

It may never be known just how much President Roosevelt did in bringing about peace between Russia and Japan. One thing is certain, however, he did what he could to stop the spilling of human blood. Another prominent American a few days ago in the person of W. J. Bryan, a former candidate for the presidency, addressed a letter to Mr. Roosevelt, congratulating the latter on his success in bringing Russia and Japan together, and suggests that all international questions of importance shall be submitted to an impartial board of arbitrators for investigation. Mr. Bryan, in the closing paragraph of his letter, points out the peculiar position of the United States, and urges the President to improve the opportunity in the interest of humanity. His closing words are as follows:—

"It was a glorious thing to end the war between the Russians and the Japanese, but it would have been more glorious to have prevented the war and saved the frightful loss of life. The moral prestige which our nation now enjoys would in all probability enable it to lead a successful peace movement. The congratulations which you have received from the hands of European Governments strengthen the chances of success. If the leading nations of the world would enter into an agreement to join in the creation of such a board and pledge themselves to submit all disputes to the board for investigation before declaring war, the danger of war would be reduced to a minimum. Few men have it in their power to do so much for humanity. Will you improve the opportunity?"

It would seem that the Public Schools of Ontario are soon to be almost wholly under the control of the ladies. At the opening of the three Provincial Normal Schools 301 students registered, and of that number only 15 were gentlemen. If higher salaries were paid more male teachers would be found in the profession.

The Ontario Government has announced an intention to change the County Councils Act so that the Councils will be composed of the township Reeves, some of the Deputy Reeves, and the representatives of townships not separated from their counties. The amendment of 1897 had the desired effect of reducing the membership in unwieldy Councils, and it is proposed to restore the connection between Township and County Councils without unduly augmenting numbers.

Thanksgiving Day has been fixed for the fourth Thursday in October, the 26th of next month. The suggestion was made some time ago that it would be better to have Thanksgiving fixed for a Monday, so as to allow of family reunions. But there were many protests against converting a day for excursions. The October date is selected in preference to one in November because the chances are in favor of better weather in the former month.

There is great danger that trouble will yet arise between Canada and the United States owing to American fishing vessels poaching in Canadian waters. Only a few months ago a cruiser of the Canadian Government fired on and damaged a poacher, and again a few days ago the Vigilant riddled the upper works of a similar intruder in the waters of Lake Erie. So far no lives have been lost, but this may be owing to good luck more than to good management. As the law now stands Canada is quite within her rights in firing on foreign vessels poaching in Canadian waters. Nevertheless it is a pity that some better way cannot be found than the one occasionally resorted to. Should a collision occur in which lives are lost there is great danger that international complications may arise.

LOCAL CONSTABLES BEWARE

A warning is being sent out to the local constables throughout the Province by Mr. H. B. Cowan, Provincial Superintendent of Agricultural Societies, stating that any local constable who accepts a bribe from the people who operate gambling outfits and games of chance at fall exhibitions to permit them to operate on the fair grounds, is liable on conviction of such action to be sent to jail for 14 years.

The detectives who have been sent out by the Provincial Department of Agriculture have found that many of the local constables throughout the Province work in with these sharpers. It has sometimes happened that when the detectives have asked for assistance from the local constable in arresting the sharpers the constables have quietly warned the sharpers and enabled them to escape. An effort will be made this year to detect constables at this work, and where convictions can be secured the offenders will be prosecuted with the utmost vigour.

In the Gold Fields

The Yukon World thus refers to Mr. J. F. Goode, son of Mr. Jesse Goode of this village:—
"J. F. Goode came in in a row boat yesterday from Hiatt Creek. He is one of those who have stood by the creek for four years, and before that he served eleven years and a half with the mounted police. Mr. Goode showed some pretty nuggets that he had taken out of his claim, and says that Hiatt, with the number of boilers that have been taken in there during the past few weeks, will possibly astonish some people by its output next season. He says that two men during this season cleaned up about $125 a day."

A BOLD YOUNG THIEF.

James Diminy, 17 years of age, has been causing trouble again. It will be remembered that early last winter he took a horse and rig from his employer, Simon Baker, a short distance east of Elgin Mills, for which he was sent to the Children's Shelter. On leaving the Shelter he stole a bicycle, rode out to Baker's and stole the same horse. He was arrested, found guilty and sent to the Mimico Industrial School. He was released from that institution on parole less than a month ago, and was given a situation at the home of County Constable O'Donnell. On the night of the 6th inst he disappeared from the home of his last employer, taking with him two shotguns. A horse and buggy disappeared the same night from the house of a neighbor named Anderson. A few mornings afterwards Mr. Baker, above referred to, also reported to High Constable Ramsden that his horse, buggy and harness were again taken. The belief is that Diminy is connected with all the missing articles.
