RICHMOND HILL, November 5, 1903

Mr. Arch. Gilchrist, one of the license commissioners for West York, at a public meeting on Monday, referred to the undesirable class of individuals who frequent hotels Saturday nights and Sundays on the borders of a large city like Toronto. For this reason it is important that licenses should be withheld from men whose greediness after wealth is stronger than their desire to observe the law of the land. Mr. Gilchrist gave his word that as long as he is a member of the license board he would endeavor to do his duty, and he expressed faith in Mr. Frank Smith, license inspector for West York, in his efforts to enforce the law.

Mr. A. B. Aylesworth's calm, dispassionate address before the Canadian Club on Monday evening must have seemed like a rebuke to those who have recently taken such strong ground against what they term England's unfair treatment of Canada in the Alaska boundary award. Mr. Aylesworth states as strongly as ever that Canada has been deprived of some of her just rights, but he gives Lord Alverstone credit for honesty and ability in the matter, and his advice is to stand by England and the British Empire.

The evening paper on Monday that suggested that Canadian flags only be used in decorating the room for the Aylesworth banquet must have felt reproved when the guest of the evening expressed his pleasure at seeing the Union Jack in its usual place, side by side with the Canadian flag.

Coal Oil Up Two Cents

Pedlars Say Wholesalers Have Increased Price Three Cents.

The coal oil pedlars of the city met at the Municipal Hotel last night and decided to advance the price of oil two cents a gallon owing to the advance in the wholesale price of three cents a gallon. The price heretofore has been 20 and 22 cents for the two grades of Canadian oil, and 25 cents for American oil. On and after Nov. 2 the figures will be 22, 24 and 27 cents.

A similar advance has been recorded in the States.

Oil men say that the same conditions are now prevailing as in 1896. The supply of Pennsylvania oil is very short, and wholesalers who formerly at this time had a large carry-over stock from the summer are at present very lightly supplied. The condition, they say, may change most any day and it depends entirely on whether any new oil fields are discovered. The stock of Pennsylvania oil above ground in 1900 was 13,000,000 barrels. The stock this year was 5,000,000 barrels.

The oil coming from the fields of Texas and vicinity, oil men say, cannot be used for domestic purposes, and when refined is used as fuel for manufacturers and for lubricating purposes. Dealers say that while the stock of oil at present is as light as in 1895 the demand is larger. During last winter many persons, owing to the high price of coal, procured oil stoves. The use of oil became more popular and a number are still partly using oil for heating purposes.—Toronto World, Oct. 31.

THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE EVERY WEEK.

From 1866 to 1893 the Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine was published monthly, establishing itself as the only national agricultural paper in the country. Since January 1st, 1893, nearly 11 years ago, it has been issued semi-monthly. Still in the lead, keeping abreast of the times, and awake to the growing demands of its readers, the publishers now announce that, beginning with the 1st of January, 1904, the Farmer's Advocate will be issued every week. The splendid record of the past thirty-eight years is a sufficient assurance of the increased practical service which its readers may expect. We congratulate the Advocate upon its enterprise, and advise our readers to send at once for a free sample copy to the publishers, London, Ont.

CANADIAN READING MATTER.

The great difference between The Canadian Magazine, on the one hand, and the other leading magazines sold in this country, is the national character of the contributions and contributors. The other magazines deal with topics especially interesting to residents of the United States or Great Britain; The Canadian Magazine discusses questions of importance to the people of this country, while its stories and poems reflect Canadian life and incident. The November number, for example, discusses only Canadian topics, and every contributor is a Canadian. Margaret L. Fairburn analyzes "The Art of G. A. Reid," a leading member of the Royal Canadian Academy, and the article is illustrated with a splendid selection from his paintings, reproduced in colour. The character sketch of the month deals with George E. Drummond, the president elect of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Mr. E. Stewart, the Dominion Superintendent of Forestry, writes of "The Approaching Timber Famine," and advocates a national forestry policy which will preserve our lumber. Edwin Sandys writes brightly of the young quail under the heading, "Robert White, Jr." August Bridle describes the different grades of "The Homes of Workingmen" as illustrated in Toronto. This is profusely illustrated. James Hanny deals with the British failure at Plattsburg in 1814, while E. B. Biggar tells something about the significance of the Centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society. The stories in this issue are by S. Frances Harrison (Seranus), Elizabeth Roberts MacDonold, Albert R. Canman, Benjamin Salte and L. M. Montgomery. John A. Ewan in his monthly review of current events deals mainly with Mr. Chamberlain's recent political movements, while John A. Cooper discusses the workingman in his relation to the factory, city life and the interior of his home.

Farming For Profit...

Every Farmer should keep these three words constantly in mind and conduct his farm on strict business principles. Guess work and haphazard methods are no longer used by successful and up-to-date farmers.

By reading THE WEEKLY SUN, the Farmer's Business Paper, you will get the very latest and most accurate information regarding your business.

THE SUN's market reports are worth many times the subscription price to you.

Every Farmer in Canada should realize the full value of the service THE SUN has rendered him in a public way. It was due to the action of THE SUN in giving voice to the opinions of the farmers that the law relating to cattle guards, drainage across railways, and farm fires caused by railway locomotives has been amended.

We will send THE WEEKLY SUN from now to 1st January, 1905, in combination with

The Liberal for $1.75. Subscribe Now!
