A Neat Tumble.

Mr. J. W. Elliott must have been born under a lucky star or he could scarcely have escaped serious injury from an accident on Tuesday. While driving down a hill in the 2nd concession of Vaughau, his popy stumbled over a stone and fell, when the horse, cart and occupant became badly mixed together. Mr. Elliott was thrown on the pony's neck, but after a time emerged from the entauglement in the barness little the worse. An eye witness says the escape was almost miraculous. The cart and harness are undergoing repairs.

The Delineator.

The September number of this popular magazine will be a good one. The display of styles is attractive and unusually large. A most interesting contribution is the pea for and against according the Suffrage to Women, by such well-known writers as L. G. Runkle and Edith' Thomas. There is also a paper on Public School Teaching as an employment for women. The first article of a series on the Kindergarten appears Try "Concrete House" Baking Powder, in this number, and should prove of service to both public and private teachers. The Talks on the Relations between Mother and Daughter are continued, and in the papers on Health there is much good advice on the proper exercise of both body and brain. There is a suggestive description of a Cotton Wedding, and the usual illustrated papers
