RICHMOND HILL, January 4, 1900

Despatches published yesterday show that part of the Canadian contingent have already had a battle with the Boers in South Africa. The Canadians, some of whom belonged to C Company, Toronto, were under command of Colonel Pilcher, drove the enemy from a strong position and scored a brilliant success. The engagement took place near Belmont where the Boers were entrenched. The movement involved a march of twenty miles between noon and sunset on Sunday, and the engagement took place on New Year's Day. The Boer laager was captured, several of the enemy killed, and forty prisoners taken. Word comes that the Canadians stood the galling fire with admirable patience and never wasted a shot. The colonials were expected to do good work in the campaign if an opportunity presented itself, and their first engagement shows them to be made of the right material for soldiers.

A week or two ago the Newmarket Era told its readers that a motion had been made at Osgoode Hall to quash a by-law relating to a bonus to the Schomberg and Aurora Electric Railway, but said that "up to the hour of going to press last evening we had not learned the result." What puzzles us is to know how The Era, a weekly paper, could speak of going to press "last evening." We thought there might be tricks in all trades but the printer's, but judging from the above even the printers are not excepted.

The war news during the last few days seems to be more favorable to the British soldiers. General French has taken possession of Colesburg after an encounter with the Boers, and he will make a desperate effort to hold the position he has gained. The British casualties in the engagement were, three killed and a few injured.

Temperanceville

Monday was a very busy day in the village as the election was held in the town hall for the first time.

Miss May Norman who broke her wrist before Christmas expects to be able to start school soon.

A surprise party was held by the League at the residence of Mrs. Glass on Friday evening last. After many games were played and lunch partaken of the following address was read to Miss Carscadden, the President of the League, who is leaving to teach the school at Gormley:—

To Miss T. V. CARSCADDEN:—
Dear Friend and President,—We, as an Epworth League, take advantage of coming before you to express our deepest regret in regard to your departure from amongst us. We feel it our duty to do so as you have endeared yourself among us as a friend and as a President of our League. Since you have occupied the position we felt that our League had solid rock on which to place her feet. We know that sometimes you have had discouragements, yet trusting in God you have been successful to the last, knowing that "all things work together for good to them that love God." When it was announced that you had resigned your position as President, a gloom was cast over us as a League, but we considered you had done your work faithfully and that it was God's purpose to call you to duty in another vineyard. Another way of expressing our regret we ask you to accept this "Album" as a slight token of our esteem towards you and when you leave us may you take it with you and keep it in remembrance of the young people and Epworth League of Temperanceville. May God ever be with you and when we are done with the worldly things of this earth may we ascend to greater things above, and where there shall be no separation.

Signed on behalf of the League, Sarah Benfield, S. Ferguson, Thos. Johnson, Ida Bostwick.

The address was followed by a number of speeches, singing, recitations and instrumental music on the organ and violin.
