No Bones Broken.
 Last Monday afternoon as Mrs. D. Stong, of Headford, and a friend were driving homeward through the village, their pony stumbled and fell just below the Manse, when both the occupants of the gig were pitched forward in the street. Both were pretty well shaken up, but neither were seriously injured. After some difficulty the horse was got on his feet again, and found to be none the worse for his carelessness. The only visible injury was a broken dashboard.

Small checks are one of the leading styles in spring and summer goods, and the beauty is that a small check pays the bill at Atkinson & Switzer's.

The pastors were paid their salaries in full. The following resolutions were passed unanimously: Moved by Mr. Wm. Harrison, of Richmond Hill, seconded by Messrs. Gee, of Victoria Square; Barker, of Headford; and Rumble, of Patterson, that we, as members of this Quarterly Board, desire to express our entire satisfaction with the ministerial labors of our brother, the Rev. Wesley Dean, during the two years he has been the junior pastor of this circuit, and that we cordially recommend him as a faithful worker in the Master's vineyard, and suitable for any field of labor Providence and the Stationing committee may in their wisdom select for him, when he shall remove from among us. To this resolution of appreciation we request the signatures of our Superintendent and Recording Steward. Also that this resolution be sent to the offices of THE LIBERAL and Christian Guardian.

Langstaff.

The concert held in the school room on Friday, May 3rd (Arbor Day), was a decided success. The room was filled to its utmost capacity, and the programme, consisting of singing, readings, recitations, &c., was well appreciated by all. The school children did remarkably well, and gave their selections in a manner worthy of commendation. Miss Evans, of Carrville, sang "The Water Mill," receiving an encore, and a duet by Miss Mellish and Miss Evans was well received. Miss Hart, of Buttonville, gave a reading, "The Close of the Mortgage," which won great applause, and in "Hunting the Mouse" she greatly amused the audience, and showed herself to be an expressive reader. Thornhill brass band was present, and played a number of selections, meriting great praise, considering the short time since it was organized. If the boys progress in the future as they have in the past, Thornhill will soon have a band rivaling her sister villages. At the close a motion was unanimously carried thanking Miss Langstaff, who had charge of the musical part taken by the children, Miss Evans, Miss Mellish, Miss Hart, the band, and all who undertook to make the entertainment a success. Mr. D. Boyle occupied the chair, and maintained order with little difficulty, though some young men who remained outside showed their lack of gentlemanliness by making considerable noise and reminded one of the fable of "The Dog in the Manger." The proceeds amounted to $10, and will be used in buying games for the school.—Cox.

Gone to Her Reward.

Mary Graham, beloved wife of Mr. Wm. Atkinson, a notice of whose death appeared in last week's LIBERAL, was born in one of the northerly counties of Ireland, on the 12th of August, 1827. She spent a number of years in Scotland, but came to Canada early in life, and was married to the husband who survives her, on the 5th of April, 1853. Eleven years afterwards, in the year 1864, they opened a general store in this place, and for nearly 30 years carried on one of the most successful businesses north of Toronto. Besides assisting in the store, deceased opened a millinery department, which, with the other business, was successfully carried on until a little over two years ago, when she reluctantly retired from active life, owing to failing health. Energetic and farseeing in her husband's business, she looked well to her home, and the church had in her one of its most ardent and cheerful workers. She united with the Methodist church at the age of 24 years, and from that time until she was called to her lofty employment above, her christian life was thoroughly consistent and exemplary. Her attendance at prayer meeting, class meeting, and other means of grace, was punctual, and she seldom failed in taking part in the meetings attended. In temperance work she was always well to the front, being a Royal Templar at the time of her death. Her many friends and relatives had hoped that by a cessation from the activities of this world she might be spared to enjoy a long quiet sunset with her honored partner, but such is the uncertainty of life, their hopes were shattered, and she was called to meet her God whom she had long learned to trust, after a severe illness of two weeks.

The funeral of this christian woman took place from her late residence to the village cemetery on the afternoon of Friday, the 3rd of May. Naturally, with one so widely known, and so highly respected, the number was very large that gathered to show the last tribute of regard to the departed, as well as to tender their heartfelt sympathy to the sorrowing relatives who are left to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and loving mother. On the casket were placed many tributes of love. One was a pillow of flowers, "Mother"; another an anchor, with the appropriate motto, "I Trust," from Mr. Atkinson, and another, a cross, bearing the word "Sister." Besides the above there were floral offerings from members of the W. C. T. U., the Epworth League, and other friends, and a stand of out flowers from the Women's Missionary Society, tied with a white satin ribbon lettered in gilt, "W. M. S." The members of the latter society also attended the funeral in a body. The pall-bearers were Revs. Messrs. J. Hunt, J. Simpson, J. H. Starr, P. Addison, J. Pickering and J. C. Speer, all former pastors of this circuit. After the burial a memorial service was held in the Methodist church, when the above named ministers, together with Revs. Messrs. J. Vickery and J. H. Oliver, gave sincere expressions of tribute to the life-work of the departed sister. Every minister was pleased to refer to the warm welcome they had always received at the home of the deceased, and all bore testimony to her true christian character, the influence of her beautiful life, and her determination always to turn her back to temptation. Before closing the services, Rev. Mr. Dean read a most touching letter received from Rev. W. G. Howson, relative to the noble woman. The bereaved husband and immediate relatives have the sincere sympathy of their large circle of friends in this the hour of shadows.
