Silver Wedding.

Last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Marsh celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their lovely home, "Elms Lea." The guests present numbered fully 100, and it is safe to say no livelier nor better looking company ever assembled along historic Yonge street. From a social standpoint and from every standpoint the pleasing affair was a great success, and the entertainment afforded was enjoyed by both old and young. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, as host and hostess, did everything possible to make their guests at home, and succeeded admirably in their pleasant task. The daughters assisted with grace and dignity and everything passed off without a jar of any kind, so well were the arrangements carried out. The supper was excellent, and the tables were laden with everything that the most fastidious would desire. After the first table, which was intended for the family and near relatives, congratulatory speeches were made and a pleasant half hour spent. The "Bride and Groom" was proposed by Rev. J. A. Grant in a neat speech. Mr. Grant spoke of the pleasant surroundings, of the kind hospitality which the guests were enjoying, and referred incidentally to the Golden Wedding which had been celebrated about a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. Maclean, the father and mother of their worthy hostess, and who were present on this happy occasion. Mr. Wm. Marsh responded on behalf of himself and wife, and extended a warm welcome to all present.

Dr. Sisley of Maple then proposed in a most felicitous manner the health of "The Parents," Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Marsh and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLean, and Mr. McLean ably responded. A pleasant feature of the evening was that the parents on both sides were present in the best of health and spirits, and all seemed to enter into the amusement and entertainment with as much enjoyment as they would thirty years ago.

It is needless to say that Mr. and Mrs. Marsh were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents, the collection embracing nearly every line of silverware. A few hours which followed the supper were spent in singing, instrumental music and various games, concluding with a social hop in which guests of all ages participated. The company separated some time after midnight, but not before expressing a hope that the host and hostess would be spared to celebrate their Golden Wedding.

The following is a list of the guests: Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLean, Mr. J. W. McLean, Miss McLean, Miss N. McLean, Mr. Percy McLean, Mr. Greig and Mr. J. Jamieson, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. John Best, Peterboro; Mrs. Argue, Milbrook; Mr. W. J. McLean, Miss Pearl McLean, Mrs. N. Bourdon, Mrs. J. Corticelli Home Needlework Magazine.

The many women who take pleasure and oftentimes find profit in doing fancy work, will be pleased to learn that the Corticelli Silk Co. have issued the third or July edition of their artistic and instructive needlework magazine. It is a splendid number. It is replete with numerous designs in silk embroidery of marvellous beauty, and contains handsome colored plates, fashion articles up-to-date and cleverly written, and photographs showing the latest patterns in needlework and innumerable other designs so dear to the heart of cultivated womanhood. In this number also the publishers begin a series of articles by Mrs. L. Barton Wilson entitled "Lessons in Embroidery." To novices these illustrated lessons will be almost as valuable as a regular teacher. Mrs. Wilson is widely known as a high authority on embroidery and her work in connection with this magazine has won for her fresh honors. The publishers announce a new department for October under the caption of "Modern Lace Making," which will be in charge of Mrs. Sarah Hadley of New York, whose work has always attracted marked attention. The same issue will likewise contain ideas for simple Christmas needlework, besides new patterns for centrepieces, dollies, picture frames, tea cloths, silk purses, &c. Those of our readers who feel an interest in this class of work should send 10 cents for a sample copy or become subscribers at 25 cents per annum with a little delay as possible. Address, Corticelli Silk Co., Ltd., St. Johns, P. Q.—The News, St. Johns.

Vaughan Council

The council of the municipality of the township of Vaughan met at the town hall, Vellore, on Tuesday, Sept. 12th, at 1 p. m.

Mr. Geo. Cunningham who formerly lived at Wilcox Lake, was accidentally killed. Mr. Norman took the morning train on Saturday for Orillia and returned in the evening. Quite a large concourse of neighbors and friends attended the funeral as Mr. Cunningham and family are held in very high esteem at Ardree, North Orillia, where they reside. The interment took place at Orillia cemetery. The young man was 17 years old and while hauling water, going down hill, one of the barrels tipped forward throwing young Cunningham down at the horses heels, the front wheels passing over his body crushing him. He lived about two hours in great agony.

Mrs. H. R. Lee arrived home for a few days from Burk's Falls and is visiting her parents at Broadview. She gives a vivid account of the fire that did so much damage in that town so recently.

Word has just reached here that Mr. Calvin Lindsay who left here on the first harvest excursion has met with hard luck, being taken sick soon after his arrival at Brandon with Typhoid Fever. The case was so bad he was removed to the Hospital for about 10 days but the report also states that at present he is on the way to recovery.

The Epworth League of this place have very interesting meetings every Tuesday evening; all are welcome. At their last meeting the treasurer reported quite a large sum on hand and after considerable discussion they voted that the money be expended in giving the fence surrounding the church property a fresh coat of paint. We notice our merchant getting another load of goods via Metropolitan Railway. We are informed that he receives a regular shipment every week.

(Too late for last week.)

Maple

The funeral of the late Anson Atkinson, who died in Winnipeg on Wednesday of last week, took place from his father's residence at Edgely to the cemetery here, on Monday, and was very largely attended. After the interment a memorial service was held in the Methodist church. Mr. Atkinson and his family have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

The members of the Epworth League held a lawn social at the parsonage on Monday evening, and a very pleasant time was spent by all. Mr. A. Carson and little son of Barrie were visiting at the parsonage over Sunday.

The Misses Devlin of Niagara, are the guests of their cousin Miss L. Lines.

Mr. J. T. Saigeon and family purpose removing to Richmond Hill in the near future. They will be much missed by all in the village.

Mrs. Dr. Kirby of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., is spending a couple of weeks with relatives here and at Hope. She purposes returning home on Thursday. Mr. J. H. Kirby also intends to start on that day on a trip to the "Soo."

The publishers announce a new department for October under the caption of "Modern Lace Making," which will be in charge of Mrs. Sarah Hadley of New York, whose work has always attracted marked attention. The same issue will likewise contain ideas for simple Christmas needlework, besides new patterns for centrepieces, dollies, picture frames, tea cloths, silk purses, &c. Those of our readers who feel an interest in this class of work should send 10 cents for a sample copy or become subscribers at 25 cents per annum with a little delay as possible.
