RICHMOND HILL, July 14, 1904

The Globe views with alarm some recent utterances of certain newspapers relative to what they say of "the possibilities of war with the United States." The Globe is right. War between Canada and our southern neighbors is too horrible to speak of. Appeals to prejudice will always be listened to by the mob, but the intelligent and sober minded take a different view of the dangerous contemplation. The Globe says:—

"To talk about war between the two nations on this continent, to clamor for defences against attacks from our American neighbors, to discuss the issues of such a campaign, is to fire the very passions that would make such a war possible. And such a war would be the most guilty and inhuman of all the myriad-handed murders with which sin and hate have cursed the world."

Much can be done and is being done, in encouraging young Canadians to become accustomed to the use of firearms, but any appeal to passion and prejudice should be resisted by every lover of his country.

As might be expected the citizens of Toronto are making preparations to give Mr. Lou Scholes, the young oarsman who won the diamond sculls at Henley last week, an enthusiastic reception, to which he is justly entitled. He went to England, won a victory on four successive days, and will return to Toronto covered with glory. The achievement is a great one, and cannot fail to make an impression on the other side of the ocean. In some sports, say in our national game, lacrosse, it is not always clear after a match that the victors have won their honors fairly, the players sometimes relying on roughness and brute force in "doing up" their opponents. But in sculling the rule is that the best man wins, and this was shown in the races rowed in England last week. Scholes not only beat his opponents one after the other, but he made a new record for the course over which the rowing took place.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the live stock commissioner to announce that any Canadian who exhibits horses, cattle, sheep, swine or poultry at the St. Louis Exposition, will receive such services as are granted to exhibitors in other classes, and in addition the Department of Agriculture will pay to each such exhibitor a sum equal to the prize money which he secures in the competitions for which he enters. The Exposition authorities have asked that the Commissioner of Exhibitions shall countersign or endorse the certificates of registration of pure bred stock. All entries or applications for space for live stock should be addressed to Mr. Wm. Hutchison, Commissioner, at the Canadian Building, Exposition Grounds, St. Louis. All such matters will be properly and promptly attended to, and the intending exhibitors duly notified as to the conditions of the Exposition in regard to their particular classes.

Before local option was carried in Toronto Junction it was claimed by those who favored the measure that the wants of travellers and boarders would be well looked after. But what are the facts after a trial of two months. The Tribune of that town referred editorially to the matter last week as follows:—

"The Citizens' League has not yet fulfilled their promises of providing proper accommodation and this is going against the League in the eyes of those who were not at anytime favorably impressed with the measure. It is a fact to be deplored that over two months have been allowed to pass without anything being done to provide for the farmers and lodgers."

The temperance people of Toronto Junction must know that the eyes of this province are upon them.

At the Democratic convention held at St. Louis a few days ago, Mr. W. J. Bryan made a powerful protest against the spread of the war spirit in the United States. In words of eloquence which swayed his immense audience he cautioned the nation against the horrible atrocities of war, and referred to the words of Him who two thousand years ago came to this earth to preach the doctrine "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

The banquet tendered Hon. W. S. Fielding in Toronto was a magnificent success. Besides the guest of the evening, other speakers were Hon. Wm. Mulock, Hon. Wm. Patterson, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Mr. C. Marcell, M. P., and Mr. Arch. Campbell, M. P.
