The Liberal.

RICHMOND HILL, Thursday, Sept. 21, '93

LET THEM SPEAK.

Many things go to prove that the Conservatives of Canada are not the happy family they were represented to be a few years ago. That there are dissensions within their ranks no better proof is required than the lack of harmony at the Convention of Young Conservatives of the Dominion, held in Toronto two days of last week. All the city dailies, even the organs of the Government, stated that there was trouble in the camp, although the Empire endeavored to show that the "Kicking" was confined to a few. True the majority of the delegates present carried a resolution placing themselves on record endorsing the past and future policy of the Conservative party, nevertheless there was a section who demanded a reduction in the tariff, and others who wished to advise the Government in the manner of making public appointments. The two following resolutions were voted down:—

Submitted by Mr. J. R. L. Starr—
"Whereas it is a sanctioned custom among the representatives in our various representative bodies to resign their trust to accept some official position. Resolved that this Convention of Young Conservatives desires to record its strong disapprobation of such custom and to express the opinion that all political offices should be filled on the ground of competency, and not as a reward for political service."
Submitted by Mr. E. F. H. Cross:—
"That this convention of representatives of the Liberal Conservative party of the Dominion of Canada desires to place on record its conviction that the interests of this country would be materially advanced by a careful revision of the present tariff, by a reduction in the duties on all the essentials of life and implements of industry."

After Sir John Thompson's utterances only a day or two before it is singular that the latter resolution did not pass through unchallenged. On Tuesday the Premier said at Montreal (as reported in the Empire), that "every effort would be made to provide a market for our own people," and that "a complete and careful revision of the tariff is the policy of my government." In fact Sir John assured the assemblage that "the revision would be made to the profit of manufacturer, farmer, and miner." If the Premier himself speaks so freely about his future policy, surely it is humiliating to the Young Conservatives to be muzzled when they meet among themselves in convention.

FREE BUSES.

Previous to the 26th of August the Toronto World stated that that date would decide as to whether the citizens of Toronto were in favor of a street car Sunday service or not. Well, the vote was taken, and the count went to show that the Sunday street car advocates were in the minority. Defeated on the street car question, The World is now putting all its energy into the advocacy of a bus line on the Sabbath.

Mr. Leeds Richardson seems to have entirely recovered from the effects of his trip to the World's Fair. When he returned he was considerably under the weather, but by great care he has regained his former health.
Mr. and Mrs. R. Kelly and child left on Tuesday for their home in North Dakota.
Mrs. Pervis and son, of Parry Sound are visiting at the Parsonage.
Miss M. Wade, of Wingham, is visiting at Mr. J. Oliver's.
Dr. Noble, of Harvey, Illinois, accompanied by a friend is home on a short visit.

orphans of Toronto.

The World advises the bus men to run their rigs and collect fare on Sunday the same as on any other day of the week. Whether they will consider this new law-giver a good authority from a legal standpoint remains to be seen. One thing is certain, if the law will not allow men to collect fare on Sundays, the running of free busses will be of short duration.

The Recorder of last week said there was much satisfaction at Richmond Hill over the news that J. & W. Russell had taken a $25 prize at the World's Fair, with some of his shorthorns. Now $25 might seem a large sum for the residents of Deer Park to scoop in all at one time, but we must inform our southern friends that Russell Bros. have been awarded over $1,000 in prizes at Chicago. As will be seen by a letter on another page in to-day's issue they received one prize amounting to $600. Surely The Recorder must have been thinking about that "one-horse milk wagon" which it was advertising some time ago.

The World has almost gone mad on Sunday street cars and busses. Last Saturday it hurled an insult at the Presbyterian Church for finding that Prof. Campbell was preaching unsound doctrine. The World concludes an article, headed "An Exclusive Church," with the following sentence; "Neither men who hold opinions of their own nor men who are bad enough to ride in street cars on Sunday are fit for members of the Presbyterian Church."

The third page of the Toronto Daily Mail is noted for "Want" advertisements. If you want a situation, a mechanic, a business, machinery, lodging, if you have lost or found anything, or if you want to find out where anyone is, advertise in the Toronto Daily Mail, and read the advertisements on the third page of that paper. The charge is two cents a word each insertion, or ten cents a word for six insertions. Address The Mail, Toronto, Canada.

A Gentle Admonition

To the Editor of THE LIBERAL.

SIR,—Every Sunday evening a large number of young men, sometimes as high as twenty, congregate on the sidewalk at Chapman's Corner, opposite the Methodist church. As they are well behaved I am sure they do not wish to be a nuisance to passers-by, therefore the act of standing and gazing at people must be thoughtlessness on their part. If they would take time to think they would no doubt come to the conclusion that to pass between two rows of young "mashers" is not a very pleasant ordeal for women on their way to church. I am satisfied that if one of the gang will keep aloof from his comrades next Sunday night and watch the remainder of the company he will be reminded of the familiar quotation penned by Scotland's Bobby Burns:

"O wad some power 'he giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us."

Yours truly
OBSERVER.

After a vacation of nearly three months the Public School in this section has reopened. The new school-house is a handsome structure, and teachers and pupils may expect to be much more comfortable in it than in the old one.

At the meeting of the U. E. society in the Methodist church on Monday evening Mr. J. Crooks read an interesting account of the Convention held at Montreal this summer.

Mr. Leeds Richardson seems to have entirely recovered from the effects of his trip to the World's Fair. When he returned he was considerably under the weather, but by great care he has regained his former health.
