Breeding Dairy Cows For Production.

Function of the dairy cow.—It is scarcely necessary to say that the production of large quantities of milk, butter or cheese, determines the value of the cow, and the best efforts of breeders of dairy stock should always be directed towards this goal. Beefing qualities are of comparatively little importance, except in cases when a good cow loses the use of a portion of her udder, or in some way becomes undesirable as a milker.

Fancy points. It naturally follows that to secure the best practical results, little attention should be paid to what are commonly spoken of as fancy points. It is only in very exceptional cases that the color of the hair, size and contour of the horns, graceful carriage, and conical teats, can make any difference in the actual value of a cow, yet these and many other useless fancy points are held in high esteem by many breeders and judges. Beauty of form and breed type are always desirable, and breeders may well endeavor to combine these in as great a degree as possible with capacity at the pail, but the latter must ever remain the first consideration.

Points indicating production.—The first great essential point to be sought in the dairy cow is constitution, without which she cannot stand the strain of many years' heavy feeding and milking. The wide chest, good heart-girth, general appearance of vigor are the chief indications of constitution. Other points largely indicative of production are:—a wide strong muzzle; a comparatively open back-bone or chine, indicating a tendency to make milk rather than fat; a capacious barrel, capable of making use of large quantities of feed, and a roomy, well shaped udder, with large mammary veins and milk-wells. A well known Canadian breeder has tersely summarized these qualifications in the words—a big mouth, a big belly, and a big bag.

Tested ancestors.—Experienced men are able to select good cows with a reasonable amount of certainty, but the most expert dairy judge is largely at sea when he attempts to select a good bull by appearances alone. When we come to the question of raising good cows, we find the only road to success is in breeding from cows of known capacity and from bulls whose female ancestors have also been tested for merit at the pail and churn. It is almost imperative that a good bull should be backed by a considerable number of good producing dams and grand-dams, if satisfactory results are expected from his daughters.

Advanced registry.—About twenty years ago some of the prominent American breeders of Holstein-Friesian cattle, impressed with the importance of the above question, started what is known as an "advanced registry," in which cows could be recorded only after making a milk or butter record greater than a certain high standard. This system of registry was greatly improved some eight years ago by the adoption of what is known as "official testing." Under this plan all tests made are directly supervised by a capable dairyman sent as a representative of an experiment station or agricultural college, who sees the cows milked, weighs the milk, and tests the same in duplicate with the Babcock tester. The correctness of these tests must be sworn to by all concerned in conducting them. The system has now been adopted by the Guernsey, Ayrshire, & Jersey Association of the United States, but in Canada only the Holstein-Friesian breeders have recognized the importance of the movement. They have recently established a "record of merit," in which a cow may be entered only after making an official test for production of butter-fat. The standard requires that a two-year-old heifer shall produce in seven days at least eight pounds of butter-fat, a three-year-old heifer ten pounds, a four-year-old cow eleven and a half pounds, and a mature cow thirteen pounds. This is the highest standard adopted by the association and it will doubtless have a very beneficial effect on butter producing qualities of the breed in Canada. Other breeders of dairy cattle might well take up this matter also.

Address and Presentation

Mr. Henry J. Saigeon who taught the Jefferson school for a number of years resigned near the close of the summer vacation and accepted a position as principal of the Public School at Balmoral, Manitoba. After his departure his former pupils subscribed a neat sum of money, and sent by mail to their former teacher, a beautiful gold chain and locket, accompanied by an address. We give below the address as well as the reply:

Jefferson School,
Sep. 2nd, 1902.

MR. SAIGEON,
We hope you will accept this small token of our appreciation of your past labor among us.

We sincerely regret that you found it necessary to sever your connections with us and we thoroughly realize our great loss.

While with us you always proved yourself manly, straightforward and just, and we feel sure you will be pleasantly remembered by all.

We trust while in your new sphere you may enjoy both health and happiness.

Signed on behalf of the school by
GEORGE BROWN,
JEAN TOEPER.

[REPLY]

Balmoral, Man.,
Sept. 8, 1902.

MY DEAR PUPILS,

I assure you that you have completely taken me by surprise by presenting me with such a flattering address and substantial token of esteem. I shall prize this chain and locket not only for its own intrinsic value but also for the pleasant associations which it will always keep before my mind.

During my stay of four and a half years among you as teacher I always tried to do my duty by instilling into your minds not only those things which were necessary for your educational welfare, but also to establish those principles which go to make up the foundations of a true and noble character, and if I have been successful in my feeble efforts, I am sure that I feel amply repaid for my labors.

It is not necessary to say that it was with the deepest feelings of regret that I found it necessary to sever my connections with you as Teacher.

I suppose that sometimes you thought I was severe, but if so, I can say in the words of the poet "The love he bore to learning was the fault," and my mind has often traversed the distance of 1300 miles that lies between us, and dwelt upon the pleasant times that we used to have at Jefferson.

I have always received the highest respect from you as pupils and the kindest consideration from your parents who have always upheld me in all matters pertaining to school work.

Again thanking you most heartily for your kind remembrance of me, I must close by wishing you all unqualified success in your studies.

Yours truly,
H. J. SAIGEON.

Headford

The Headford Methodists at their Sunday School Anniversary Services on the 14th of this month, had a great treat in the eloquent and instructive sermons preached by the Rev. W. R. Barker of Uxbridge. Large and attentive audiences greeted the preacher and liberal collections were given in aid of the Sunday School.

On the evening of Wednesday, the 16th inst., a very pleasant social was given by the Headford Ladies at the home of Mrs. Hemrick. Sweet songs, bright, witty speeches, pleasant, tender whisperings, delicious cake and coffee qualified the most fastidious for a happy home-going. And as a remuneration the people gladly laid on the plate the sum of $18.00.

Brides

Are always "beautiful" and always "happy" according to the society reporters, and in this case the report is mostly true. There may be unhappy brides in fiction, but there are few in real life. But how hard it is to look upon many of the wives we know and believe that they were once beautiful and happy. Pain, the result of womanly disease, has marred beauty and undermined happiness.

Beauty and happiness are both restored to the sufferers from womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the pain-producing ills peculiar to women, establishing regularity, drying weakening drains, healing inflammation and ulceration, and curing female weakness. It restores roundness to the sunken cheek and plumpness to the shrunken body.

"I have thought for some time I would write you and tell you of the great improvement in my health since taking your Favorite Prescription," says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having any health again. Could not sit up all day, and was so weak I could not walk one quarter of a mile. I noted a great improvement in my health before the first bottle was used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to; had inflammation of ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired."

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit.

If you are looking for a perfect laxative try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.
