CONVENTION ARRANGEMENTS

For the coming Liberal convention each riding is entitled to send official delegates, in addition to the Liberal member or the Liberal candidate at the last Dominion election. But there is no occasion for restricting the number of alternate delegates, as they will all be entitled to attend the convention. It is desirable that meetings for the election of delegates be not delayed, and that every riding shall be well represented at the convention, and that where possible the Young Liberal clubs, or the young element of the party, shall send delegates. Make the convention a fair and full representation of Liberal thought in all its phases.

The following provisions have been made in regard to railway rates: Delegates, official or alternate, and all ladies accompanying them, will be entitled to a return ticket free on complying with the following regulations:—At the railway office where the ticket to Ottawa is purchased it will be necessary for each person to secure from the railway agent a "standard certificate," and to take it to Ottawa and present it to the secretary of the convention, who will thereupon endorse such certificate so as to entitle the holder thereof (on presentation of such endorsed "standard certificate" to the Ottawa railway agent) to a return ticket free. The ticket will be good for three days preceding the 20th of June, and for three days after the close of the convention, Sundays not included.

At Ottawa arrangements have been made for special and very moderate rates at the various hotels. Delegates wishing information or desiring to secure accommodation in advance can do so by communicating with Mr. W. A. Bate, honorary secretary of the Ottawa Reform association.

It is intimated in the speech from the Throne that the Government will take immediate steps to ascertain the extent to which a Provincial Legislature can prohibit the liquor traffic. This will be satisfactory to those who have been denying that the policy of Sir Oliver Mowat is to simply procrastinate as the Ottawa authorities have done. An intimation was made to the Legislature that a test case would be submitted, but a promise from the Throne is more likely to mean business. The Government is now officially committed to immediate action, but of course that does not mean that a judgment will be immediately obtained. The matter will go from court to court very much in the ordinary way, and ultimately the responsibility will be placed where the constitution designed it should be.—Mail.

125,000 people are said to have passed through the gates at the Chicago Exposition on Sunday last. The Canadian, English and several other departments were closed to the public.

An Open Letter to the President, Officers and Directors of the Richmond Hill Spring Fair Association

GENTLEMEN,—I address you as honorable men, filling a responsible position, and accountable to your fellow-men for the just and honest administration of the affairs of your association. As honorable men I cannot conceive how you can allow your names to be connected with a society that has become a disgrace to the locality. I do not know how long you have been in office, but I know that for years it has been well known that even a small measure of justice is not accorded to any outsiders who attempts to show in competition with one or two local men who are supposed to run the show.

To-day, at the solicitation of some of my friends, I was foolish enough to show some horses,—animals fit to show in the largest shows in the world, horses that cost a large sum of money, and the very finest of their class, horses absolutely sound, perfect in every respect, possessing every desirable quality, and positively without a fault,—for no man ever saw me send a poor animal, or an unsound one, into the show ring, and I have been an exhibitor at all the largest shows all my life, and owing to my never having spared trouble or expense in buying and breeding the best, I have usually been successful. To-day, however, I was asked by your judges to accept second prize on my horse Oliver W.—undoubtedly the finest specimen of a roadster stallion ever imported into Canada. This I refused and at once ordered my horses out of the ring, and in doing so I pursued the only course left me.

Oliver W. actually had no competition, for the two horses shown against him were unsound and should not have been considered for a moment. Even had they been sound they were not to be compared to Oliver W. in any point. I cannot imagine how these men who acted as judges are going to justify themselves to you or to the public. Can it be your wish to kill all competition? Do you desire to show your disapproval of any spirit of enterprise? Am I to understand that the time, the energy and the money I have expended in supplying myself with the best is not to be countenanced or encouraged but condemned? Do you consider your local horses good enough, and are you going to put a fence around your town. If this is your wish, then you have succeeded, and I assure you I shall not again trouble you with my presence, or that of any of my stock. I almost sent up to your show to-day a mare and foal. The mare has had two foals that have sold for $10,000 each, and she has a filly by her side I have refused $1,000 for though only two weeks old. It is fortunate I did not send her up for you don't want that class, and your judges would probably have told me so by offering me a second or a third prize.

Yours respectfully,
H. G. CHARLESWORTH,
The Cedars Stables.

THE Cedars Stallions SEASON 1893.

THE Game Race Horse, OLIVER W. (4135) record 2.24, on a half-mile track to an old-fashioned sulky in a race; can trot a mile track to a bicycle sulky in 2.18 or better. He stands 16 hands and 1 inch high, and is a perfect model of beauty, strength and soundness. His gait is perfect with lots of knee action, and full of fire and style. He requires no boots or appliances. He is a natural trotter, a trotter by performance, a trotter by inheritance, and a sire of trotters.

He is by Wagner's Bashaw (2004) with a record of 2.25½, and sire of J. H. McCormack, 2.26; Oliver W., 2.24; Ashby, 2.36; Uncle Josh, 2.30, and 23 others close to 30; by Bashaw (50), sire of Josephus, 2.19; Fred Douglass, 2.20; Rose of Washington, 2.21, and 14 others in the list. He has 27 daughters that have produced 29 trotters and 3 pacers, and 20 sons who have produced 44 trotters and 2 pacers.

OLIVER W. is the kind of sire in demand to-day. He will get size, style, substance, and speed, and when he does not sire a trotter he will sire a big, handsome, stylish roadster that is always in demand, but being one of a line of trotters, he will not fail to sire extreme speed when mated with good mares. The day of pedigree trotters that cannot trot is past, and poor individuals with a pedigree on paper are no longer wanted.

OLIVER W. is a race horse and a campaigner. He has won heaps of money after his stud season was over, and yet withal he stands to-day without a pimple or a puff. He has a constitution of iron and a nerve of steel.

He will commence his stud season on Monday, the 1st of May, and will be at Brillinger's hotel, Richmond Hill, from 10 until 1 o'clock; Maple, 2 to 3 o'clock; Edgely, about 4 o'clock; Woodbridge, Harris' hotel, all night. Terms and particulars can be had from groom in charge.
