

THE MAN OF MODERATE MEANS.

Failure of a Scheme that seemed to Possess Great Possibilities.

"I read somewhere once," said the man of moderate means, "a story about a man, compelled by circumstances to eat corned beef when he would have preferred chicken, who now and then hung up in front of himself a picture of a chicken, upon which he fixed his eyes and his mind as he ate, with the result that when he had eaten his fill of corn beef he imagined that he had really eaten chicken. I never doubted this story, though I could not repeat the experience in my own case. But I suppose that only goes to show that a thing that will affect one man a certain way may affect somebody else very differently.

"After a protracted succession of corned beef and corresponding dinners I came to the conclusion that I would like a chicken, but there were reasons—um—um. Well, I finally compromised on a picture of a chicken, and I hung that up over the table, and when I struck into the corned beef I looked up.

"Well, do you know, it didn't work with me at all? Not a bit, I could taste the corned beef just the same, and it made my neck ache, and I came pooty near choking myself, too, looking up; and so I gave it up finally and stuck to the corned beef.

"I imagine I'm as impressionable as most folks, but it seems that I am not easy to impress in this particular way, and it was all the greater disappointment to me because I had thought if the chicken worked all right I might enlarge my bill of fare in that way in various directions. I had hoped that some day I might be able to substitute pictures for food altogether."

ANTS PAY SPIDERS.

We all know that certain species of ants employ as slaves smaller insects of their own kind. Others keep insects to milk as we do cows. But perhaps the most astonishing discovery of all is the latest one, that there is in Australia a green ant which, though very clever in the building of its nest, appears to consider it an irksome duty, and so employs another insect to do this work for it. A small spider is, therefore, trained to act as a servant in all things. The green ants pay the spiders for their labors in a coin that they enjoy. It is by giving them to eat a portion of the innumerable little eggs that they, the ants, lay. This is a most agreeable arrangement for all, man, included, as otherwise the green ants would rival the rabbits in overrunning Australia.

EMPEROR MAY LIVE, THOUGH HIS PHYSICIAN PRO- NOUNCES HIS DISEASE INCURABLE.

Bright's Disease is Not Incurable, for Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured It Thousands of Times, and Will Cure It Thousands of Times Again.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Newspaper despatches from Peking, China, bring information to the effect that the Emperor is dying of Bright's Disease. He is under the care of a famous French physician, who asserts that the Emperor's complaint is "an incurable Kidney disease."

That is where the famous French physician is mistaken.

There is no incurable Kidney disease. Every disease of the Kidneys is curable. They, like all other diseases, yield readily to the proper medicines.

The experience of the past eight years has shown conclusively, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that there is one remedy that will cure any case of Kidney disease, no matter how severe, no matter how long it has run. This remedy is known throughout the English-speaking world, to physicians and laymen alike, by the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

When Dodd's Kidney Pills were first introduced, medical men were sceptical regarding their power to cure Bright's Disease. Experiments were made, in cases that had defied the skill of the most eminent medical men on the American continent, cases that had been given up as hopeless—fatal. To the astonishment of the medical men, Dodd's Kidney Pills worked a complete cure in each and every case. Therefore they were recognized as the only known cure for diseases of the Kidneys, including Bright's Disease and Diabetes.

This place they have held since, and hold to-day. No other cure for these diseases has ever been discovered, although many worthless imitations of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been placed on the market.

If the famous French physician, under whose care the Chinese Emperor is, would use Dodd's Kidney Pills in the case of his imperial patient, his recovery would be rapid and certain.

There is an unfortunate disposition in man to attend much more to the faults of his companions that offend him than to their perfections which please him.—Greville.

TWO MILES ABOVE THE SEA.

Airships have not yet been invented yet it is possible to sail for a day and a night in a fairly comfortable steamboat at a height of over two miles above the sea. The water on which you accomplish this remarkable feat is Lake Titicaca, which lies between Peru and Bolivia. It is a huge lake 120 miles long and nearly 60 wide, and is over 1,000 feet deep. It is away up in the mountains, above the clouds. Nine rivers flow into it, besides a vast amount of snow-water, yet it has no visible outlet.

The 600-ton steamers which sail on Lake Titicaca were built in Scotland, carried over the passes in sections, and put together on the spot. The fuel is Australian coal, brought from 7,600 miles away. In the lake are many beautiful islands, and the cliffs which line the shores are magnificently rugged. In no place can a ship anchor. The water even 60 feet from shore is hundreds of feet deep. The native boats on Lake Titicaca have straw sails.

