PHOTOGRAPHERS HERE. Messrs. Banks & Woodbridge, photographers, were in the village a few days ago and took some very nice pictures of residences. They purpose returning to-day and will spend several days in this vicinity. They will be pleased to have a call at their tent from any person wishing work in their line. They guarantee all their work, and photograph houses, horses, groups of persons, families, or whatever may be required. Many of the residences and lawns here would make a very pretty picture, and the foliage never looked nicer than it does at present.

But attractive as this side of the card is Mr. Bailey's customers will be more interested in the quotations in groceries, and other lines given on the other side.

CORRECTIONS. A few errors crept into the prize list of the Fair as published in our last issue. We were not able to give the names of the successful exhibitors for some of the sweepstake prizes. James Cameron should have been credited with taking first prize for Span of General Purpose Horses, and second for 2-year-old gelding or filly in the carriage class. Thomas Ludford got first for Jersey heifer, and D. Gooderham first for Holstein bull. Miss Willmot first for fancy drape. J. & W. BANDMASTER SHUNK HONORED. The Hastings Star of 30th of May contained the following, the person referred to being Mr. J. T. Shunk, formerly of Maple, and well-known here as a good comic vocalist:—"When at Colborne on Friday last Bandmaster Shunk was requested by Col. Ponton to organize a band of not less than forty pieces, to accompany the 15th Regiment to the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, on July the 1st. Mr. Shunk has the proposition under consideration. The request to lead a band before people from all parts of the world is an honor Mr. Shunk can justly feel proud of and one the village can also share. We hope to see Mr. Shunk succeed."

SUDDEN DEATH. Our citizens were again shocked last Friday by the startling news that Mr. Robert Siver, had died at his home after a few days' illness. Deceased had fallen the previous Saturday on the edge of a water trough and received injuries which resulted in inflammation causing his death. It was generally known in the village that he was suffering from the fall, but few outside the household knew that the injuries were so dangerous until it was learned that he was gone. The funeral took place to the village cemetery the following Monday. Before leaving the house a service was held by Revs. Wellwood, Large and Elliott when the sad procession proceeded to the place of interment. To the bereaved widow and aged mother is extended the deepest sympathy, and friends and acquaintances alike deplore the untimely death of one who for many years had lived here.

HO FOR BOND'S LAKE. The first excursion of the season will be held by the High school at Bond's Lake, on Friday, the 7th inst.
