RICHMOND HILL, April 25, 1901

N. C. WALLACE PRAISED.

A number of Orange lodges have passed resolutions expressing approval of Mr. N. C. Wallace's vote in the House of Commons relative to the proposed change in the wording of the Coronation Oath. If it were proposed to modify the oath which the Sovereign is compelled to take, providing for the Protestant religion, we could understand why the member for West York is being praised for his "noble and loyal stand" in "resisting the interference and encroachment of the Church of Rome." It should be remembered, however, that such is not asked. The resolution simply asks for the removal from the declaration of offensive expressions. It is not proposed that the law should be altered so as to allow a Catholic to occupy the throne of England. Men may have their own opinions about this or that religion, but it is difficult to see how good-will can be promoted by forcing King Edward to swear that he believes that the religion of 20,000,000 of his subjects is "idolrous and superstitious."

The following is the resolution passed at Toronto Junction a few evenings ago:—"That this Loyal Orange Lodge of Toronto Junction takes this opportunity of showing our appreciation and endorsement of the noble and loyal stand taken by our Most Wor. Sovereign Grand Master N. Clarke Wallace, M. P., in speaking and voting against the resolution introduced by John Costigan, M.P. in the Dominion House of Commons, Ottawa, pledging the Dominion Parliament of Canada to recommend and advise to the Imperial Parliament a change in the Coronation Oath of our Gracious Sovereign, King Edward VII, as relating to Roman Catholics, and we further pledge our loyalty and support to our Sov. Grand Master in the stand he has taken in this matter to resist the interference and encroachment of the Church of Rome."

An article on the editorial page of last Sunday's World deals with the Senate. The writer not only expresses himself as being in favor of retaining the Senate in the Dominion, but also advocates another chamber for this province so that there might be a check on hasty legislation. Experience teaches that Senators, whether Grits or Tories, are usually rabid party men. Senators may check legislation introduced by those of a different political stripe but they have never been known to cause their own party any uneasiness. If the Government in power do not possess the confidence of the people the electorate have it in their power to dismiss them at any General election. Senators in this country have been failures.

The time of the year is near at hand when those who wish to plant shade trees must bestir themselves. The streets of Richmond Hill are fairly well supplied, but if our Village Fathers would furnish a hundred nice young maples within the next few weeks there would be no difficulty in finding places for them. The greater part of the trees last planted in The Park and at the High School failed to grow, but this was to a great extent owing to the dry summer which followed the planting. The custom of planting and re-planting should ever be kept to the front as nothing adds so much to the beauty and comfort of a village as shade trees.

We commend the letter which appears elsewhere in this paper, bearing on the formation of gun-clubs, to the attention of our readers. If every young man in Canada capable of bearing arms were an expert marksman it would not necessarily precipitate war, but it might be a great benefit to this country in the event of war. The horrors and anguish which war brings is too painful to picture, but although lovers of one's country only resort to war as a last resort, experience teaches that no country should be caught napping. But leaving war out of the question altogether the suggestion of "One of the Old Boys" is a good one, and we would like to see some of our old sports in the village act on the suggestion thrown out.

Col. Leys, M. P. P., for London handed in his resignation a few weeks ago, expressing his dissatisfaction with the Government's management of the fishing grounds on the river Thames at London. The Dominion Government had given instructions for certain works to be constructed three months ago, which for a time was neglected, but as the Fisheries Department has now been notified of the commencement of the work it is expected the resignation will be withdrawn.

The British budget of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is now under discussion. For many years England has been free-trade to the core, but owing to the enormous expense of the South African war a much larger revenue is required than has been forthcoming. It is proposed to place a duty on sugar amounting to about a cent a pound, the income tax is to be raised and an export duty is to be placed on coal. Some people look on these duties as the thin edge of the Protection wedge.
