WEST YORK'S LOCAL MEMBER.

The York Tribune of last week had the following notice relative to West York's representative in Ontario Legislature:

In the course of a warm discussion in the private bills committee of the Legislature last week Mr. Biggar, Toronto's City Solicitor, was very much incensed because the city could not carry its point and he made a fierce attack on Dr. Gilmour claiming that the latter's popularity was so great and his following so large that he could carry whatever he chose in the committee and in the House, so that whenever the interests of the city and the county conflicted the former was always worsted by the latter. Although the lawyer probably did not think of it at the time, he was paying our representative a great compliment in speaking thus. West York sends a representative to guard her interests, not to let the powerful and greedy city of Toronto get the best of everything. Dr. Gilmour's constituents are glad that they chose so zealous, and at the same time so shrewd, a guardian of their interests.

The Provincial Government has introduced a bill providing for a plebiscite to enable the electors of Ontario to give their opinion upon the desirability of prohibiting the manufacture, importation and sale of all intoxicating liquors as a beverage. The bill will give the franchise to unmarried women and widows having the necessary property qualification, the same as for a municipal election. The vote will be taken at the municipal elections in January, and should the reeve and other members of the council be elected by acclamation the polls will be opened for the voting on the plebiscite. As the Attorney-General has stated that in his opinion a prohibitory measure could not be satisfactorily enforced unless it were backed up by the majority of men voters, it has been decided that the ballots for women be of a different color to those of the male electors. In this way it can be ascertained whether the majority, for or against the question, is made up of men or women. Should the friends of prohibition be supported at the polls by a good substantial majority, and should the courts decide that the power to prohibit rests with the province, there is little doubt that a prohibitory measure will follow the plebiscite.

A petition, over the signature of the reeve and the clerk of York township, is to be presented to the Legislative Assembly of Ontario now in session, praying that honorable body not to pass the by-law giving to the Metropolitan Railway Company the right to run their cars on Yonge Street, without first getting the consent of the local municipalities. To us, the contention of the petitioners from York township seems absurd. The County Council macadamizes Yonge Street, builds bridges, cleans the ditches, and until recently no one seemed to doubt that they had full control of the road.

If the individual consent of every municipality had to be obtained in the case now under consideration, one municipality might be able to do a grave injustice to many others. For instance, every township, town and village along Yonge Street from Lake Simcoe, with the exception of York, might be anxious to get connection with Toronto by an electric railway. It surely would not be reasonable to allow the residents of York township to block the way for those of the north. Such a proceeding would look extremely selfish and we trust will not be encouraged by the Legislature.

The Saturday Edition of the Toronto Daily Mail is a beautiful paper full of news of the world and special articles of interest to men, women and children. The Women's Kingdom Department, edited by "Kit," is the brightest in America. The Flaneur and Boys and Girls are both very popular departments. There are over $250 00 worth of engravings in each issue of The Saturday Mail. You should have it. Two Dollars a year. Address, The Mail, Toronto, Canada.

A Suggestion.

To the Editor of THE LIBERAL.

SIR,—Would it not be advisable for the managers of the Village Park to make some change for the better in the mode of access to the grand stand. The present one is not only a very unsightly but a very dangerous arrangement for getting either up or down. It is far too steep in the ascent for ladies and children, for the aged or the infirm, and when a number are descending as at the close of the exhibition, a rough push or a stumble by someone behind endangers the precipitation of several to the bottom. Those at the side are scarcely more safe for the hand-rails are of such massive proportions that no ordinary hand can grasp them. The foot of the stairway is also too near for the passing rigs of those who desire to drive around the ring. Would it not be a more proper and a more convenient place if the stairway was put at the west end of the stand as far back to the rear as possible. The ascent could then be made more gradual, the steps wider and longer and the balustrade of a size that would be more serviceable. Parties who desired to avail themselves of the privilege of rest and a better prospect could do so by going up behind those seated instead of in the face of a crowd ever ready to laugh at any little awkwardness that might occur. The descent of a large and hurrying crowd would also be much less dangerous and accomplished with much greater pleasure. The change would be a vast improvement on the present risky breakneck; it would not take much time to build it, the expense would not be great, more visitors would occupy the stand and it might save the village a lengthy doctor's bill for a broken limb or what would be worse the cost of defence in an action for damages.

CITIZEN.

Richmond Hill, May 17th, 1893

[We think that "Citizen's" suggestion is a good one, and that a change in the stairway is very desirable for reasons referred to above. Although it would involve greater expense, steps at each end of the stand would be still more convenient. If the Park committee think well of the suggestion they might have the change made before the Spring Fair on Wednesday next.—Ed.]

No less than three of his children have been taken from him by the terrible disease—Ruby, Guy and Vivian. "Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." A trial bottle will convince you. For sale by W. A. Sanderson.
