TOO BRITISH FOR THEM

"Pamphlet No. 6" quotes Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words in London in 1897 when he declared that if ever the empire should be in danger the colonies would be ready to help, and adds "this was a solemn promise and it was kept." Then follows a furious tirade against the Premier for his practical loyalty and his imperial policy. It is too British for the compilers of pamphlet No. 6.

Sir Charles Tupper repudiates Pamphlet No. 6 in Ontario where it never would have been heard of but for the Liberal press, but he carefully avoids repudiating it in Quebec where it is intended to accomplish its sinister purpose. Such a straightforward course is too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper inveighs against the Laurier preferential tariff, and demands a quid pro quo which he knows perfectly well is unobtainable at the present time. The Laurier policy has increased Canada's trade with Great Britain over 100 per cent in three years. It is too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper has an anti-imperial pro-French policy for Quebec, and an ultra-imperial anti-French policy for Ontario and the West. Through his lieutenants he is vainly endeavoring to revive religious strife also by telling the people in Quebec that the Manitoba school question is not settled, though his own right hand man—Hugh John Macdonald—declares in Ontario that it is. Sir Charles will not lift a finger to assist in the work of welding together yet more strongly the diverse elements of race and creed which exist in Canada. Such a course would be too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Hibbert Tupper took occasion to make all kinds of charges against the course of the Minister of the Interior in connection with the Government of the Yukon, and against the personal and official character of those charged with the administration of the country. He has not dared to repeat those charges outside of Parliament where the courts could reach him; nor has he withdrawn the allegations made in Parliament. Such a course would be too British for Sir Hibbert Tupper.

Mr. Foster compares the partial expenditure of 1895-96 with the full expenditure of subsequent Liberal years, and he also denies the authenticity of his own estimates prepared for presentation to Parliament had his own Government obtained a new lease of power. He refuses to compare Grit and Tory expenditures by the same rule and conditions. Such a course would be too British for Mr. Foster.

Hugh John Macdonald is an ultra-protectionist in Eastern Canada, but in Manitoba he is a free trader in all matters where free trade would catch the farmers. He would take the last of the duty off agricultural implements, though both Tupper and Foster have declared for an increase. He dare not face the farmers of Manitoba with the policy he supports down east. He is not content with one consistent policy for the whole Dominion. Such a course would be too British for Hugh John Macdonald.

"FULL OF UNTRUTHS."

The address delivered by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Massey Hall on Tuesday evening or last week will long be remembered by Liberals and Conservatives alike. The immense audience which packed the building, was swayed as by a moral force, and so eager was every person to hear every word that dropped from the lips of the Premier, the tick of a watch might almost have been heard at any time during the delivery of the address. Men of all shades of politics seemed to be impressed with the seriousness of the speaker, and very few indeed would venture the assertion that he was not sincere in his utterances. Yet what do we learn? Sir Charles Tupper made a speech in Toronto last Saturday night, and the following is taken as a sample of the criticism of the Premier's speech: "I was astounded that any man could so insult the intelligence of the electors of a city like Toronto in the manner in which he did in that address. I will say that from the start to the finish not one single statement which he made but was not only unfounded on fact but was the very reverse of the truth."

The Mail and Empire insults the students of Toronto, and indeed the young men of Canada irrespective of party, by alleging that they were paid 75 cents each to carry torches in the Laurier procession in Toronto last week. The students indignantly deny this of course, but equally of course The Mail has not withdrawn its falsehood and apologized. The World also sneers at the students, saying that "not one in 100 of them has a vote." Those young men may not have votes but they have influence. There is no need to find fault with the hundreds of students who turned out to honor the Canadian Premier, and it may be said their behavior on the occasion was faultless.
