RICHMOND HILL, October 8, 1903.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, late Secretary for the Colonies, seems to be the man of the hour. He has taken a definite stand in opposition to Free Trade as they have it in England, and his new proposals seem to be along the right lines. At Glasgow on Tuesday night he spoke for two hours to thousands of people, and his remarks were cheered to the echo. England is naturally a Free Trade country, and though she has prospered under that system for the past 50 years, the feeling is growing that she has been imposed upon by other countries that have high protective duties.

Mr. Chamberlain now proposes a measure of protection with reciprocal preferences for Canada and the other British Colonies. The speaker gave startling figures to show that British commerce and British industry are falling behind those of protected countries. He advocates a ten per cent duty on manufactured articles, and a duty not exceeding forty-eight cents a quarter on foreign corn, but none on corn from the British possessions. Mr. Chamberlain's proposals seem reasonable, and his hands should be supported by the British Colonies, to say the least.

The General Elections have been held in the province of British Columbia, and while the Conservatives seem to be a little in the lead it is doubtful if they will have a safe working majority. Giving the Conservatives the seats which are yet in doubt they will only have 22 against their opponents' 20. Two Socialists and one Labor candidate have been elected, and these may give trouble to the Government in power. It seems unfortunate that there was not a more decided majority for one side or the other.

Writs are out for bye-elections in Muskoka and Sault Ste. Marie, and the Ross Government will measure strength with Mr. Whitney on the 27th of this month. For some reason the Government has not seen fit to announce the bye-election in North Renfrew, but this will certainly follow in a short time after those in Muskoka and the Soo are out of the way.
