The Depth of Satan. In this book, published by J. L. Hastings, 47 Cornhill, Boston, the writer begins by exposing the popular delusions as to satan and his mode of operating, then traces the history of spirit manifestations, and ascribes these manifestations to the power of the arch-deceiver of mankind. The author combats the view of spiritualists that they hold converse with departed friends through mediums, and shows that, instead of conversing with friends, mediums are conversing with demons, who are the emissaries of satan. Then reasons are given why in the present time there are so many spirit manifestations. We entirely concur with the ingenious author in those readers. It will be a good thing if our readers purchase copies of this excellent pamphlet and read it thoughtfully, or give it to such as, in their opinion, may need such a corrective to delusions only too general.

The Concert. There was not a weak point in the programme rendered at the concert in connection with the Agricultural Society on the evening of the 24th of May. Every part was well taken, although it might be said that, owing to the very large crowd in the hall, with some interruptions in the rear of the building, part of the audience were unable to hear as well as they desired. Few of those present willfully disturbed the concert, but a little talking here and there made it difficult for some of the performers to throw their voice to all parts of the hall. Fully 1000 people were present. Miss Annie Louise White was very pleasing as an elocutionist, and was repeatedly encored. Mr. Geo. Fox proved himself a magnificent player on the violin, and was loudly applauded, especially when he favored the audience with familiar airs such as Annie Laurie. Mr. J. M. Cameron gave a number of good songs and recitations in a manner which showed his excellent ability, although part of the audience were probably disappointed when he did not appear in fantastic costume. Mr. Henry Simpson as a ventriloquist and humorist pleased everybody. The clever sayings between "Pat and Joe" were very amusing, and every person in the hall was anxious to hear every word of the discussion with the departed spirits. Miss McKay acted with efficiency as piano accompanist during the evening. The choir was filled by Mr. W. Trench, president of the Society.

Most of the farmers around here are busily engaged in tilling the soil and planting their potatoes; one farmer intends planting 25 acres.

Since I last wrote two accidents happened north of our town, which might have proved serious. On Saturday evening Mr. J. Shunk, while returning from Creamery Town, drove off the end of the bridge, breaking one of the shafts clean off and splitting the other. Fortunately Mr. Shunk was not thrown out. The other occurred on Sunday evening, when a pedestrian and a cyclist collided, and the propeller of the wheel very unceremoniously took the ground, but after a few hot words and a feeble attempt at pugilism, each wended his way homeward feeling little the worse for their abrupt meeting.

The latest sight our town has witnessed was the race between two milk waggons, which lasted for over a mile, but the "overtaker" just simply "got" there.

One of our ladies has purchased a new piano, and we understand that a party of friends came down from Maple one evening last week and spent a few pleasant hours in music and song.

Miss Milly Shunk spent Tuesday last with Miss E. Campbell, of this place.

Mr. Wm. Oster, of Toronto Junction, paid a visit to our town.

Mr. E. Rankin spent Sunday at home. Miss Gardner, of Blia, spent Sunday in this village.

Messrs. W. Clark and W. Oster were the guests of Hy. Keifer on Sunday evening last.

Our insurance agent passed through the town on Tuesday last on his way to Kinghorn.

Some of our boys expect to attend the picnic at Headford on Saturday next.

A LADY CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A very important arrest was made last week at Maple. A lady passing the Richardson House noticed a fifty cent piece lying on the sidewalk. She stooped to pick it up, but seeing it was a counterfeit, she did not touch it. She had, however, only gone a few yards, when the County Constable walked up and arrested her for passing bad money.
