CANADIAN MAGAZINE.
The Canadian Magazine published in Toronto is a welcome monthly in Canadian homes. The November number just to hand contains much interesting and useful reading. There are a number of good stories, the copy is well illustrated, but probably the article which will be read with most interest at this particular time will be "The Story of Eight General Elections" by A. H. N. Colquhoun.

We have always made it a point to be strictly up to date in our hat department; see the pretty fall Derbys we are showing at $1.25. Atkinson & Switzer.

There are six classes and the prizes offered are larger than usually given. Plowing commences at 9 o'clock. Any communication to be addressed to T. Hood, Secretary, Milliken.

The question of engaging a third teacher for the High School will be taken up at the Regular meeting next Monday. Rate-payers should be at the meeting and let their views be known.

ANOTHER DEATH.

General sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. George Schell of Carrville in the loss of their children through that terrible disease, diphtheria. Another death occurred a few days ago, making the fifth in the past two months.

AN ACCIDENT.

What might have been a serious accident happened in our village on Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. Hicks, who had been in the city, was returning by the 8.40 Metropolitan car. The car stopped at Centre street, but before Mrs. Hicks had time to get off it started again, and she was thrown to the ground and received quite a shock. The conductor was in the front of the car at the time and therefore could not see when the passengers were off. The front is the place for the motorman, but the rear of the car is the place for the conductor, if the safety of the passengers is to be considered.

Choice canned mackerel, 10c. a can; kippered herring, 19c.; golden halibut dates, 7c.; new figs, 4c. Atkinson & Switzer.

VICTORIA SQUARE.

A very successful meeting in the interest of Mr. N. W. Rowell was held in the Temperance Hall on Monday evening. The chair was occupied by T. W. Klinck, and the speakers were Messrs. Roland, Ramsden and the Liberal candidate, Mr. Rowell. There was good order and the listeners were enthusiastic. Mr. Rowell made one of the best speeches of the campaign gave the whole history of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and dealt forcefully with many questions such as Preferential trade with England, transportation, &c. He showed that the Tories were as disunited as they were four years ago, and instanced the episode between Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. John Haggart. Mr. Rowell is making political friends wherever he speaks.

Mr. Wallace's Meeting.

