeral took place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon to St. John's church, York Mills.

Money can't do some things. It can't liquidate the account of the mosquito when it presents its bill; it will have its pound of flesh. It can't make a man smile when there's a boil just under his posterior collar-button. Money can't buy better goods than Atkinson & Switzer sell every day to satisfied citizens. Money can't buy cheaper goods than Atkinson & Switzer are now off ring without reserve to the prudent and economical.

Miss Wetherald's Recitals.
 Miss Wetherald, graduate of the National School of Oratory, who has been engaged for the Agricultural Concert on the evening of the Queen's Birth-day, is highly spoken of by the press wherever she has taken part in programmes. We copy the following from a Welland paper, her former home:—"A very appreciative audience greeted Miss Wetherald in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening. Those who had courage to face the storm were more than repaid by the rich treat they enjoyed. Her recitals are worthy of the highest praise. The only difficulty is in deciding whether she excels in the pathetic or the humorous. In the one she moves her audience to tears, in the other convulses them with laughter," &c.

Concert at Thornhill.
 On Thursday, the 13th inst. a very enjoyable concert was given in the Victoria Hall, Thornhill, under the auspices of the Methodist church. The Toronto Hand Bell Ringers were present, and rendered the greater part of the programme. They gave several selections of music on the bells with very good effect, to the delight of those present as evidenced by the hearty applause and many encores which greeted the performers. The audience was fairly large for the season and should the Toronto Hand Bell Ringers ever again favor this section with an evening they may expect a crowded house. The recitations of Mr. John Wilson, of Thornhill, formed a very pleasant part of the programme. He is always acceptable to a Thornhill audience but on this occasion he was most enthusiastically received and highly appreciated.

A large platform will be erected in the grove, and dancing will be attended by an excellent string band. Choice music will be interspersed by the Vellore Cornet Band. Dinner will be served commencing at 1 p. m. Admission to dancing platform, Gentlemen 25 cents; Ladies free. A cordial invitation is extended to all, and the committee confidently expect a first-class time.

Illustrated Lecture.
 The lecture delivered last evening in the Methodist church, by the Rev C T Cocking, was a treat for the fair sized audience that attended. As announced last week the lecture treated of the manners and customs of the Japanese, and was illustrated by colored views many of which were magnificent. Mr. Cocking having been a resident of Japan for several years, had a good opportunity of learning much about that remarkable country, and was therefore able to make his lecture interesting and instructive. Some of the views taken from life go to show that Japan, the heart of idolatrous Buddhism, is far advanced in science and in art. The temples were shown to be superbly built, the architecture being simply grand. The lecture was given in an eloquent manner, and old and young could not fail to be profited by it. At the close many fine specimens of Japanese workmanship were exhibited. The Kyo-worth League, under whose auspices the entertainment was given, is to be congratulated on the success of the undertaking.
