Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has a large subscription list; but it should be larger. Its management is more energetic, its plans better than ever before. As an added stimulus toward an increase, the Monthly offers no less than two hundred and sixty-four (264) prizes in cash to the men and women, boys and girls, who show most energy in securing new subscribers. This offer means that time and energy shall be well paid for. The price of the magazine is one dollar a year. Its contents appeal directly to people who care for good and timely literature. A few spare hours a week will add to your income substantially. If you want work that will pay you, write for terms to Frank Leslie Publishing House, 141-147 Fifth Ave, New York.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

A school that meets all the requirements for a good practical business training is the Central Business College, Toronto. With its splendid equipment and large staff of skilled teachers it is proving worthy of the extensive patronage it enjoys from year to year. It is well worth while for anyone interested in education to write for the circulars of this school. See Card in this issue.

Nothing nicer for fall wear for children than a nice serge or leather tam, or a wool toque; see the range in the north window of the Concrete. Atkinson & Switzer.

VAUGHAN MATCH.

Bills are out announcing the annual plowing match of Vaughan Plowmen's Association to be held on the farm of Mr. Thos. Rumble, half a mile east of Maple, on Wednesday of next week. Lunch will be provided for the plowmen, directors and judges on the grounds, and dinner at the Hulse House, Maple. After the recent rains it is expected the land will work well. The room was decorated with red mountain ash berries and blue and white bunting. The ladies dressed in white and red satin; Mrs. J. Allan in crushed strawberry satin. Miss Allan with Professor Allan, who presided at the piano, gave some popular duets. The supper consisted of oysters and fowl, green peas and many other good things. The party broke up at midnight with many thanks and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

Men's heavy fleeced underwear in cotton or wool, all sizes, 50 and 75c. each. Atkinson & Switzer.

TOO MUCH LATITUDE.

We are inclined to think the village council is a little easy on individuals who frequently come here and make themselves a nuisance on the street. Last Saturday evening a man whom the boys called a "quack" doctor gathered around him such a crowd and indulged in so much loud and idle talk that ladies going to the post office had to return home rather than pass the noisy crowd. In such cases the noisy individual should be removed, or the gang of boys and young men made to disperse. Our village constable could have stopped the annoyance with a word. The band stand is also being kicked to pieces, and no notice seems to be taken of it. Such latitude is bad for the village and bad for the boys.

This week we will make up one of those new cheviot overcoatings we are showing in iron gray and black, for $16, and finished up with the best imported trimmings. Atkinson and Switzer.

THE LATE MRS. MORTLEY.

Mrs. Mary Ann Mortley, a native of Lincolnshire, Eng., and a resident of Toronto and the County of York for upwards of fifty years, died at her late residence, 18 Alexander street, Toronto, Thursday (Thanksgiving) evening, 18th October. The deceased lady was well known and highly esteemed, especially in the districts of Thornhill and Richmond Hill. She was an old member of the Carlton street Methodist Church, and for many years took a zealous interest in church work. She left three children in Toronto, R. S. Mortley, publisher of The Merchant; Henry E. Mortley, and Mrs. W. A. Gardiner. The remains were interred on Sunday, Oct. 20, at Thornhill cemetery, after a beautiful service at the house, conducted by Rev. Geo. R. Turk and Rev. J. C. Keam, the funeral being attended by many friends in city and country. Her death came peacefully, and the Christian fortitude and cheerful spirit with which she bore her painful illness was very remarkable.

Address and Presentation.

The teachers and pupils of the different departments of the Public school surprised the Principal, Mr. N. S. MacDonald, Friday afternoon by invading his room, and taking possession for about an hour. While they were there an address signed by a committee, was read by Master Starr McMahon, and Miss Jennie Clark on behalf of the teachers and pupils presented him with beautifully bound copies of Tenyson, Longfellow, Whittier and Burns. Mr. MacDonald feelingly replied, thanking the donors for their mark of appreciation, and referring to his pleasant associations with them. The following is the address:—

DEAR TEACHER,—We have learned with mingled sorrow and regret that you have decided to leave Richmond Hill to pursue the work of your chosen profession elsewhere; on the other hand we have heard with the greatest pleasure that this is an advance for you both in position and in the reward you will receive for services rendered.

In school our relations with you have always been pleasant and instructive to us as your pupils and now as the parting day draws near, we wish to express to you our appreciation of your work and to say we hope you will continue to be successful in your new sphere of usefulness.

We would also ask you to accept this gift as a small token of our esteem and as a remembrance of happy days at our Richmond Hill Public School.

We are sorry you are going to leave us, but we are very glad of your success, and pray that the blessing may follow you in the enjoyment of that success, the blessing which Almighty God promises to his children.
