RICHMOND HILL, Thursday, Aug. 23, '94

A BELLICOSE COLONEL.

In a recent issue of the Empire, Mr. Charles Durand, of Toronto, who took an active part in the rebellion of 1837, replies to certain Grit papers which he says, denounced Col. G. T. Denison for the sentiments uttered in the latter's speech in England a short time ago.

The intelligent and thoughtful people of this country will see very little in Col. Denison's speech to commend. The Col., who likes to boast of his military proclivities, told the English people that "Americans hated England, and nothing prevented them seeking a war with the mother country but their fear of the British navy and 5,000,000 of Canadians."

Such expressions as the above may bring forth considerable applause and win a little transient glory for the speaker, but those who have associated with the American people, know that such a speech is nothing short of slander. No one doubts that there are firebrands in the United States, as in other countries, but it is folly to accuse the great body of them with a desire to stir up hostilities. It is men like Col. Denison who endeavor to create an ill-feeling between two kindred peoples, merely for the sake of a little notoriety, by attempting to make people believe they are soldiers and patriots. In time of actual war the intelligent public would have more confidence in men who do not go out of their way to proclaim that they belong to some illustrious military family.

THE WORLD IS SUSPICIOUS.

Tory politicians are ever ready to boast of their unbounded loyalty to Great Britain, and they delight in accusing the Grits of pandering to the United States. They profess to be anxious to cultivate the most friendly relations with our southern neighbors, but their writings and utterances are often inconsistent with their professions.

It is only reasonable to suppose that when the United States pass a law they have in view the bettering of their own people without thinking as to how it will affect other nations. The Toronto World, however, does not give the Americans credit for even this much. That paper seems to think that Uncle Sam's first object is to thrust a blow at Canada, even if that blow recoils on himself. Only a few days ago the World in referring to the U. S. tariff said:

"Free coal and free ore will be a good thing for Canada, and we will not object if our neighbours see fit to pass it. But up to date they have been very jealous of passing any law that would benefit themselves $10 if they thought we'd make $1 out of it."

Not a bit of it, brother World. When the United States see a ten dollar bill within their grasp they are not narrow enough, or mean enough, to lose it even if Canada gets a dollar or two out of the transaction.

A REMINDER.

The Advocate, a paper published in Toronto, in the interests of the liquor trade of this province, gives the following as a warning to hotel keepers to be on their guard against those whose duty it is to see that the laws are enforced:

"The license inspectors and their hired men have, under orders from head quarters, inaugurated a most energetic campaign looking to securing convictions for infractions of the license law. . . . The cause is said to be the necessity of replenishing the Provincial treasury."

Had the first part of the paragraph been given alone, it would be only charitable to suppose that the Advocate was desirous of giving its friends a gentle warning to be on their guard against temptations to violate the law. But when taken in conjunction with the latter part it is evident that it is intended as a mean insinuation against the Government and the license department.

It is not often that license inspectors are accused of being too strict towards hotel keepers. They are more frequently accused of leniency. It is their duty to see that license holders comply with the provisions of the law, and if they do not exert themselves along this line they are negligent in the discharge of their duty.

If the Advocate wishes to act the part of a friend to the liquor dealers it should advise them to closely observe the provisions of the license law, and not endeavor to make them believe that they are hounded by Government inspectors merely for the sake of collecting a revenue. If all hotel-keepers would come to an understanding, and strictly adhere to the present law, there would be far less of an agitation for prohibition.

To the Editor of THE LIBERAL:

Dear Sir,—Over the signature of "Fair Play," in the Markham Sun of last week, I noticed the following paragraphs:

"July 28th—Markham played Richmond Hill 3 to 2 and again demonstrated to the public that they could play all around their opponents, even if they could not score.

Aug. 13th—Markham again played Richmond Hill and although four of their first twelve were off and Richmond Hill had their strongest team on they succeeded in playing a draw, 2 to 2."

Now as to the match at Markham any person who was there knows that Markham came a long way from "playing all around their opponents" as the game was evenly contested throughout and in the first part of the second game Richmond Hill kept the ball close pressed on their opponent's flags.

As to the match at Richmond Hill, Markham was well satisfied to have it a draw and not in the least anxious to play longer and decide the game one way or another. The umpire also was favorable to Markham and but for him the score would have been different.

I think, Mr. Editor, that this explanation is necessary in order that people who did not attend the games may not be misled by Fair Play's paragraphs.

Yours truly, SPECTATOR.
