

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

The Liberal.

RICHMOND HILL, Thursday, June 8, '93

We believe with the Globe that Rev. Dr. Douglas made a mistake when he asserted that the Methodist Church is politically ostracized in Canada. The rev. gentleman, who is probably the greatest orator in the conference, expressed his opinion at Owen Sound a few days ago, that his people were excluded from both the Dominion and Ontario Governments, but directed his remarks principally against the latter. "300,000 Catholics," said he, "were guaranteed representation in the Cabinet through Mr. Fraser, while 600,000 or 700,000 Methodists found no representation there." If the venerable minister could show that a more competent man than Mr. Fraser could be chosen for the position which the latter holds, he would have a charge against Sir Oliver Mowat. But this he does not claim. We believe that every member of the Provincial Government is a specialist in his particular department, and in ability Mr. Fraser undoubtedly stands next to the Premier. Dr. Douglas contends that the Roman Catholics have a representative, therefore the Methodists should be similarly treated. It is to be regretted that such a view should be taken by such a prominent spokesman of the great Methodist body. If Roman Catholics, Presbyterians or any other denominations have been given representation from a sectarian standpoint, the doctrine is mischievous, and Methodists should scorn to enter the lists. We believe, however, that such is not the case, but that every member of the Mowat Administration is eminently qualified for the department which he controls. We cannot believe that being a Methodist is a hindrance to advancement in this province.

Sir Charles Russell, the present Liberal attorney-general of the United Kingdom, whose powerful advocacy of the British and Canadian cause before the Behring Sea arbitration court is exciting the admiration of the world, is an Irishman, a Roman Catholic and a Home Ruler—one of the class whom the Tory leaders are so fond of describing as "disloyal" and unfit for self-government.

It was remarked by several who attended the Court of Revision on Friday last, that although the meetings of the Village Council are supposed to be public, the spectators knew very little more when they came away from the hall than when they went. The members of the Council may not be aware of it, nevertheless it is a fact that they do a good deal of their business in a voice little louder than a whisper.

The third page of the Toronto Daily Mail is noted for "Want" advertisements. If you want a situation, a mechanic, a business, machinery, lodging, if you have lost or found anything, or if you want to find out where anyone is, advertise in the Toronto Daily Mail, and read the advertisements on the third page of that paper. The charge is two cents a word each insertion, or ten cents a word for six insertions. Address The Mail, Toronto, Canada.

Reply to Mr. Charlesworth.

To the Editor of THE LIBERAL.

DEAR SIR,—Kindly allow me space to reply, on behalf of the Officers and Directors of the Richmond Hill & Yonge Street Agricultural Society, to an open letter addressed to them in last week's LIBERAL, by Mr. H. G. Charlesworth, of "The Cedars" Stables, Eglinton. The Society regrets exceedingly that Mr. C. or any other exhibitor left the fair grounds on the 24th of May feeling that they had not been fairly treated, but the Directors claim that everything was done on their part to endeavor to satisfy all competitors. As to whether Mr. C.'s roadster stallion, Oliver W., was entitled to more than second prize the Directors do not feel called upon to say. As individual members they may pass their private opinion, but as a body they assume no responsibility in the matter. The directors appointed as judges for the roadster class Lieut.-Col. Wayling, of Sharon, and Major Elliott, of Markham, and in doing so felt they had chosen competent and honorable men. Had Mr. C. entered a protest in accordance with the rules of the society the directors then would have been in a position to investigate, but he did not choose to place the decision in their hands. They, therefore, had to accept the awards of the judges. Allow me here to correct a false impression. It is thought by some people that Oliver W. did not get first prize from the fact that he is over 16 hands high. This is incorrect. Although Mr. C. advertises him in his bills to be 16 hands 1 inch, he told the judges he was only 16 hands, and they accepted his word for it, and judged the horses, as they say, on their merits.

Mr. C. goes out of his way to insult the whole body of directors when he says that "for years it has been well known that even a small measure of justice is not accorded to any outsiders who attempt to show in competition with one or two local men who are supposed to run the show." Every director must feel the insult hurled at him by the writer. Who are the "outsiders," pray? The majority of the directors are selected from among the most reliable men in the townships of Vaughan, Markham and Whitechurch, and their desire is to see impartiality, if possible. No director will conscientiously say that an attempt is ever made by any one or two local men to "run" the show.

Again Mr. C. says that his Oliver W. is "undoubtedly the finest specimen of a roadster stallion ever imported into Canada." To this the directors also decline to pass an opinion, although a letter over Mr. C.'s signature in the Mail some time ago shows that Oliver W. was awarded only fifth place at the stallion show in Toronto this spring. Of course Mr. C. took the opportunity to heap abuse upon the judge who dared to say that Oliver W. was not the best horse in Canada, and upon the Agricultural and Arts Association, but this enterprising horseman may think it a legitimate way of advertising his stock.

As to Mr. C.'s bombast about the mare which once had two colts that he says sold for $10,000 each and the filly which he says he refused $1,000 for when only two weeks old, and which he did not bring to the Fair, we regard as childish talk. The fact is Mr. C. dreams of fabulous prices, and is known far and wide as a chronic grumbler.

In conclusion allow me to say that of the thirty-two judges appointed, all but three (which include two in writing and drawing and one in ladies' work) were selected from a distance. If any of that number err in their judgment it is to be regretted, but without proof being brought to the notice of the directors in the regular way, it certainly would show a spirit of ingratitude to cast reflections upon their probity.

Thanking you for space, I remain,
Yours respectfully,
H. A. NICHOLLS,
Sec'y R. H. & Y. S. Ag. Society.

THE Cedars Stallions
SEASON 1893.

THE Game Race Horse, OLIVER W. (4135) record 2.24, on a half-mile track to an old-fashioned sulky in a race; can trot a mile track to a bicycle sulky in 2.18 or better. He stands 16 hands and 1 inch high, and is a perfect model of beauty, strength and soundness. His gait is perfect with lots of knee action, and full of fire and style. He requires no boots or appliances. He is a natural trotter, a trotter by performance, a trotter by inheritance, and a sire of trotters.

He is by Wagner's Bashaw (2004) with a record of 2.25, and sire of J. H. McCormack, 2.26; Oliver W., 2.24; Ashby, 2.36; Uncle Josh, 2.30, and 23 others close to 30; by Bashaw (50), sire of Josephus, 2.19; Fred Douglass, 2.20; Rose of Washington, 2.21, and 14 others in the list. He has 27 daughters that have produced 29 trotters and 3 pacers, and 20 sons who have produced 44 trotters and 2 pacers.

OLIVER W. is the kind of sire in demand to-day. He will get size, style, substance, and speed, and when he does not sire a trotter he will sire a big, handsome, stylish roadster that is always in demand, but being one of a line of trotters, he will not fail to sire extreme speed when mated with good mares. The day of pedigreed trotters that cannot trot is past, and poor individuals with a pedigree on paper are no longer wanted.

OLIVER W. is a race horse and a campaigner. He has won heaps of money after his stud season was over, and yet withal he stands to-day without a pimple or a puff. He has a constitution of iron and a nerve of steel.

He will commence his stud season on Monday, the 1st of May, and will be at Billinger's hotel, Richmond Hill, from 10 until 1 o'clock; Maple, 2 to 3 o'clock; Edgely, about 4 o'clock; Woodbridge, Harris' hotel, all night. Terms and particulars can be had from groom in charge.
