NEVER WAS A PROTECTIONIST.

Mr. Goldwin Smith has a letter in Monday's Globe dealing with the statement that in 1878 he appeared on a political platform in favor of a protectionist tariff. Mr. Smith, in denying the statement, says it has often been repeated in order to serve the purposes of malice. He gave an independent support to Sir John Macdonald in 1878, not as a protectionist, as he had received from Sir John's own lips the assurance that the latter's policy was not protection, but as he had publicly declared, readjustment. Mr. Smith further states: "My opinions are those of a moderate free trader. I embrace free trade as a principle, not only on economical grounds, but because it tends to allay, by friendly intercourse, these international enmities on which narrow and indignant natures fatten, sometimes to the extent of a mania destructive of their regard for social decency as well as of their common sense."

FARMING.

Subscribers to the Canadian Live Stock Journal will be pleased to re- fund the money. Price 25c. a bottle. ceive their journal this month in a new form. The journal has come out under the name, Farming, which | is certainly appropriate, as the magazine appears to be devoted to farming in all its branches. It is being published at the same place as its predecessor, 20 Bay street, Toronto, with Mr. G. W. Green as editor-in-chief. The first number is divided into the the following departments:-Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry, The Apiary, Horticulture, The Farm, The Dairy, and Recent Investigations. And besides the above there is a lot of useful information on various subjects which cannot be classed under any of the above heads. The journal is nicely illustrated, and is so handy in shape that no doubt many will preserve the copies and have each volume bound for future reference.

Bro. J. Milne, Grand Organizer of the A. O. U. W., paid Newton Brook Lodge, No. 232, an official visit on the 18th inst., and expressed his pleasure in finding our brethren working so harmoniously for the good of the order. Although our lodge has not increased very much lately, yet there is every encouragement that more will soon be added to our number.

Bro. Milne is one of the most capable Grand Lodge officials, and the able manner in which he explained the merits of the order to the brethren assembled conwinced all that he is an efficient officer, thoroughly versed in the subject of insurance, whether it be "assessment system," or of "old line" nature.

We shall look forward with pleasure to his next visit when our lodge will hold an open lodge meeting so that the public may hear all about the strength and nobility of work accomplished by the A. O. U. W. Society; what it is doing and how its security will enable it for all time to go on helping the working man.

After the pleasant meeting of the evening, the brethren were so highly satisfied with Bro. Milne's address that a unani mous vote was taken to have him back ere long.

Yours in C. H. P., H. M. BROWN, M. W. J. E. FRANCIS, Recorder.

King City

On Saturday last our town had their civic holiday, under the auspices of the A. O. F., a very strong order here, and ended by being a great success, the greatest features being the matches played by the different foot-ball teams. There were the Eighth Royals of Nobleton, the Aurora team, and the home team, the King City Rovers. The captains came forward and drew cuts as to who would kick first, and it turned out that the Eighth Royals got the lay off. So the home team and Aurora kicked, and the first half time the home team, having the wind in their favor, scored three goals. At the change of time every one said now then the Aurora boys will get even with the Rovers, but the Rovers got to work the Rovers, but the Rovers got to work and outbuildings. and put in two more goals against the | For further particulars apply to wind, thus deteating the Aurora team hve goals to nothing.

Then of course the home team and the Eighth Royals had to kick. Now these teams have been most bitter enemies all season, and every one expected this to be a tough match, and they were not disappointed. The Eighth Royals had a good team, as well they might, having six of the best men Toronto could afford, one from Laskay, one from Kinghorn, one from Pine Grove, and the rest, the big number of two, from Nobleton. Well it turned out that the home team got the favor of the wind the first half time again, and kicked for twenty minutes and scored nothing. They then changed goals and kicked twenty minutes more, but the home team held the Eighth Royals, thus making it a draw, no goals being scored.

There were a great many spectators, and although the Foresters were at a large expense to make it a success, the proceeds amounted to nearly $40.

In conclusion I might say I hardly think the Eighth Royals did a gentlemanly trick by any means in having so many of Toronto's crack players, as it did not give other teams a good show. Much talk is going to have another match with the Eithth Royals, if so let it be soon.
