Reminiscence of Sir Robert Peel and the Duke of Wellington.

Dean Boyle in his, "Reminiscences" tells a striking anecdote of the mutual appreciation of the same quality of high sincerity in public life of the famous statesman, Sir Robert Peel, and the "iron Duke" of Wellington.

Mr. Wood, a friend of Dean Boyle's, had one time when the Duke of Wellington was very ill in London come from the city to a country house at which Peel was visiting. As soon as he arrived, Sir Robert called him aside, and asked with intense anxiety what was the latest news of the duke's condition. It was considered hopeless, and Mr. Wood told him so. The great minister broke down utterly; crying out with a burst of tears: "He is the truest man I have ever known! The duke, however, recovered despite the predictions of his doctors, and survived Peel.

The same gentleman-Mr. Wood-by a curious coincidence was present when Peel was thrown from his horse, and received the injuries which resulted in his death. He hastened to his assistpanied him home, remaining for some time in the house to render the family what services he might in their time of confusion and distress. He was yet there when the Duke of Wellington arrived to make inquiries, and was deputed by Lady Peel to receive him. He hastened to the door and found the duke on the step about to enter the house, and informed him that the physician pronounced Sir Robert's hurt to be desperate, and his chance of life almost nothing.

"He was the soul of truth," said the ed his horse and rode sorrowfully away.

GOD BLESS THE BABY.

They were both young, very young to be burdened with the precious responsibilities of parenthood. It might Such a baby! A dear, dimpled, 6well-behaved baby, too. He sat upon his father's knee and gazed about him beautiful eyes, but never once lifted his infant voice in praise or protest. Then he was a modest child, for he seemed utterly unconscious of the fact that every woman present was devouring him with hungry and admiring eves. He even affected not to hear the audible whispers that made his delicate girl-mother's cheeks color with pride and pleasure and caused his father to glow with satisfaction.

Positive Cure for Rheumatism and Paralysis.

The Record of a Very Remarkable Case in Hamilton.

To Wit: I. Thomas Emil Sterling, of the City of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, Clerk, do solemnly declare: 1. That I live at 96 John Street

North, in the City of Hamilton, I am seventeen years of age, son of Thomas Sterling, motorman on the Hamilton street railway. 2. About fifteen months ago. I was attacked with Chronic Rheumatism. he doctors who attended me said that t was Chronic Rheumatism, and that it would be hard to get rid of. I took about twelve bottles of the doctor's medicine and four different kinds of patent medicines, and none of which did me any good whatever. I suffered great pain, and was unable to do any work whatever.

3. On the 8th April, 1895, I started taking the medicine (Kootenay Cure)

4. The Rheumatism was in my right arm and in my right shoulder, and in my back and both my legs.

5. I have used five bottles, and I am now entirely cured, and have gained ten pounds in my weight.

6. My general health has also wonderfully improved since I commenced taking this medicine. I had hives for three months before taking the medicine, and they now have completely disappeared, and my health has never been better than it is now. It is a great

7. The attack of Rheumatism which had was so severe that my feet and legs were so weak and painful that] could not walk without stumbling.

8. I am now able to wroke without any injurious effect. I believe Kootenay Cure is one of the greatest medicines in the world to-day for rheumatism and to build up the system.

Laid Up for Four or Five Weeks at a Time-Permanently Cured by Three Bottles of South American Kidney

It is surely very unwise with a disease that quickly leads to disastrous results to experiment with medicines, the nature of which cannot possibly prove permanently effective. Pills and powders may, apparently, give relief in case of kidney disease, but the disease can only be annihilated by a solvent that will before serious results follow, dissolve the hard particles that form in the system where kidney disease prevails. South American Kidney Cure can always be depended upon to perform its work. Mrs. Valentine Matthews, of Greywood, Annapolis County, N.S., says that she suffered for fifteen years from kidney disease, the pain at some periods becoming so severe that she would be laid up for four or five weeks at a time. Medicines enough she used, but they never removed the disease. After taking three bottles of South American Kidney Cure she was completely cured, and has not known suffering since.
