An incorrect map or a map not up-to-date is little better than no map at all. The new map of the Dominion of Canada being sent as a premium to subscribers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is not only correct, but is so up-to-date as to show the new Alaskan boundary lines as awarded October 20th. It is the only map to-day to show that information. The publishers send a copy free along with two beautiful pictures to all subscribers of that great family paper. The price of the paper is one dollar per year, including all three premiums.

HOW OLD IS ANN?

One of the problems of the day is that of finding Anne's correct age without bluntly asking her the question. The following hints are given: "Mary is 24 years old. Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now." How old is Ann.

THE ERA'S ERROR.

The Newmarket Era will no doubt correct an error made in that paper last week, when it said that the score in the recent football match between the Richmond Hill and the Newmarket High Schools was 2 to 9 in favor of Newmarket. The correct score was 1-0. It is true the Newmarket players claimed another game, but the goal umpire decided the ball did not go through between the stakes, and his statement was accepted by the referee. We trust our contem. will make the correction.

Examine our values in horse blankets and cotton grain bags. Atkinson & Switzer.

The marsh hay is used principally in packing furniture.

A NEW CANADIAN STORY.

The Farming World of November 2nd contains the first chapters of that splendid new story, "Hickory" which is being published now for the first time. It is a most fascinating story and thoroughly Canadian. It pictures farming conditions in Ontario fifty years ago. The real plot of the story however, is centered in the Great Lakes, around which the author weaves a most exciting and fascinating tale. Farmers' sons and daughters will be captivated by the story. But the story is not the only important feature of this issue of The Farming World. In addition to the usual splendid home features, there is a lot of practical information of value to every stockman and farmer in the country. The "English Letter" which is now a regular feature is of more than usual interest. The illustrations are numerous and attractive, the one on the outside front cover being most noteworthy. The Farming World is certainly a most valuable and practical farm journal.

OYSTER SUPPER.

On Friday evening last a social time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walkington by the members of the Town Line Beef Association with their wives and a few other friends. The Association consists of twenty members bordering on the town line between Vaughan and King. The Association has existed for thirteen years, during which time Mr. Walkington has dressed the bees, and it is needless to say, has given every satisfaction. In fact the members have every reason to be pleased with the venture started thirteen years ago. The animals killed are all two-year-olds, the average during the past season being 54½ lbs. The judge, Mr. Scott, who was present at the supper Friday evening, referred to the excellent quality of the beef and to the satisfactory way it had always been dressed. Every member was so well pleased with the success of the undertaking, and with the harmony that existed, that an oyster supper was proposed, each family contributing. An interesting programme of music and speeches was well carried out, and everybody present had an enjoyable time. Among those who made speeches and appropriate remarks were the President, Mr. Alex. Cameron; Vice-President, Mr. R. Riddell; Mr. R. O. Harvey, Mr. Neil A. Malloy, and the worthy host, Mr. W. Walkington. The happy event was brightened by the presence of the ladies, and great credit is due to all who assisted in bringing the affair to so successful an issue.

A MAMMOTH HOLIDAY ISSUE.

The December Delineator (Christmas Number) represents the high-water mark of beauty and utility, and possibly of circulation also, in a woman's magazine, having a first edition of more than a million copies. It contains 240 pages. To produce this mammoth edition 723 tons of paper and 49 presses working 25 days were required. In addition to exquisite color work, clever fiction and strikingly illustrated articles, the number includes a display of charming Winter fashions covering forty-two pages, letters from the foreign fashion centres and illustrated articles on the fashionable fabrics and trimmings, millinery, etc. Among the notable contributors are:—Richard Le Gallienne, with a delicate romance, A Wedding Ring in the Garden, containing lyrics in the author's best vein; W. A. Fraser, with an Indian tale, The Net of Leo; Albert Bigelow Paine with a delightful sketch founded on the fables of the collector; Harriet Prescott Spofford with a love story of unusual interest; Andrew Lang, with a clever travesty on the usual fairy tale; and Gustav Kobbé, with an interesting paper describing the life of Mme. Emma Eames, in her Italian home, with her portrait in colors. There is also the third installment of the Evolution of a Club Woman, the piquant narrative of clubdom by Agnes Surbridge, and a remarkable photographic article by J. C. Remment. There are many beautiful art features, among them four pages in colors representing Babyhood, Childhood, Girlhood and Motherhood—the work of Bernard J. Rosenmeyer. For the children there are entertaining games and stories, and for the housewife many practical suggestions in cookery and other departments of the home, for the Christmas season.