REMARKABLE RESULTS OF THOMAS-PHOSPHATE.

W. Godwin, of Market Drayton, writes to the "Lincolnshire Chronicle," April 2nd, 1898, from which we quote:

"As the phosphoric acid in Thomas-Phosphate is, presumably from its admixture with free lime, in an insoluble condition, and as it was generally accepted theory that plants can only absorb soluble substances by their roots, I had some hesitation in accepting it as a reliable manure, and I spent a day last autumn among a number of farms in North Staffordshire, and another in South Shropshire. I am bound and indeed pleased, to confess that I was never more astonished in my life than when noting its effect upon pastures, clover roots and corn fields, especially upon the harsh, cold and almost intractable clay lands. The effect in numerous cases was simply marvelous; poor pastures, after being dressed with it, were redolent in clovers and wild vetch, and similar fodder plants. One field, especially, of some thirty acres, apparently poverty stricken to a last degree, had been dressed as to five acres with a ton of Albert's Thomas-Phosphate Powder, which was one sheet of beautiful white clover in flower, fit to mow, while the remainder of the field afforded scarcely a bite of wiry, coarse grass." Mr. Godwin further at considerable length described root and wheat fields dressed with this manure as having withstood the drought and yielding splendidly. He concludes that genuine Thomas-Phosphate Powder comes as a decided boon, especially as its effects seem very lasting. In the same issue of this paper, Mr. Wooley, of Salop, attested to its wonderful value in bringing up an old, worn-out farm, which he had taken and which is now in capital condition. This is the farm which is being noticed in the English press as producing 77 bushels of 60-pound wheat per acre from the free use of Thomas-Phosphate Powder. Still another letter appears in this paper from Robert Eardley, of Newark, who says it seems to carry the roots through the frost better, and he noticed the good effects on the following crops, the third year being the most surprising the wheat crops being greener and stronger all through the season where it was used.

LIFE-SAVING METHOD.

The Boulogne tugs have recently been fitted with guns for firing a line across a vessel at sea, for the purpose of establishing communication by means of a life-saving hawser. The tugs get to windward of the vessel stranded on a lee shore; and, by anchoring a short distance from it, is enabled to take off the crew. On a level and sandy shore a stranded vessel may be hundreds of yards away, and in the teeth of a gale the rocket may not reach the wreck. The mode adopted by the Boulogne Humane Society has some manifest advantages; for instance, it obviates having to pull a man 200 or 300 yards through the surf, with the prospect of rescuing him more dead than alive. Another point in favor of the method is that in a given time one can rescue more persons by it than by the use of a long-distance hawser.

In proportion to their weight, dogs can absorb without danger sixteen times as much arsenic as would kill a human being.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

and is a marvel of completeness in all its departments. The Winter Fashions in Dress and Millinery are elaborately illustrated and described, the Literary features are of an unusually high order of merit, and the Household Specialties are of the most seasonable and original character. The tender sentiment of A Modern Christmas Saint, by Clara E. Laughlin, will appeal to lovers of Stevenson in a peculiarly affectionate way. The Reboso of Senora Yigiel, by Eva Wilder Brodhead, is a captivating sketch of passionate, kind-hearted character to be found in the Southwest. Washington Society During the War, by Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, is an interesting retrospect of life at the Capital during the late conflict. Keeping Watch, an impressive Christmas poem, by Edith M. Thomas, tells the shepherd's story of the finding of the Christ-child. In the series on The Common Ills of Life, Dr. Grace Peckham Murray analyses the physical conditions and social aspects of Old Age. The article in the series on Amateur Photography contains a number of suggestions in regard to making photography remunerative for the amateur. Eleanor Georgen contributes another scholarly chapter on The Cultivation of the Voice. In Poster Tableaux, by Lina Beard, will be found complete technical directions for preparing an elaborate artistic entertainment. A notable group of Holiday Household subjects is embraced in An Old-Time Christmas, by Helen Conbes, Holiday Candy Making at Home, by Ruby F. Warner, and Festivities of the Holiday Season, by Blair, Girls' Interests and Occupations, by Lafayette McLaws, and Club Women and Club Life, by Helen M. Winslow, are characteristically entertaining; and the regular departments: Social Observances, conducted by Mrs. Cadwalader Jones; The Tea-Table, by Edna S. Witherspoon; Fancy Stitches and Embroidery, by Emma Hayward; The Dressmaker, Millinery, Lace-Making, etc., comprise a profusion of additional matter of distinctive interest.
