

THE DOCTOR SAID THAT HE MUST DIE

BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
CURED J. J. PERKINS.

He Was Unable to Work, and Becoming Destitute, Before He Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Tyndall, Man., Nov. 14.—(Special)—Unable to work because of Kidney Disease, pronounced incurable by the doctors, and fast becoming destitute, Mr. J. J. Perkins, of this place, found new life and health in Dodd's Kidney Pills. In his gratitude he wants all the world to know of his cure, and that he owes it to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Perkins says: "After two years of Kidney Trouble I got so bad the doctor said I was incurable. I got still worse and at times had such terrible pains in my back and kidneys that I thought I would die. "I was unable to work and was becoming destitute when a friend persuaded me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Five boxes cured me completely."

TACTICS OF THE JAPS.

Russian View of the Enemy's Art of War.

Yes, we were greatly mistaken when we called the "little Japs." says the Russkoye Slovo. We have never before had to deal with such skilful opponents. They have included in their tactics all modern methods, strictly adapting them to their own national peculiarities. For instance, knowing the weakness of their cavalry, they never allow it to go out unsupported. There is always infantry behind it, and our cavalry often runs against it, not expecting its presence.

The Japanese reconnaissance is effected thus: A compact force of rifle-men marches, sustained by screen, and patrols move about five versts ahead. At a distance of three versts the scouts are preceded by a number of Chinese. These last come to the Russian lines, examine the camp, and make signals to the Japanese concerning the whereabouts of the cavalry patrols. As the country is mountainous they advance at the rate of seven versts a day, intrenching and fortifying every step they take. Their path is an uninterrupted row of fortifications. Knowing the excitable, impressionable temper of their soldiers, they never pursue the enemy before settling down in good order upon the position occupied, because during a pursuit troops often become disarranged. Judging by their operations one could imagine they are the most phlegmatic and methodical people in the world—so strong in their military education and their knowledge of the art of war. They very reasonably avoid the bayonet. Their leading ranks run away to the right and left, opening the front for the fire of the succeeding lines. Running round these to the rear, they again form their ranks thus taking the place of reserves.

If the troops uncovered are unable to stop our attack by fire they repeat the manoeuvre. What self-control, what discipline are required in order to do this, and what a consciousness of strength! When they are on the march it is all but impossible for them to meet with any surprises. In addition to the men detached for guard, they surround their columns by chains of scouts, who advance along the crests of the elevations. Movement under such conditions may be slow, but it is sure.

SEA TAKES ITS TOLL.

Many Lives Lost off British Ships Every Year.

During the past thirteen years 24,142 lives have been lost on British ships at sea, or an annual average of 1,857.

The detailed figures of this mortality are given in a parliamentary paper as follows. The figures in parentheses indicate passengers:

1891—(582)	2,500
1891—(104)	1,968
1893—(44)	1,858
1894—(1,197)	3,071
1895—(58)	2,927
1896—(440)	1,981
1897—(46)	1,470
1898—(92)	1,484
1899—(121)	1,858
1900—(48)	1,585
1901—(13)	1,290
1902—(675)	1,854
1903—(57)	1,296

During the period named the number of seamen and officers employed rose from 218,247 to 233,482. The year 1894, when 1,197 passengers were lost, was that of the loss, among many other shipping disasters of the Wairarapu, which went down off New Zealand with all hands.

During the first nine months of the current year 156 vessels were lost, representing a total of 268,161 tons. Only sixty-two of the vessels were British.

HAD MADE A MISTAKE.

The late Bishop Dudley of Kentucky was on a hunting expedition near Louisville during the last few years of his life, and happened to fall in with a local Nimrod, whose un concealed admiration for the city man's marksmanship paved the way for further conversation.

"What your name?" the countryman finally inquired.

"Dudley," was the reply.

After some change of incident and experience the bishop's interlocutor hazarded:

"Say, Dudley, what business do you follow?"

"I'm a preacher."

"Oh, get out. What are you giving me?"

"But I am. I preach every Sunday."

"Where?"

"In Louisville."

"Well, well; I never would have thought it. You ain't stuck up a bit like most of the preachers down this way."

An invitation to hear this new-made acquaintance preach was accompanied by a scribbled card, and the next Sabbath saw the rustic, in his "Sunday best," ushered into the bishop's own pew, where he listened intently to both service and sermon.

He was manifestly amazed, afterward, to have the orator of the morning come down to greet him as cordially and familiarly as in the woods.

He managed to stammer his thanks, and added: "I ain't much of a judge of this kind of thing, parson, but I riz with you and sot with you, and saw the thing through the best I knew how; but all the same, if my opinion is with anything to you, the Lord meant you for a shooter!"
