Wedding Bells.

One of those pleasant events which occasionally brighten our quiet village occurred at the residence of Mr. R. E. Law on the evening of the 23rd inst. A few friends assembled to celebrate the marriage of his daughter, Priscilla E. to Mr. W. E. Vivian, of Brantford. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream cashmere and lace and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Page, of Brantford, and Miss Rose Law, with the tiny maid of honor, Miss Reine Wright, were tastefully dressed, the two former in cream de Laine with blue ribbons, and little Reine in a delicate shade of primrose. The groom was attended by Mr. Elmer E. Law, brother of the bride. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. J. Vickery, assisted by Rev. W. Dean. The bride received many beautiful and appropriate presents. The happy couple left at a late hour for Toronto, on their way to Fontenac, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, and from thence to their own home in Brantford. The Village Band serenaded the newly-married pair, and played some very fine selections in excellent style.

Died in California.

The Stockton Daily Independent of the 16th inst. gives a lengthy account of the terrible accident by which William Miller, son of Mr. Andrew Miller, of Thornhill, met with sudden death, as recorded in last week's LIBERAL. Deceased was head miller in the Crown flouring mills, of which Mr. J. M. Welsh is manager. He was standing on a ladder which was inclined over some heavy gearing. The ladder slipped towards the shaft which turned the big cog wheels. Before he could recover his balance the sleeve of Miller's coat became entangled in the wheels. He tried to extricate himself without avail. In another moment his body was drawn into the gearing. His left side was jammed between one of the wheels and an upright post, crushing him terribly. He was thrown to the floor, the blood flowing from a gaping wound in his side. The wounded man was placed on a couch of flour sacks and a doctor summoned, when it was found he had only a few moments to live. He was unconscious, and 22 minutes after the accident death ensued. The Crown mill was immediately closed, the employees were dismissed for the day, and the flags on the Sperry and Union mills were hung at half mast. Funeral services were held at the residence of his uncle, after which the remains were brought to Thornhill, for burial in this village. The Independent closes the account of the sad affair as follows:—

"Miller was very popular both with the employes of the mill and with his numerous acquaintances about the city. He has been connected with the mill for ten years, the greater portion of the time in the capacity of head miller. He was born in Thornhill, Ontario, Canada, where his father, mother and a brother still reside. Another brother, George Miller, is employed in the office of the mill. Miller was a nephew of Mr. Welsh, and that gentleman is prostrated over his death. He had always borne a reputation for sterling industry and honesty. Among the business men his standing was excellent. His death has cast a gloom over the entire city. He was a man of considerable means and was interested in North Stockton properties."

They Want Names.

Frank S. Taggart & Co., 89 King St. west, Toronto, Ontario, desire the names and addresses of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art, and to secure them they offer to send free "Cupid Guides the Boat," a superbly executed water color picture, size 10x13 inches, suitable for framing, and sixteen other pictures about the same size, in colors, to any one sending them at once the names and addresses of ten persons (admirers of fine pictures) together with five three-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price is $1.00, but they can all be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamps promptly.

The general opinion is that economy should begin at somebody else's home. Before criticizing the extravagances of others, why not take the mote out of your own eyes by practising what you preach? Begin your money-saving career by shopping at Atkinson & Switzer's.

The Concert.

Notwithstanding the wet weather and the bad state of the roads a very large crowd gathered in the Agricultural Hall in the evening of the 24th of May to listen to the entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Agricultural Society. Young men, accompanied by their fair partners, came in from all surrounding neighborhoods, which swelled the audience to such an extent that about $180 was taken at the doors. The result went to prove that a first-class programme, well advertised, is sure to draw a good crowd. The society have held many good concerts, but it is well within the mark to say that the last far eclipsed any of its predecessors. It is only fair to acknowledge that Miss Agnes Knox was the principal drawing card, but this brilliant artiste was ably supported by every other performer who took part in the programme. After a few opening remarks by the chairman, Mr. W. Trench, and an overture by the Band, Miss Maggie Huston gave her first vocal solo. This young lady delighted her hearers by singing, in excellent style, a number of very pretty songs. She has a sweet voice, a fine appearance, and well merited the encores which she received. The cornet solos by Miss Ethel Querrie were novel in an entertainment here. They were well executed and well received, and Miss Querrie was warmly congratulated on her success as a cornetist. As a comic singer, Mr. Bert Harvey filled the bill to the satisfaction of all. His pieces were quite unobjectionable, and were humorous enough to bring forth an encore every time he appeared. Miss Agnes Knox, whose fame as a vocalist proceeded her here, pleased everybody, and her hearers were thoroughly satisfied that all that had been said in her favor was fully justified. Her voice was clear and thoroughly cultivated, her manner was charming, and her graceful gestures were marvellously executed. In her music pieces she keeps the audience in the happiest mood, but her heavier selections her whole soul seems to be thrown into the pleasant task. Every selection which she rendered on Thursday evening was a gem, and every expression which she uttered was appreciated to the full. Miss A. T. McGraw performed in a most satisfactory manner the function of accompanist on the piano, for the vocalists. The very excellent programme closed with the National Anthem.