Although the weather was unfavorable a large crowd greeted Hon. N. C. Wallace at his meeting on Tuesday evening. The Masonic Hall was well filled and the five speakers got a good hearing. The committee had tastefully decorated the hall with flags, plants, &c., and besides easy chairs several choice pieces of furniture were placed on the platform. There were also several mottoes, as well as pictures of Queen Victoria, Lord Roberts, Sir Charles Tupper and Hugh John Macdonald and other popular personages. Mr. J. H. Sanderson presided. He said he was proud of being a Canadian, proud of being a Conservative, and proud of being a loyal British subject. At this point he started The National Anthem in which all joined heartily. An invitation was extended to opposition speakers but no one was present to speak for either Mr. Campbell or Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Wallace was the only speaker present when the meeting opened, and consequently he commenced proceedings. He was pleased once again to meet the electors of Richmond Hill and congratulated the village on its neat appearance, good sidewalks, &c. Mr. Wallace said he had invited Mr. Campbell to hold joint meetings, but could not make arrangements with him. Referring to the fact that Mr. St. John had attended a number of Mr. Campbell's meetings he said that Mr. St. John would have been the local member for West York to-day had not the constituency been stolen from him by illegal methods. Mr. Wallace spoke of the broken pledges of the Government. They promised to reduce the National debt, but they had increased it as it was now $7,000,000 more than it was in 1896. This he said was unjustifiable. Speaking of the Preferential tariff he said the Canadian Government had played a trick on Britain. They first raised the duty, and then lowered it 25 per cent, and called it a preference. He contended that England's trade policy was unfair to us as the Mother country should give all her colonies a preference over hostile nations. The British colonies should be able to supply Great Britain with her food supply, as in case of war against other nations she could be starved out in a month, and would have to surrender. The Government had spent money in bringing the Doukhobors and Galicians to this country, but Canada did not want them. England was not the Free Trade country she was sometimes represented to be as she now puts 100 per cent. duty on the poor man's tea. Mr. Wallace did not like the present franchise Act, as he was told there were 20 men in Richmond Hill to-day who could not vote because they had moved in from another riding during the past 12 or 18 months. He did not believe in adopting the provincial franchise as a man in Ontario has only one vote and in Quebec he might have half a dozen. They had given us a Redistribution bill which was really a gerrymander. Brant with a population of 33,000 had two members; Toronto with 200,000 had only four members. Brant got more members in proportion to its population than Toronto because that country was Liberal while Toronto was Conservative. The iniquity of the Drummond County railway was next touched upon. One railway between Montreal and Quebec could do all the work but there were three, the C.P.R., the Grand Trunk and the South Shore road. In the face of this they subsidized a fourth, paying $1,600,000 where $400,000 was quite enough. Certain Grit contributors to the campaign fund had to be recouped and Canada had to pay the bill. The Senate had done their duty in throwing out the Yukon deal which was a fraud. Speaking on Prohibition, Mr. Sydney Fisher pledged the Government to pass the measure if the plebiscite showed a majority vote. They were deceived. The voting was a fraud as the people of Quebec seemed to be voting for the next four weeks. Mr. Tarte was then attacked for his extravagance at the Paris exhibition and his utterances which were disloyal. The French in Quebec had been given equal rights in Canada, but they had proven themselves disloyal. Quebec had sent orders to defeat Mr. Wallace at any price. There were now 70 paid men in West York to do it. He referred to the Boer war and said the Government did not send the contingent until forced by public opinion and the Conservatives. Mr. Wallace referred to the Cook letter, John Charlton's address, &c., and left about 10 o'clock to speak at a meeting in Maple. He was loudly cheered as he sat down, and was presented with a bouquet by one of the ladies present.

Mr. Roland O. Harvey was the next speaker. He reminded the audience that he stood on the same platform four years ago denouncing Sir Charles Tupper for his stand on the Manitoba school question, but now as that was settled he was anxious that he should be returned to power. The present Government had taken all the duty off binder twine and barbed wire, but the price was higher than ever. Wages were lower for the working man and farmer's prices were poor. Referring to Prohibition he went farther than Mr. Wallace, saying that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had pledged the Government on that question. He denounced Tarte but thought the French in Quebec were a loyal people. He predicted 500 majority for Mr. Wallace on the 7th of November.

Mr. Carson of Montreal, was next called upon. He waded into Tarte from the beginning, saying the latter had been bitter in his attacks on the Orange Society. Laurier was an able man and a credit to Canada, but Tarte was an arch traitor. The French in Quebec are loyal if you do not interfere with their religious belief. He asked the electors to support Mr. Wallace.

Rev. Peter Campbell came next. He considered he had as good a right to take the platform and talk politics as Rev. Dr. Dewart, who a few years ago contested a constituency. Nobody found fault with Dr. Dewart, and why should they find fault with him. He deplored the corruption of Liberals in the elections, and said that though Mr. Rowell posed as a good man he never heard of him denouncing the Liberals for corruption. Rev. Mr. Campbell was very eloquent and made the usual charges against the Government.

Mr. Bond, an ex-mayor of Toronto Junction, closed the meeting. He thought Mr. Campbell was trying to bribe his town by the Government offering $5,000 to build a post office. He had also promised them postal delivery, but it would not be needed if a post office were built on the fifteen sites chosen. He gave Mr. Wallace credit for building up the National Policy, the C. P. R., and for inducing the Lozier bicycle works to settle in the Junction. He did not object to the proposed Canada National Railway, but could not trust Mr. Campbell, although the latter admitted he had not a dollar in the undertaking.

There was a good deal of buffoonery in the latter part of the meeting. The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen and Mr. Wallace.
