DEATH OF AN OLD TORONTO PRINTER.

The Toronto papers announce the death, on Saturday, the 27th of February, of James Austin Esq., President of the Dominion Bank of Toronto, at the age of 84. Mr. Austin was born in the town of Tanderagee, County of Armagh Ireland and came to "Little York" (now Toronto) when a boy. He served his time in the printing office of the Colonial Advocate, published by the late Mr. William Lyon McKenzie, and was the "youngest apprentice" in that office in the year 1830. He subsequently worked as a journeyman printer in the Patriot office, at the time our postmaster (Mr. M. Teefy) was serving his apprenticeship there. Mr. Austin afterwards embarked in the grocery business in partnership with the late Mr. Patrick Foy, which firm was very successful, and accumulated considerable wealth. For many years past Mr. Austin had been President of the Dominion Bank. He was always respected as a steady upright man.

Ex-President Cleveland, whose term of office expired yesterday, has frequently shown himself to be superior to many of his colleagues in the United States. His last public act was to veto the Immigration Bill with its unwise amendment which seemed to be directed against Canada. Mr. Cleveland looks with favor upon an interchange of labor between the United States and Canada, and designates the objectionable clauses as "illiberal, narrow and un-American."
