The Liberal.

RICHMOND HILL, January 23, 1904

The member for Manitoulin has made a number of speeches saturated with coarse profanity, but probably the foulest of all was delivered in Woodstock Saturday evening when he hurled shameless epithets at the two judges who conducted his trial, going so far as to invade their homes, and to refer to personalities of the most disgraceful kind. Papers like The Mail were ashamed to publish the utterances of their hero, and for giving a fair report of what Gamey did say, The Globe is brought to task by The Mail for "unpardonable brutality." A public journal has fallen to low depths when it eulogizes the utterances of a man of the stamp of Mr. Gamey, but refers to another paper's correct report as "an impertinent reference."

The election in North Oxford on Tuesday to fill the seat made vacant by the death of the late Mr. Pattullo resulted in a victory for Col. Munro, the Liberal candidate, who defeated his Conservative opponent by about 1,000. It is well that that old Liberal riding gave no uncertain sounds in repudiating Gameyism in its worst form. Every honest man, no matter what his political leanings may be, should be pleased to learn that the miserable tactics introduced into the campaign did not succeed.

The World of Monday did not say what its own private opinion was of Mr. Gamey and his political weapons, but in reporting his speech given in Woodstock Saturday evening, that paper did say that "the more thoughtful of the Conservatives fear that Gamey has overstepped the bounds and that a reaction may set in." The "thoughtful Conservatives" were right.

The Toronto Daily News must have exhausted its italic type a few evenings ago in trying to persuade the electors that they should vote against the Ross candidate, but the stalwart Liberals stood at their guns as of old, and carried the old riding of North Oxford by a large majority.

The Mail and Empire yesterday in its leading editorial, said that North Oxford the day before "declared against the Ross Government in tones that will be heard throughout the province." Nothing short of a black snake whip will convince The Mail that it is soundly thrashed.

FEBRUARY PEARSON'S.

Pearson's for February has three good special articles. Michigan, No. 17, in the series of The Story of the States, by David S. Bury; the third of Henry George, Jr.'s article on Modern Methods of Finance, which deals with the wrecking of the Third Avenue Street Railway Company of New York, and Why Shakespeare Appeals to Actor and Audience. It contains also two excellent character sketches; One of David H. Greer, D. D., New York's New Bishop Coadjutor, and the other, An American Woman Sculptor, by Abby G. Baker—a sketch of Miss Emma Cadwallader Guild, and six bright short stories: A Cargo of Good Schnapps, the first of a series of the Adventures of the King and Queen of Smugglers, by Halliwell Sutcliffe; Midshipman Leigh, by Richard V. Oulahan; The Verdict of Faro Mountain, by Rex C. Beach; Overhead, by Hayden Church; The Luck of the Picaroon, by Gelet Burgess and Will Irwin, and The Abdication of Francis Joseph, another of the Revelations of an International Spy, by A. V. Two poems, Readin' the Rug, by Holman Bay, and Horas: Non Numero: Nisi: Sereuas, by Howel Scratton, together with the articles in the Home Notes department, complete an exceptionally interesting number.
