A Scotch Sermon.

Pastor Horne of Springburn Baptist Church, Glasgow, lately delivered a sermon entirely in broad Scotch, which has been published in pamphlet form under the title of "Something tae keep min' o'." The text is from the Psalms (Hately Waddeli's version): "Fling a' your care on the Lord." The following is a brief extract:

"Yonner's a wee toddlin' wean that fa's an' clures itsel" fifty times in a day, but ilka time onything happens tae it it rins skirlin' tae its mammy, wha taks it up on her knee an' kisses the sair bit au' dichts the tears awa', only pleased tae hae another chance o' cuddlin' the wee angel. Tae maist o' us it's a marvel hoo a mither can be fashed wi' sic trifles, but it's nae marvel tae the mither hersel' for she's deid in love wi' the wean—an' love au' labor, ye ken, aye gang thegither. Noo, there's a place in the Bible whant the Maister is made tae appear as a mither comfortin' her bairn (Isa. lxvi., 13), an' if oor warldly nurse looks sae cannily an' coutbily after her weans, will no the Lord tak' as muckle-aye, even mair -interest in His bairns? Sae tell him a'aboot yer dooncomes, an' o' this I'm gey sure, that He'll listen the ye wi' hairty gudewill. Come, then, ma freen, an' fling a' yer cares on Him for the incomin' year! Mak' him skipper o' yer boat, an' haun ower tae Him a' the responsibility o' steerin' ye richt-naethin' pleases Him better! Yer blunders an' yer bruises, yer sairs an' yer cares, au' a' sic like things thatthrang yer hairt an' min', haun ower tae Him this verra day I This will keep yer hairt an' min' right an' bright for a' time

Au, ma freens, we wad add, dinna forget the main thingthe siller. A guid man leaves age a pickle siller tae his bairus. An' the best way tae leave it is in the shape o' a policy in the Manufacturers' Life.
