JAPS WANT LONGER LEGS

Japanese scientists attribute the superior stature of the English speaking races to their meat eating habits and the Emperor is reported to be considering a scheme to put the nation on a meat diet to make his subjects grow taller. A native physician of Tokio, who was educated in England, is advocating the general use of the bicycle to achieve the same purpose. In his opinion the bicycle is the most successful body builder and muscle developer the English people possess. He envies the English length of limb. He recommends that young Japs, of both sexes, be taught early in youth to ride the bicycle.

THE JAMES BAY RAILWAY.

J. Leonard Boyd, chief engineer of the southern division of the James Bay Railway, is authority for the statement that the road will enter Toronto in the very near future. Only three miles now remain to be railed, the northern end of the southern section being completed out to Donland, the farm of W. F. Maclean, up the Don Valley. Coming from the north, the road is completed with the exception of the ballasting to a point as already indicated, three miles north of Donlands. Ballasting is likewise well under way over much of the road, large gangs of men being at present employed at Pefferlaw, while the work will be continued as rapidly as possible toward the city. The frost and rains of the winter have caused some little movement of the sand thru the cuttings in the Don Valley, but not sufficiently to delay the work in any way.

MAY CANADIAN MAGAZINE

Twenty-two persons contributed to the varied table of contents in the May Canadian Magazine. Stories, sketches, poems, sporting articles, bits of history and more serious material make up of the menu. Harold Sands recalls the fact that Simon Fraser started in May, 1805, for the exploration of the unknown district now known as British Columbia, hence the title of article "One Hundred Years in British Columbia." Accompanying this is an excellent plate of the first government offices on the mainland. Helen Bernard's article on the "Last Royal Funeral at Mandalay" is a delightful pen-picture by one who witnessed this curious spectacle. John E. Webber has an interesting review of the dramatic season in New York. Bonnycastle Dale writes on shooting and fishing in the Trent Valley—which is one of the most delightful and typical sporting resorts in old Canada. Mr. Boulton's description of the circumstances under which he won a seat in the British House of Commons is quite entertaining. F. Blake Crofton writes of the imperialism of Haliburton and Howe—two of the most wonderful of Canadian publicists. Stephen Leacock has a delightful satire entitled "The Passing of the Poet." Mr. McCready, a veteran journalist, begins a series of reminiscences of the first Dominion Parliament. There are stories and sketches by Herman Whitaker, Elizabeth R. Macdonald, Theodore Roberts, Genevieve Kennedy, Adeline M. Teskey and Arthur L. Phelps.
