Society and Fashion Gossip
from the Queen City.
The days are now here when the ladies begin to think of what kind of a veil to wear to protect the face from these most unpleasant March winds and as they are all desirous of preserving their complexions, I will give them a hint as to the best means of protection for the eyes as well as the complexion. Wear a brown grenadine veil. It is certainly quite hideous if worn over a light-colored hat, but for the month of March wear as a substitute a hat of brown, in order that you may wear the veil without appearing to look very ridiculous, and you will find that those pet freckles which have appeared in former years will be much more scarce, and your eyes will not feel the glare of the sun as they did when you wore a veil that was becoming. I must confess that veils if properly selected in purchasing and becomingly arranged upon the hat and over the face are great little beautifiers.
On Tuesday evening of last week the Misses Coles gave a most enjoyable progressive pedro party in honor of Miss Shook a very charming young lady from Detroit who is visiting in the city. After two hours pleasantly spent at cards, dainty refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in until adieux were said in the early morning hours.
Mons Pol Plaucon the grandest of all bassos whose singing at Massey Hall a couple of weeks ago so thoroughly captivated the appreciative audience, is to appear in Toronto again, on Saturday evening, March 12th at the Armories, when those who had not the privilege of hearing him on the former occasion should not miss the grand opportunity as his singing is certainly something never to be forgotten.
The Princess Theatre last week was packed to the doors at every performance of the "The Two Orphans" given by the Cummings Stock Company which have been greatly strengthened by the addition of Miss Creighton, Mr. Cageneuve and others. The cast numbered twenty-three and gave a good performance.
Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bull of Bloor Street west will leave in a few weeks for Washington, Richmond, (Virginia) and Old Point Comfort, where they will spend some time and so escape the very unpleasant March weather.
GLORIA.
