EXPORT FRUIT INSPECTION.

The Minister of Agriculture has introduced legislation to provide for the proper marking of Canadian fruit packed for export, and for the inspection of consignments so marked. The bill enacts that all fruit in closed packages shall be of uniform size and quality, and with only a small stated percentage of defects, particulars of which shall be indelibly marked on each package, together with the name and address of the packer. No package shall be so arranged that the faced or shown surface gives a false representation of the general contents of the package, and the minimum size in inches of the fruit is to be marked with other particulars on the package. Provision is also made for the inspection by properly authorized officials of all packages so prepared for export, and penalties, both of fines and imprisonment, are provided for false marking or for interference with the inspectors in the discharge of their duty. The act comes into force next July.

The experience of the past has shown the need for such legislation, and it may be hoped and expected that no more will be heard of those dishonest practices which have done so much to injure the reputation of Canadian fruit in foreign markets.

The Markham Sun flew into a rage last week because the Dominion Parliament by a vote of 125 to 19 passed a resolution to petition the Imperial Government to modify the coronation oath which England's monarch is compelled to take, and because Mr. W.F. Maclean voted with the majority. The oath reads that the Roman Catholic religion is "idolrous and superstitious," and is therefore offensive to our Roman Catholic citizens. It is acknowledged by everybody that the form of words in the royal pledge is harsh, severe and objectionable. Then why should loyal subjects have their feelings wounded and the doctrine ridiculed which they hold dear? And yet The Sun says: "We cannot follow our esteemed member in the vote he has cast upon this occasion. Only his splendid grace of toleration could have prompted him." The Sun stands condemned by its own words when it refers to the "toleration" of "our esteemed member." And what is the Sun's reason for the stand it takes? Our cotem claims that the bishops and cardinals are intolerant, saying, "We are informed that the oath these dignitaries subscribe to is equally offensive to Protestants." We cannot say, as like the Sun man, we have never seen the oath referred to. Even the Mail and Empire of Tuesday in referring to the coronation oath said "It is to be hoped that the offensive language will be removed." And the worst that Hon. Clarke Wallace—who of course, as Grand Master of the Orange Lodge, voted in the minority—could say against the resolution was that "if a wrong had been inflicted the British Parliament was generous enough to remedy it."

It is difficult to understand why a respectable paper like the Christian Guardian feels itself called upon to defend the actions of Mrs. Nation. This woman is the leader of a gang in Kansas who deliberately walk into the houses of saloon-keepers and smash mirrors, glassware and anything they can lay their hands on. And yet the Guardian in a lengthy editorial lends encouragement saying that "the better that people understand the position of this brave woman, the more they commend her for her determination to see a properly-enacted and beneficent law enforced." It is true Kansas is a prohibition state, and the saloon-keepers who break the law should be punished according to law. In this country hotel-keepers frequently break the law by selling on Saturday nights and Sundays. But the strongest advocates of temperance never think of going in and smashing the furniture of the proprietors. Would the Christian Guardian advocate the lynching of murderers in this country as practised in the Southern states?

Elia

The home of Mr. David Pearson, on Thursday evening last, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering, when the Brethren of Court Elia, Canadian Order of Foresters, met on the event of his departure for Calgary, Alberta, and presented their worthy Bro. with a handsome con fur coat, and Mrs. Pearson with a pair of astrachan seal gauntlets. The following address was read by Mr. Levi Smith, Secretary of the Court, while Mr. Wm. Riddell, Chief Ranger, and Mr. Wm. Allen, Vice-Chief Ranger, presented the gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Pearson:
DEAR BRO.—The Officers and Brethren of Court Elia, Canadian Order of Foresters, and your friends here assembled on the eve of your departure to a new field of labor, wish to say that it is with intense regret that we learn of your intention to remove from our midst. We very insufficiently express our sorrow because as a Bro. Forester and a citizen you were always ready to forward any worthy cause. You will be greatly missed, as by your kind demeanour you have both endeared yourself to all whom it has been your privilege to meet both within and without the Court. Your untiring efforts to promote the interest of our order, your thoughtful consideration for the comfort of members, your punctuality and attention to every detail in the discharge of the duties devolving upon you in the responsible positions which you have occupied in the order, have been matters of frequent and favorable comment, and your departure leaves a vacancy which will indeed be hard to fill. We trust our loss will be your gain and that in your new venture you may be successful. Permit us to present to you this fur coat, and Mrs. Pearson those gauntlets, as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by your Brethren and friends. We assure you that our best wishes follow you both and your family. Though temporarily severed we have a fond hope of a happy reunion in the High Court above. May this as a token stimulate each of you to be faithful to our Order and to perform well your duties to yourselves and fellow-citizens, and we sincerely hope you will be given many years of prosperity and happiness. In all things be upright and do right, and may God guide and be with you our dear Bro. Forester and Mrs. Pearson.
Mr. Pearson, though taken by surprise, made a neat speech, and thanked his worthy Brethren and friends for their great respect and beautiful presents. Speeches were also made by the following gentlemen: J. C. Snider, Geo. Rogers, Abraham Snider, Wm. Dalziel, Wm. Boucock and Dr. Irwin. After the presentation and speaking the company indulged in games and dancing until the wee sma' hours. Among those present were: Mr. and Miss Cook, Concord; Mr. F. and Wm. Clark, Fairbank; Mr. and Miss Johnston, Mr. C. and Miss Snider, Mr. J. Jackson, Mr. P. Blain, Mrs. Boynton, Mrs. Fowler (Fairbank), Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chapman, Mr. and Miss Baxter, Mr. and Miss Riddell.

What's in a Name?

Sometimes very little and sometimes a "great deal." Very often you pay a high price for articles just because they are bought from a wealthy firm. They buy from the same manufacturers as others of smaller capital and because they ask a high price for their goods you may think you are receiving better value.
If you are in need of a good watch I will be pleased to show you some fine, fully jewelled movements which I am selling for what they are worth and no more. A written guarantee given with each watch. Money refunded if unsatisfactory. I am very careful what class of watches I sell for they make the name.
