in Great Britain, "etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

VERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the annuancement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the RETLEW OF RELIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities coased. A free quenation from the critical Congressional debutes and other public utterances at crucial periods rols in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive numerative, it goes back to the year of struggle in Cuba which prepared he way for the war, it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slights and after insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for his as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the milliary anymenents of the Santiago and Porto Rican campies are analyzed by the editor of the Arms and Narw Jaurnal; the battle with Corvers is described by the novellst. Winston Churchili, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba hefere the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstend and Stephen Bopsal.
